HOUSE PASSES BILL FOR CLEAN STATE POLITICS

Act Affects All Who Draw U. S. Pay.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 10.—The house late today passed, by a vote of 243 to 122, the Hatch clean state politics bill. The measure passed the senate four months ago. House amendments will require senate concurrence before the legislation can be sent to the White House.

Senator Hatch, author of bill.

Congress last year imposed upon all federal jobholders a ban against pernicious political activities. The new legislation extends the restrictions to a large group of state employés whose salaries are paid in whole or in part by the government.

These employés are barred in the measure from taking an active part in political campaigns or political management. They may, of course, vote as they choose and express political opinions privately. They also are protected against assessments from political machines such as Indiana's 2 per cent organization.

Penalty: Loss of Job.

Any employé found guilty of violating the act will be ordered removed from his job by the civil service commission, which has jurisdiction over state employés receiving any part of their pay in federal funds. He may not be reinstated until the lapse of 18 months. The employé is given the right to a review of his case in a United States District court.

Amendments approved by the house include one forbidding any individual to make a contribution in excess of $5,000 to the political campaign of any candidate for federal office. Another amendment restricts a national political campaign committee's spending to $3,000,000 in any one year.

The bill specifically makes it unlawful for any person or corporation to buy goods or advertising where the proceeds of such a purchase are to be used to further the candidacy of any person. This is aimed at the Democratic national committee's sale of advertising at $5,000 a page and up in the Democratic convention book.

Any person found guilty of a violation of these provisions is subject to a maximum fine of $5,000 and five years in a federal prison under the bill.

Opposition Beaten Down.

The debate on the measure was spirited, but the result never was in doubt. The opposition was led by Representative Hatton W. Sumners [D., Tex.], who claimed that the legislation was an invasion of the rights of the states to control their own elections.

A number of amendments were beaten down. A proposal that utility corporations be named specifically as among those barred from contributing to political campaigns was defeated when it was noted that the corrupt practices act now prohibits corporations from making such contributions. Similarly, a suggestion by Representative Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] that labor organizations be barred from contributing to political war chests was beaten.

Representative Lee E. Geyer [D., Cal.] offered an amendment abolishing the poll taxes imposed in eight southern states. It was ruled out of order by the chair on the ground that it was not germane to the pending bill. Geyer argued futilely that his amendment was necessary because about 90 per cent of the voters in these southern states, both white and Negro, are barred from voting.

SEEKS TO EQUIP A U. S. FORCE OF 2 MILLION MEN

Proposes Addition of 19,000 Planes.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 10.—President Roosevelt today brought the New Deal rearmament program to 14 billion dollars in calling upon congress for a further authorization of $4,848,171,957 for the national defense.

To date congress has voted $5,082,210,080 for the army and navy. Today the senate approved without a dissenting voice a house bill authorizing a 70 per cent increase in the American fleet, which would give this country a two ocean navy of 701 warships, and fixing the navy's air corps goal as 15,000 planes. The measure, with its cost estimated at $4,610,000,000, was returned to the house for adjustment of minor changes before it is sent to the White House.

Pledges No Army Abroad.

In a message to congress, asking for the new 5 billion dollar authorization, Mr. Roosevelt made the pledge that the United States will not go overseas to fight or use its army for aggression, altho he declared this country will fight for its American neighbors.

The President gave the immediate objectives of the new program as:

1. To carry forward the naval expansion program designed to build up the navy to meet any possible combination of hostile naval forces.

2. To complete the total equipment for a land force of approximately 1,200,000 men, tho of course this total of men would not be in the army in time of peace.

Visions 2 Million Men.

3. To procure reserve stocks of tanks, guns, artillery, ammunition, etc., for another 800,000 men, or a total of 2,000,000 men if a mobilization of such a force should become necessary.

4. To provide for manufacturing facilities, public and private, necessary to produce critical items of equipment required for a land force of 2,000,000 men, and to produce the ordnance items required for the aircraft program of the army and navy—guns, bombs, armor, bombsights, and ammunition.

5. Procurement of 15,000 additional planes for the army and 4,000 for the navy, complete with necessary spare engines, armaments, and the most modern equipment.

President Divides Total.

The President broke down his $4,848,171,957 request into an actual cash expenditure of $2,161,441,957. He estimated that this figure would cover actual disbursements from the treasury for the supplemental defense program between today and July 1, 1941, the beginning of the new fiscal year.

On top of this actual expenditure, he asked $2,686,730,000 for contract authorizations—which do not require immediate appropriations, but will permit the army and navy to place contracts for material and ordnance immediately.

LISBON, Portugal, July 10 (AP).—The duke of Windsor was described by his secretary today as "very happy indeed" over his appointment as governor and commander in chief of the Bahama Islands.

The duke and his American born wife, the former Wallis Warfield Simpson of Baltimore, Md., are enjoying a short holiday at Cascaes, swimming and sun bathing every day, Wood said.

Canada Loses Embryo Pilots in Apple Tree

New York, July 10 [Special].—Two Long Island boys—one 14 years old and the other 15—improved upon the runaway adventures of Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn today by flying away in a stolen airplane on an epic flight to join the Royal Air Force in Canada. Neither ever had flown a plane before.

The boys remained in the air more than three hours. Then they pancaked the ship into a north Westchester cow pasture, damaging it considerably, but injuring only their feelings.

The prospective war aviators are Donald Blood, 14, and Benny Byrne, 15, high school freshmen of Massapequa Park. They had worked out a division of labor by which Benny, a student of ascension theories, handled the takeoffs and Donald demonstrated his specialty of landings.

Go Zooming on Their Way.

Early today, while no one was looking, they rolled a Piper Cub cruiser out of a Nassau airport. Benny, who later told of having "hobnobbed with a lot of flying men," took the controls and a wild but successful takeoff followed.

As they flew over Long Island sound, Connecticut and Westchester county, Donald rummaged about the plane and found a compass and an air map. But about the time they had finished plotting their course to Canada, they came across a newspaper in the ship and found a report that private planes could not cross the border.

That was a blow, indeed—they had been so certain they soon would be war aces. So they evolved another idea for adventure. They would go south and become airplane crop dusters or start an air taxi service.

Stock Up With Gas—4 Gals.

First, however, they would have to get more gasoline, the 18 gallons of fuel they had started with having dwindled rapidly. Donald took over the controls for the landing and they dropped down safely in a pasture.

They bought four gallons of gasoline from a nearby station and dumped it in their tank. With Benny, take-off specialist, in the cockpit, Donald spun the prop and they started off again. But here their division of operations double-crossed them.

The plane rose too slowly, swampy ground retarding its speed. Trees loomed ahead. Take-off Pilot Benny cut the motor and shouted for Landing Pilot Donald to bring down the ship. But it was too late. The plane by that time was down by itself—in an apple tree.

Shaken but unhurt, the boys scrambled out of the broken plane after its fall had been checked by the tree. They decided to ride freight trains south. An hour later Peekskill police found them bathing in a nearby pond. They were held for possible prosecution for the theft of the plane.

MOVIE ELEPHANTS BREAK WATER MAIN, DIE IN BLAZING PEN

Ventura, Cal., July 10 (AP).—Twelve circus animals, movie veterans all—seven tigers, three camels and the trained elephants Sally and Queenie—died in a fire last night.

The flames started in a hay barn and roared thru an elephant barn, camel barn, hayshed and machine shop at Louis Goebel's lion farm at Thousand Oaks.

Sally and Queenie stampeded thru their pens and broke the main water line. The blaze was unchecked until the break was mended. Sally burned to death. Queenie, badly scorched, had to be shot. Both were to have been used at Paramount studio today for scenes with Dorothy Lamour in "Moon Over Burma." They were from the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus.

SEIZED, BOMBED, SWEDES GET 4 WARSHIPS HOME

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, July 10.—After an 84 day odyssey and incidents that included seizure and bombing, four destroyers purchased by Sweden from Italy before Italy entered the war, arrived at Göteborg today, with their two supply ships.

The destroyers Puke, Psilander, Romulus, and Remus, the depot vessel Patricia, and the tanker Castor left Naples on April 18. They were seized on June 20 in the Faroe islands by the British, who feared the Germans might seize them.

A Swedish protest effected the release of the vessels, which had suffered damage for which the British agreed to pay.

On July 8 a British airplane hurled four bombs at the ships off the Norwegian coast, but did not hit them. Britain expressed regret and said the bombing resulted from a mistake.

Horner Fights for Health but Gain Is Slight

Gov. Henry Horner's long fight for health—a struggle which has lasted more than a year and a half—still finds the chief executive of Illinois virtually bedridden. Some reduction in his high blood pressure has been noted recently and he has lost no more weight, but his strength is not returning as he hoped it would.

These facts were learned yesterday after his aids in Springfield announced that Horner's illness would not permit him to serve as a delegate-at-large to the Democratic national convention next week.

[The governor's place as a delegate at large will be taken by the first alternate at large, A. J. Horan, bailiff of the Municipal court.]

Little Improvement Shown.

They said he had shown little or no improvement since he was taken to a private home at 701 Sheridan road, Winnetka, last June 1, for a summer stay. His trouble is high blood pressure and a hypertensive condition of the heart. He collapsed from overwork after the November, 1938, election.

This is the governor's second summer on the north shore in search of strength to resume the full duties of his office.

For almost six weeks the governor's physician, Dr. Maurice Rubel, has kept his patient as quiet as possible, most of the time in bed. He has taken no automobile rides and the unseasonably cool weather has not made it possible for him to spend much time in the sun.

Plans to Hear Convention.

Being read to and listening to the radio are the governor's diversions these days. He plans to listen to the Democratic convention while he rests. Biography has always been his chief taste in reading and he keeps up with current affairs thru the newspapers.

Visitors are few and limited mostly to old friends whose presence will not excite the patient. Charles K. Schwartz, tax commissioner and the governor's closest Chicago aid, sees him occasionally. Milburn P. Akers, chief of state publicity, has been there once or twice. In Springfield, S. L. Nudelman, director of finance, is understood to make those decisions that need not be brought to the governor's attention.

14 NAZI PLANES DOWNED, 23 DAMAGED, BRITISH SAY

MINE ATLANTIC TO KEEP INVADER OUT OF IRELAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 10.—As a result of Prime Minister Eamon De Valera's refusal to coöperate with Northern Ireland [Ulster] or the British government in the defense of Ireland against a possible German invasion, the British war cabinet has drawn plans to defend the country, the Daily Telegraph political correspondent said today.

Eamon de Valera.

The laying of mines over 1,000 miles of sea between Greenland and Iceland, and the Orkney Islands, which lie north of Scotland, was announced today. This move is regarded as part of the defense plans.

Admiralty's Warning.

In a communique, the British admiralty stated:

"The admiralty give notice that the waters between the Orkneys and Iceland, and Iceland and Greenland, are dangerous owing to mines.

"All vessels wishing to proceed to European ports from the Atlantic by waters between the Shetlands [northwest of the Orkneys] and the coast of Greenland should approach the North sea south of latitude of North Rona [position latitude 59 degrees 7½ minutes north, longitude 5 degrees 50 minutes west approximately]. They should pass between North Rona and Cape Wrath and thence by direct route thru Pentland Firth to Kirkwall for further routing instructions.

Baltic Traffic Advised.

"Vessels wishing to pass into the Atlantic from the Baltic should request routing instructions from his majesty's consuls at Stockholm, Helsingfors, Tallinn, Riga, or Kovno, giving at least four days' notice.

"Vessels wishing to pass into the Atlantic from Finnish and Russian arctic ports should proceed to Kirkwall for routing instructions, keeping to the west of the meridian of 1 degree 30 minutes west when south of the parallel of 70 degrees north.

Ireland Stays Neutral.

Ireland has declared her intention to hold fast to a policy of strict neutrality. The defense plans, reported worked out by Britain's war cabinet, do not require De Valera to depart from that stand.

The cabinet's plans are said to provide for British naval, military, and air assistance being rushed to Ireland if an invasion is begun. The fact that German forces entering Ireland would have long and vulnerable lines of communications has not been overlooked, it is stated.

NAZIS PLOT BLOW AT PORTUGAL, LONDON HEARS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 10.—Italian threats of a concerted Italian-German attack on Great Britain have raised doubts here concerning the attitude of Spain and the position of Portugal.

The Daily Sketch, launching a "protect Portugal now" campaign, says a distinguished Briton who has returned from Lisbon reported Germany is attempting to undermine the friendship between Britain and Portugal, which is described as "England's oldest ally." Germany is said to be trying to create disorders that would cause Gen. Francisco Franco's Spanish troops to move into Lisbon. Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, the Portuguese dictator, is described as stanchly pro-British.

Increased anti-British propaganda is appearing in the Spanish press and in many quarters Spain's nonbelligerence is suspected to be like Italy's before Italy entered the war.

England's Fighters Repel Raids on Ship and Shore.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, July 11, Thursday, (AP).—Two explosions were heard over a wide area in southeastern England today after a plane had passed over. Fires broke out, but were dealt with quickly.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 11, Thursday.—Masses of German bombing and fighting planes yesterday struck at Britain and its sea routes with the greatest fury of the war, but stout British defenses drove the attackers off with heavy losses. At times, 150 planes were blasting away at each other over various sectors of the English channel coast.

Fourteen German planes were shot down, and 23 others so badly damaged that the British considered it doubtful whether they could have reached their home bases, probably in conquered France and the Low Countries. Britain acknowledged the loss of two planes.

[Germany gave this version of the channel battle: Ten British planes shot down, a British cruiser and four merchant ships sunk, a second cruiser and three other merchant ships damaged, four German planes downed.]

Until yesterday the Germans had sent only isolated and largely unprotected squadrons of planes on their missions of death over Britain. This time, however, powerful fleets of bombers were accompanied by protective flights of fast flying and heavily gunned Messerschmitt fighter craft.

Plunge Into Sea.

In some cases the German bombers flew within the protective wings of two circles of lighter craft. One squadron of nine bombers was thus protected by 50 lighter warplanes. Some of the combatants smashed together in midair, and plunged into the sea.

Britain viewed this intensification of the air war as a natural and inevitable prelude to the long contemplated invasion of England by the Germans.

Some believed that the Nazi stroke might start at dawn today. This apparently was the belief of Sir Edward Grigg, undersecretary of state for war, who told the house of commons last night:

"At this moment, it may be that bombers are over many of our towns. Thousands of our soldiers will be on the alert, waiting for an attack which may come in several places at dawn."

Grigg's statement aroused speculation as to whether it was the first authorized warning that the zero hour is near.

Some Persons Killed.

Other sections of Britain shook under the destructive thunder of the German bombs. They fell near the Bristol channel on the west coast, in South Wales, on regions of the Norfolk coast, at an undesignated southwest port, and in certain sectors of southern England.

A government announcement said the casualties included a "few persons killed."

These isolated raids, however, were only minor incidents compared with the main battle over and near the Strait of Dover, narrowest point of the English channel and the bottleneck thru which British ships must pass if they are to bring their precious cargoes into eastern England ports.

Seek to Close Straits.

A German assault on a convoyed line of ships in the Dover strait was the immediate cause of the most intense phase of yesterday's aerial struggle, but the British believe the Germans had other intentions, including:

1. Closing of the strait to British shipping;

2. The smashing of British coastal defenses so that important inland objectives might be obtained.

When the roar of battle was over, the British claimed that the strait still was open and that the principal German forces never had loosed their bombs on key British points inland.

Of the 14 planes which the British said had been shot down 11 were said to have fallen in the battle over the convoy, while the 3 other German victims fell elsewhere.

The spectacle of 150 planes locked in death battle was watched by persons from the shore. One witness was a British air raid warden. He declared he saw one Nazi detachment of 50 bombers strike at the small convoy of ships in the strait. One ship was sunk, he said.

"Altogether there must have been at least 120 German planes, including some 80 bombers," the Briton declared.

"The bombers approached in two large formations and attacked the convoyed ships in waves, covering the sea with their bombs. I had never seen anything like it. A solid wall of water went up in one line for a distance of two or three miles as the bombs burst.

"You could not see the ships now. As the bombers and fighters of both sides met, planes went hurtling down. I counted at least 10 which went into the sea, and others made off toward France, badly damaged. Several had smoke coming from their tails."

Another man who witnessed one phase of the clash offered this description of it:

"There must have been something like 70 planes all concentrated in one spot in the sky—mixed up and going 'round and 'round in a wide circle as the pilots tried to get on their targets. They were like bees around a honey pot. Now and then you would see a machine come away, go down in a steep dive and crash into the sea thousands of feet below.

Bags Two Planes.

"One fighter pilot appeared to shoot down two German planes, one after the other. Within two minutes, perhaps less, I saw three German bombers go crashing down into the sea.

"I think the antiaircraft fire from one of our warships got two. Another bomber had its tail shot away and it went down in a spin. Hundreds of bombs must have been dropped. The noise was deafening, altho I was at least five mile away.

"After dropping their bombs the raiders made off as fast they could, leaving their fighter escort to hold off our fighters. Our planes, however, succeeded in getting thru the screen and accounted for some more bombers."

One important element of the German armada—30 bombers accompained by Messerschmitt fighters—did manage to cross the coast, but British spitfires and Hurricanes broke up their formation. The Germans dropped their bombs, then fled, presumably toward France.

Berlin Claims Victory.

BERLIN, July 10 (AP).—Germany announced tonight that a mass aerial smash at the narrow strait of Dover between France and England had sunk a British cruiser and four merchant ships, the latter totaling 21,000 tons.

In addition to the ships reported sunk in the furious air onslaught on the Dover strait, narrowest point of the English channel, the high command said a second cruiser and three other merchant ships, sailing in convoy, were badly damaged.

Ten British planes defending the convoy were said to have been shot down; four German planes were acknowledged lost.

The high command also asserted that 28 British planes were shot down during an attack yesterday on the German base at Stavanger, Norway.

2 ENEMY PLANES SHOT DOWN IN RAID ON MALTA

VALLETTA, Malta, July 10 (AP).—Two attacking planes were reported shot down in a raid on Malta today. Some civilian property was damaged.

Kenya Village Bombed.

NAIROBI, Kenya Colony, Africa, July 10 (AP).—The following British communique was issued here today:

"A small post at Buna was bombed yesterday by enemy aircraft, which dropped 80 bombs and then machine-gunned a village without causing damage or casualties. After artillery fire the Italians again attacked British Moyale today. Aircraft were used. Details are awaited."

FUTURE OF RACE DEPENDS ON U. S. AID, BRITON SAYS

Official Sees Hope for American Help.

Warning to Britons

LONDON, July 11, Thursday (AP).—Lord Beaverbrook's newspaper, the Daily Express, today warned Britons against expecting "too much" from the United States and Russia and said "our survival in the next few months depends on ourselves alone."

"It is true that both Russia and America have a common interest with us in defeating Hitler," said the Daily Express. "It is true that they have a common interest with us in checking Japan in the far east, and we could take joint action now in that part of the world. But there is no reason to expect either Russia or the United States to declare war on Germany in the near future."

LONDON, July 10 (AP).—Foreign Affairs Undersecretary R. A. Butler declared in a broadcast tonight that "to make sure of a future for our race we depend not only on our navy but also on the help which the United States will give us."

"Americans," he said, "naturally are preoccupied with their own politics, but," he added, "they are becoming increasingly aware of the degree in which the United States are vitally affected by whether the British navy guards the Atlantic and whether our sea power remains supreme."

"We," he went on, "are the outpost for the American continent and for the world."

He asserted that "complications in the European scene may develop which will draw the attention of our enemy away from us."

Aside from its difficulties in holding down the subject peoples, Germany will have to face the "old major rivalries" between powers, the undersecretary added.

"Italy and Russia will each have its view about the Balkans.

"Spain will have its own tradition of pride and independence. There will be varying views about the Dardanelles. There will be several voices in the Mediterranean. The loudest will be the bark of the big guns of our battle fleet.

". . . There are complications enough for any power which seeks to dominate the continent and then the world. We must hold on and let this cauldron simmer."

BITTER WORDS FLY AS FRANCE'S REPUBLIC DIES

Blame for Defeat Stirs Parliament Uproar.

VICHY, France, July 10 (AP).—Bitter accusations of responsibility for France's defeat by German legions threw the national assembly into an uproar tonight as it formally voted power to Premier Marshal Henri Philippe Petain to form an authoritarian régime for what is left of France.

Pierre Laval.

The final joint vote of both houses was announced as 569 to 80, with 15 abstentions. France thus will shortly have a new totalitarian constitution modeled after those of the axis powers that conquered and ended the third republic. It is expected to be much like that of Italy.

Petain was absent and Pierre Laval, former foreign minister and proponent in years past of close Franco-Italian relations, represented the 84 year old marshal premier.

National Referendum Planned.

Laval said the new constitution would be presented to the people for approval in a national referendum, but he did not say how the vote would be conducted.

Members in both branches of parliament sought to place the blame for France's defeat, and the roots of bitterness were deep.

Edouard Herriot, president of the chamber of deputies, leaped to his feet soon after the session began to shout a violent defense of Edouard Daladier, former premier, and other prominent absentees, when their names drew hisses, boos, and jeers from extreme rightists during a roll call.

Absentees Send Messages.

Messages excusing themselves from attending were read from Daladier, Georges Mandel, Cesar Campinchi and others previously reported to have sailed for North Africa, where it was believed they might try to form a new government. It was not explained whence came their supposed messages, nor where the men were supposed to be.

In a chamber meeting preceding the national assembly, Herriot remained silent when an extreme rightist, Tixier-Vignancourt, screamed at him:

"And you! You let yourself be an accomplice to those who carelessly brought their country under the heavy heel of their [Germany's] boots. I accuse you of permitting Paul Reynaud [the premier who was pushed out of office when he wanted to continue the war against Germany from French North Africa] to return here."

3,000 Seized at Marseilles.

BERLIN, July 10, (AP) via radio.—The Berlin radio broadcast a dispatch from Vichy, France, reporting today that more than 3,000 persons were arrested in Marseilles yesterday on suspicion of having endangered the security of the state. Most of them were released after examination. Marseilles' police, assisted by a cordon of troops, rounded up all persons found on the streets in the center of the city.

BRITAIN MOVES FOR GREATER WAR POWER OVER ALL CIVILIANS

LONDON, July 10 (AP).—A new emergency powers bill providing for special courts in certain areas to try and punish offenders "as may be required by the military situation" was introduced today in the house of commons.

The courts would be for civilians as well as for persons ordinarily subject to military law.

The bill was introduced by Clement R. Attlee, lord privy seal, and represents a still further extension of the government's virtually totalitarian authority.

Britain's democracy practically was turned into a dictatorship May 22 when parliament extended the emergency powers of Aug. 24, 1939, and enabled the government to take control of every person and all he owns.

CANADA ARRESTS REDS DELAYING WAR SHIPMENTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., July 10.—Royal Canadian mounted police today arrested Jack Chapman, secretary of the Canadian Seamen's union, and rounded up a number of communists accused of attempting to delay shipments to Great Britain.

Police charge that an organized effort has been made to induce foreign seamen to desert ships carrying vital war supplies to England, or to strike for more pay, thereby causing a delay in sailings. The communists approach the seamen in waterfront drinking spots, the police assert.

FRANCE IN NEED OF BABY FOOD, RED CROSS SAYS

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP).—Baby foods are needed desperately in southern France, the Red Cross has been informed by one of its European representatives, who added: "Within two weeks malnutrition will present a pitiful situation."

A trainload of children's food, contributed by the American Red Cross, is en route from Geneva, Switzerland, to the unoccupied part of France for distribution to needy children, chairman Norman H. Davis announced today. The train is loaded with 94 tons of condensed milk, dried milk, chocolate, cheese, ham and various baby foods and is accompanied by two Red Cross representatives.

The war relief fund of the Red Cross today stood at $18,565,366. Some of the larger city chapters have not yet reached their goals, but many of the smaller communities are reporting oversubscriptions.

Swedes Conclude Talks for Barter System in Berlin

BERLIN, July 10 (AP).—German and Swedish committees concluded negotiations today on current trade questions. A broader barter system is expected to result.

PURSUED ITALY'S FLEET TO SHORE, BRITISH DECLARE

Italian Submarine Sunk in New Clash.

LONDON, July 10 (AP).—The British navy tonight recorded as a "disappointing" chase the first round of important Mediterranean sea warfare with Italy, but announced the British submarine Parthian had sunk an Italian submarine with torpedoes in a separate surface action.

Admiral Cunningham.

As for yesterday's main engagement with the Italian battle fleet, an admiralty communique declared the enemy force was pursued within sight of the shore before the British fleet could get in any close range licks and then had the shelter of shore defenses.

One Italian cruiser was hit by aerial torpedoes, however, the communique said, in addition to the Italian battleship previously reported dented by a long range, 15 inch British naval shell.

The British Mediterranean commander in chief, Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham, said there were no British losses.

Claim Supremacy of Sea.

The outcome, according to the British claim, further clinched British supremacy in a sea which provides lifeline contacts for two belligerent empires—British and Italian. The full British strength for battle had been unleashed by British cancellation of the French navy as a potential factor in Italy's [and Germany's] power.

Each side declared last night that its forces were in pursuit of the enemy. The earlier stages of the battle, a clash of the Italian air arm with British forces in the air and on the sea, were fought on Monday in the eastern Mediterranean.

It was not until Tuesday that the rival naval forces made battle contact.

In supplement to the admiralty's communique, navy circles said informally that the Italians had their best and biggest warships in the action, while the British had a battle squadron of older and slow ships.

"Italy's best," they commented, "is no match for our second best."

The British Version.

They said that the Italian squadron included two of Italy's newest, best, and biggest battleships, the Vittorio Veneto and the Littorio, both 35,000 tons and each mounting nine 15-inch guns, 12 six-inch guns, and antiaircraft weapons.

Besides these and lighter craft there was a third battleship of the Cavour class, built before the world war and modernized in 1936.

The British version of the main Mediterranean engagement, which produced exultant streamer headlines in the press was that the British had "made contact" east of Malta with an Italian force consisting of three of Italy's six battleships, a number of 8 inch and 6 inch gun cruisers and some destroyers; that the Italians "almost immediately" had "retired behind a smokescreen," but only after a British capital ship had scored a long range hit on one of the Italian battleships.

THE ITALIAN VERSION

ROME, July 10 (AP).—British attacks, apparently aimed at "important" Italian coast positions, have been beaten off in this war's first full dress naval battle in the Mediterranean area, Italy claimed today. It appeared here the British had intended to fall on Taranto, Italy's major submarine base.

It was officially acknowledged, however, that before the British fleet "gave up its objective" under heavy fire, the Italians had suffered:

A hit on a battleship which killed 29 members of the crew and wounded 69; loss of the 1,073 ton destroyer Zeffiro; loss of a submarine and four warplanes.

Against this, it was asserted that a British destroyer had been torpedoed and sunk; that "some" British vessels had been "seriously damaged, with fires visible aboard," by bombing, and that hits were believed to have sunk a warship—"probably a battleship."

A Running Engagement.

The battle, as the Italian communique described it, was a running engagement of intermittent action by ships and planes that lasted the better part of two days—Monday and Tuesday.

It ended yesterday in a furious fight in the Ionian sea which began while the British ships were steaming toward the coast of Calabria, the toe of Italy's boot. The heavy shelling was described as lasting 15 minutes at an extreme range of 15 miles. Later the British pulled away to the southeastward followed by Italian destroyers.

British planes were said to have dived in close to the Italian ships, launching torpedoes at short range. Five of nine such planes were claimed shot down.

Italian sources said the British included three battleships of the Barham [31,000-ton] class, one aircraft carrier, several cruisers and numerous destroyers.

Against this, the Italians said their force included the 23,000-ton battleships Giulio Cesare and Conte di Cavour [built in 1911 but extensively reconditioned recently].

The Italians said a strong Italian fleet concentration has been made in the Ionian sea—between lower Italy and Greece—to oppose any further attacks.

URGE THOUSANDS TO VOLUNTEER IN CANADIAN ARMY

OTTAWA, Ont., July 10, (AP).—Canada called tonight for "many thousands" of volunteers for military training in the next three months. Air minister Maj. C. G. Power, outlined a vast plan of drilling and preparation which he indicated would reach into every district.

Defense Minister J. L. Ralston told the dominion that Canada needs 40,000 additional men for the Canadian active service force to bring its strength at home and overseas up to 150,000 men. Ralston added that "a very large body [of troops] will be proceeding overseas very shortly. As far as possible every soldier who can be sent will be sent."

CHICAGOANS GET READY FOR THIRD BIG THRILL SHOW

Performers in Sunday's Events Wind Up Plans.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

Chicago began getting ready yesterday for the third annual Police and Fire Thrill show, to be held at 2 p. m. Sunday in Soldiers' field.

The firemen made final arrangements to insure that their great water towers and aerial ladder trucks would reach their appointed locations at the proper moment in the fire department's drama of fire fighting.

The police chose the squad cars, machine guns, shields, and tear gas equipment which they will use today in the first full rehearsal of their dramatization of a battle with outlaws.

Democrat Leaders to Attend.

Mayor Kelly purchased a section of 5,000 thrill show seats for delegates to the Democratic convention, which opens Monday. The show thus began to take on a national aspect, as visitors from every section of the country will be among the convention crowd that will attend.

Two hundred Boy Scouts and Sea Scouts volunteered to distribute American flags and copies of the youth patriotism pledge to the boys and girls at the Soldiers' field gates. The offer was made thru E. M. Danaher, assistant southwest district executive officer of the Chicago Boy Scouts. The boys and girls will hold the flags aloft in a great patriotic demonstration at the opening of the show.

Ticket Sale Progresses.

Meanwhile Chicagoans were buying their tickets for the show. Seats are on advance sale at the Tribune public service offices in Tribune Tower and 1 South Dearborn street, at The Fair store, and at Gate O, Soldiers' field. The seats are 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children. No seats are reserved.

Commanding officers of the park and city police and the fire department worked hand in hand with the firemen and policemen of the ranks in preparing for the show. Three hundred and sixty firemen responded when Battalion Chief James S. Furlong sent out a call for the 90 men-of-all-work who are to do the heavy tasks of the show.

Day after day they will work from early morning until the executives have left, preparing for the show. They get no rest on rehearsal days. And during the show Anthony J. Mullaney, first deputy fire marshal, has named them the All-Stars.

Train Robbery Scheduled.

The North Western railroad's model train of pre-civil war days has arrived for use in the crime drama. Bandits of the old wild west days will hold up the train and then escape after a gun battle with a sheriff's posse.

Bandits will rob an automobile party in a 1940 holdup. The police will take up the chase in response to a radio alarm and trap the bandits in a radio blockade.

Chief John Prendergast of the uniformed police told a W-G-N radio audience yesterday that the radio and fast squad cars now make it possible for police to reach the average Chicagoan's home in less than two minutes. Chief Prendergast described the work of his men, and explained what they will do in the thrill show.

NAZIS REVEAL MORE PAPERS ON ALLIED PLANS

BERLIN, July 10 (AP).—Allied plans for blockading Germany from the Mediterranean and Black seas and making the Balkans a war front were charged in five new documents of Germany's sixth white book, which was published today.

A purported message from Gen. Maxime Weygand, then commander of the allied near east army, to Edouard Daladier, then premier of France, said that, with timely action, the Balkans could be made a front and Germany would see her "Balkan bloc," with the strength of 90 divisions, fall apart. The message was dated Dec. 12, 1939.

A message of Feb. 12, 1940, attributed to the French ambassador, De Massigli, at Ankara, Turkey, told Daladier of "disturbing" Turkish-Russian relations.

AXIS SUPPORTS REVISION CLAIM OF HUNGARIANS

An Early Settlement with Rumania Is Seen.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 10—Semiofficial statements tonight indicated that Germany and Italy have indorsed the territorial claims of Hungary and Bulgaria against Rumania.

These statements were issued after today's conferences in Munich among Adolf Hitler, the foreign ministers of the axis powers, and Premier Count Paul Teleki and Foreign Minister Count Stephan Csaky of Hungary.

The Germans stressed that the "traditional friendship" among Germany, Italy, and Hungary has been deepened as a result of the negotiations, and that Hungary has "now assumed its place in the new order created by the axis powers."

Hungarians Confident.

Hungarian diplomats in Berlin indicated that they expect Rumania will be forced to turn over part of Transylvania to them in the near future.

[An Associated Press dispatch from Berlin yesterday reported that the axis had applied the brakes to Hungary's revisionist claims against Rumania. Germany and Italy, this dispatch said, were eager that Hungary should not upset the ticklish Balkan equilibrium by enforcing its claims at this time.]

Bulgarians declared that "it is only a question of a short time until southern Dobruja is returned to us." Both Hungary and Bulgaria hope that Rumania, because of internal difficulties she is experiencing, will be ready soon to make concessions.

Hungarians Leave for Home.

Schemes for an exchange of minority groups similar to those carried out between Germany and Russia are being prepared under the guidance of Nazi racial experts in southeastern Europe, it was disclosed.

Bulgaria Envisages Gains.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, July 10 (AP).—Money as well as territory will come back to Bulgaria in the German sponsored settlement of Balkan affairs, according to reports in well informed circles today.

Germany, these reports indicated, has promised Bulgaria its aid in recovering world war reparations paid by this country, as well as substantial territorial expansion. King Boris was in constant touch with his advisers and the cabinet was in session until midnight.

GERMAN IS INDICTED FOR HIS FAILURE TO REGISTER AS AGENT

Los Angeles, Cal., July 10 (AP).—Dr. Herbert Hoehne, 29 years old, a German, was indicted by a federal grand jury today on two counts—failure to register as the agent of a foreign government and failure to notify the secretary of state of his presence in this country.

Herbert Hoehne.

The indictment was returned shortly after William Fleet Palmer, acting United States attorney, had presented the case to the grand jury.

After telephone conversations with Washington state department officials, Palmer said he would not proceed against Consul General Fritz Wiedemann and Chancellor Herman Loeper of the San Francisco German consulate. Hoehne visited them recently enroute from Yokohama via San Francisco and Los Angeles to Central and South America, and picked up some diplomatic mail packages to be delivered to southern German consulates.

RUMANIA ROUNDS UP COMMUNISTS; SEIZES HUNDREDS

Quits League to End an 'Illusion.'

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 10 (AP).—The Rumanian situation simmered ominously tonight as southeastern Europe tensely awaited outcome of the Italo-German-Hungarian parley in Munich, widely believed to involve—among other things—the fate of Rumania's rich province of Transylvania.

Government circles emphatically declined to comment on the Munich talks, in which Hungarians hoped for definite German approval of the return of Transylvania to the Magyars.

Various developments indicated King Carol II. was determined to remain master in his own country gardless of Russia's recent seizure of Bessarabia and the menace of further dismemberment to satisfy Hungarian and Bulgarian claims.

Hundreds of communists were arrested in a nation-wide drive against subversive agitation but authorities said there were no violent incidents.

Seize, Release General.

A communique announced the detention of Gen. Ion Antonescu, whose Iron Guard adherents had touted him for the premiership. He had been accused of being "unfriendly" to the present régime. Later, however, a second communique said Antonescu had been freed after promising to stay out of politics.

Gen. Antonescu was slated to become vice premier in the Gigurtu government but the Iron Guard refused to let him serve, informed sources said, because the guard wanted to save him for the premiership if they succeeded in toppling the present Gigurtu regime and creating a 100 per cent Iron Guard government.

Tension Heightened.

Much interest attached to the crown council, expected to be convened at any moment. It last met to sanction the surrender of Bessarabia and northern Bukovina two weeks ago.

Balkan tension was further heightened by news from Istanbul that the Turkish government had called an emergency session of the national assembly for Friday to consider expected Russian demands. It was reported without confirmation recently that Russia would demand control of the Dardanelles.

New York, July 10 [Special].—The world's wealthiest war refugee arrived on American soil today, clutching tightly a small black bag containing $1,000,000 in jewelry, 70-year-old Baron Edward Rothschild, internationally famous banker, arrived on the Pan American Airways Yankee Clipper today with his wife, Baroness Germaine, and their 27-year-old daughter, Bethsabee.

The financier, who refused to comment to reporters on anything except his first trip to American in 1890, hastened to a taxicab, helped his 56-year-old baroness and his daughter in, and then left for Manhattan.

The daughter, the only one of the trio apparently unafraid of being interviewed, told questioners they left Paris on May 20 for Biarritz, made their way to Bordeaux and Spain and then motored to Lisbon to get the Clipper. They will go to an unrevealed suburban retreat, she said, for a rest.

Largest British Warship Hit 3 Times, French Report

VICHY, France, July 6, [Delayed] (AP).—The British battle cruiser Hood, 42,100 tons, largest fighting ship afloat, was hit three times by French shore batteries during the July 3 naval battle off Oran, Algeria, said French reports reaching here today.

[The Rome radio, heard in New York, said the Hood had been put into dry dock at Gibraltar "for urgent repairs" necessitated by "serious damage" sustained in the battle.]

100,000 Homes in Japan Flooded by Rain; 7 Killed

Osaka, Japan, July 10 (AP).—Floods following a cloudburst took seven lives and flooded more than 100,000 homes in this Japanese industrial center today. Four ships in Osaka harbor were sunk.

NAZIS' SUCCESS POINTS WAY TO SMALLER ARMIES

Fire Power and Speed Bring New Tactics.

BY GUY MURCHIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 10.—A thoro examination into the military factors of the war to date indicates that the German superiority over the allies in recent battles would be repeated against any army that lacks sufficient attack weapons and counterweapons, and whose general staff has remained static since the world war.

Significant facts emerge from The Tribune's investigation. The number of troops is a much smaller factor in the outcome of military operations than formerly. Fire power and maneuverability are relatively more important. At the moment armor is nullifying the military rifle and the light machine gun. With the trend toward greatly increased fire power—more powerful explosives accurately aimed and expended in greater quantities—the defenders must dig in deeper than ever.

Against tanks the infantry must stay under cover, remaining in position even after the armored forces have penetrated behind them. The protection of the flanks of a force making a surprise attack can be largely disregarded because of the force of its superior fire power and maneuverability. The defense now must be prepared in zones or areas, rather than in lines, because of the new dimension, air, which has added the factors of rapid transportation and accurate long range artillery.

Retreat Proves Mistake.

Analysis suggests that an important factor in the German tactical success was the Germans' reliance upon the "coöperation" of the enemy commanders, who, they felt, would make orthodox movements helpful to the attackers. Had the allied defense units remained where they were, forcing the Germans to attack them in their prepared positions, they would have wrought greater destruction on the invading army than they actually did while attempting to retreat from forces superior to them in both mobility and fire power.

One of the great factors in the Germans' ability to penetrate the allied defense lines was the recent improvement of their armor, especially on tanks.

By concentrating their initial attacks on small frontal areas the Germans were able to send a large number of tanks thru the allied line against a relatively few antitank guns in position to oppose them.

Fighters Thoroly Trained.

The fact that the German soldiers received thoro training to fight as individuals while isolated from their communications is a further factor in the Nazi success in France. Hitler's shrewdness in duping the allies into rehearsing their defense movements twice before he invaded Holland, Belgium, and France gave him foreknowledge that led to the brilliant thrust at Abbeville and the capture of the major part of the allies' mobile equipment.

The armor, mobility, and concentrated fire power of the German columns, on the one hand, and the lack of weapons capable of destroying tanks, on the other, made the German penetration of the allied territory a reasonably safe military maneuver. Such tactics will prove good until suitable weapons in sufficient quantity can be brought to oppose them.

The most progressive military opinion here regards the days when armies were composed of millions of fighting men as over. It believes that what is needed is a small percentage of strength to operate the fighting machines, a large force of mechanics to keep the machines serviced, and more sappers and engineers to build fortifications, roads, and bridges, with the masses to fetch and carry in the rear.

Industry a Big Factor.

This organization must be backed by an efficient industry producing armaments and by training schools for those who later will be drafted into the fighting services. Industry should not provide soldiers, it is held.

An illustration of how industry can be made to suffer thru the military taking skilled craftsmen was provided by France. She mobilized all men from 20 to 50 years of age and the number of trained men in industry fell from 1,400,000 to 600,000, with a consequent falling off of supplies of military necessities. Germany prepared against a similar situation by establishing in every industrial plant a school in which selected men were trained in thousands by active foremen in their spare time.

JAPS ASK APOLOGY FOR 'BRUTALITY' OF AMERICAN MARINES

SHANGHAI, July 10.—Rear Admiral Moriji Takeda, commanding Japanese naval forces in Shanghai, today joined in the demands for an American apology for the alleged "brutal treatment" of some of the sixteen Japanese gendarmes arrested Sunday by United States marines.

While a Japanese army spokesman admitted the Japanese, in civilian garb, should not have been sent into an American section of Shanghai without warning, both Japanese army and navy spokesmen added to the growing flames of anti-American sentiment by their heated accusations of "insulting" behavior on the part of the American forces.

PAN-AMERICAN PARLEY TO GET MILITARY GUARD

Nazi Threats Mailed to Havana Envoys.

BY GUSTAVO RENO.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, July 10.—Havana will be placed under strong military control during the Pan-American conference, starting July 20. The conference will consider defense measures for the western hemisphere. All North and South American republics will be represented.

As a precaution against terrorist and fifth column activities, the city will be closely policed, Col. José Pedraza, army chief of staff, revealed.

The military control actually will begin July 14—election day. The troops which then will cover the entire city will remain in Havana, but will be dressed in plain clothes.

Warn Against Aggression.

Leaflets have been mailed to several ambassadors and ministers established here, threatening to terrorize the convention meetings and attempt to take the lives of certain diplomats if measures of aggression against the Nazi and Fascist régimes are adopted.

The leaflets were signed by the Havana branch of the anti-Imperialist league of the western hemisphere. Pedraza refused to comment on reports that 26 suspects had been arrested since the leaflets appeared but said, "the situation is well in hand."

GERMAN ENVOY PROTESTS.

Indignation was expressed in San Jose, Costa Rica, yesterday over statements opposing the Pan-American conference issued by Dr. Otto Reinebeck, German minister to Panama and the five Central American republics. The minister in messages to foreign ministers of these countries criticized the actions which he anticipated would be taken. The Central American countries have adopted a joint policy in support of the United States in hemisphere defense proposals.

In Guatemala, the secretary of foreign relations said the communication from the German minister expressed hope that no action would be taken "aimed directly or indirectly at Germany."

The government of Nicaragua quoted the German envoy as urging that the Havana conference deliberations be taken "in a spirit of neutrality."

At Quito, Ecuador, the arrest of four army officers and two civilians on charges of aiding a "meeting of subversive character" was announced.

British Trade Told to List France as Enemy Territory

BRAZIL FAVORS U. S. MANDATES OVER COLONIES

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, July 10 (AP).—Brazil favors American mandates or protectorates over European possessions in the western hemisphere rather than see them pass from one European nation to another, Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha said today.

Aranha asserted American nations at the Havana conference July 20 "should take a definite stand on the question of European colonies."

"It seems natural," he said, "that the nations closest to the colonies, or which would be most seriously affected by any transference, should assume the responsibility."

For example, the United States could be expected to be given the protectorate over islands which are important in the defense of the Panama Canal zone. Venezuela might be given supervision of the colonies off her coast. "Brazil might be chosen to direct the Guianas."

Chinese Decide to Fight with No Thought of Peace

CHUNGKING, China, July 10 (AP).—The central executive committee of the Kuomintang, China's governing nationalist party, proclaimed its determination tonight to continue the war against Japan "without thought of peace." Concluding a session conducted mostly underground because of Japanese bombings, the 140 Nationalist leaders issued a manifesto of unreserved support for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

FRANCO CREATES NEW MILITIA ON FASCIST LINES

Changes in Army Give Him More Power.

BY MAURICE ENGLISH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Spain, July 10.—Creation of a military militia on the lines of the Fascist Black Shirts and the Nazi Storm Troopers was provided for today in a new law promulgated by Gen. Fracisco Franco.

The militia will include virtually all male members of the Falangist [Fascist] party, which thus completes its organization along approved totalitarian lines. An important section of it will be the "university militia," which will provide premilitary training for elte Spanish youth in centers of higher education.

Reorganization of the old Falangist militia, which has been a skeleton force existing mostly on paper, was characterized by neutral military observers as an event of major importance in the development of the country's potential strength in arms.

Calls Old Service Insufficient.

In the preamble to the law Gen. Franco states that the "old time liberal system of compulsory military service no longer is sufficient." In the totalitarian world training of the citizen "much begin at the earliest possible moment and continue as long as he has energy to bear arms."

Under the terms of the law, each province henceforth is to have a permanent militia force with a staff of officers. They will be charged with the premilitary training of youths from 18 years of age up to time when they will be taken into the regular army.

Two main groups of the militia were created. The first will include those who have completed army service and are liable to be reincorporated into the army in case of need. The second group will include those past the age of the regular military service, but less than 55 years old. In case of general mobilization they will be used as a rear guard force.

Franco's Power Strengthened.

An important provision of the law strengthens the dictatorial powers of Franco with the stipulation that among the duties of the militia is to prepare the mass of the population "for labor service and whatever action the caudillo [leader] may command."

One observer recalled a statement made last June by David Lloyd George, former British prime minister, and widely published here, to the effect that if Britain had supported the Spanish republic effectively they would now have the help of a republican army, instead of 1,000,000 hostile Falangists guarding the western outlet of the Mediterranean.

"Lloyd George exaggerated," the observer declared, "but a short time from now his pessimism may be fully justified."

BRITAIN OUTLAWS MOSLEY'S BLACK SHIRTED PARTY

Meetings of Fascist Union Banned.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 10.—The first political party to be banned in England since the war began was outlawed tonight by the ministry of home security. It is Sir Oswald Mosley's British Union of Fascists, which more than a year ago dropped the word "Fascists" from its title, but retained the Fascist salute and ideologies.

Its leader and his wife and many of its leading supporters have been interned under the defense regulations, but apparently this was considered inadequate protection against the fifth column dangers presented by existence of the party itself.

All Meetings Banned.

The party never obtained representation in parliament and almost invariably its candidate received the lowest vote of all in the elections.

The order of Sir John Anderson, the home security ministry, makes it an offense to convene or attend a meeting of the British Union, to distribute leaflets or publish advertisments relating to such gatherings, or to make or accept monetary contributions or loans on behalf of the organization. The home security minister is empowered to confiscate any funds the party may have.

Police today broke into the East London headquarters of the union with crowbars, but found the place empty, documents and literature having been removed.

Leaders Are Interned.

Besides Mosley, his wife, whose sister, Unity Freeman-Mitford is Adolf Hitler's idea of "beautiful Aryan womanhood," and others, several members of the East London branch also have been interned, it was stated tonight.

The British Union members paraded in black shirts, sang the Italian national anthem, "Giovanezza," and created so many disturbances that they were responsible for laws restricting political uniforms and political parades.

MEXICO EXPECTS TROUBLE AS VOTE COUNTING BEGINS

Result Will Have Bearing on Peace or Revolt.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, July 10.—Counting of the votes cast in last Sunday's riotous presidential election was conducted thruout Mexico today.

The tabulations and other events of the day will have an important bearing on whether peace or revolt will follow. The authorities are preparing for trouble when the unofficial results are announced tomorrow night.

The 16,000 troops, cadets, and police used on election day again were mobilized. Members of all CTM [Mexican Workers Confederation] unions were ordered to report at union headquarters early in the morning, "ready for trouble." There were reports that the PRM [Mexican Revolutionary party] headquarters was arming its members. At least 44 persons were killed and 286 were wounded on Sunday.

Few Ballots According to Law.

Some leaders declare that not 5 per cent of the votes cast on Sunday were balloted according to law, and almost anything can happen tomorrow.

Pitched battles developed on Sunday at the polling places, and the side that controled the polling place allowed only the votes of its candidates to be cast there. In many districts each side had its own casilla [polling place].

The CTM and PRM support Gen. Manuel Avila Camacho. The independents favor Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan. Almazan, fearing a repetition of Sunday's battles between the rival followers, asked his supporters to stay away from the counting, but they are expected to be present anyway when the unofficial results are announced.

Official Finale on Aug. 24.

The official results will be presented to the national chamber of deputies on Aug. 24. The chamber is composed overwhelmingly of members of the PRM and ardent Camacho supporters.

There were reports from the provinces that hundreds of trucks are bringing Indian gunmen to Mexico City tomorrow for the Camachistas. They are supposed to have been collected from the states of Mexico, Hidalgo, Puebla, and Morelos, all near the federal district.

Almazan headquarters reported shots were fired into the homes of a dozen leaders in various parts of the country. Col. P. S. Alvarada, Almazan leader in Panuco, Vera Cruz state, was critically wounded in a shooting at his home. The communist leader, Eligio Muniz, was seized for the gun play, but police later said he had escaped from jail.

BRITISH CABINET FIRM AGAINST COMPROMISE OVER WAR, SAYS BEVIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 10.—Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin today related how "in the darkest hour when it looked as if only 20 per cent of the British Expeditionary Forces would be brought back from Dunkirk" all the members of the cabinet "resolved to make no compromise with Hitler." He indicated that stand has not been altered.

Addressing the National Defense of Public Interest committee, he told his listeners, "If there is any sign of weakness in the cabinet I would be the first to inform the country."

Bevin, who described his own office as only second in importance to that of the prime minister, reported munitions workers are putting in 84 hours weekly and are happy to do so.

He said he could not press women to such strenuous effort because they are the "future mothers of the nation" and their health must be guarded.

Canada Agrees to Take 6,700 Prisoners of War

OTTAWA, Ont., July 10 (AP).—Canada has agreed to imprison 6,700 prisoners of war and interns from the United Kingdom for the duration of the war, officials of the state department said tonight. Some have arrived and been placed in internment campe at widespread points, a spokesman said.

PUZZLE OF WEDNESDAY, JULY 10, SOLVED

[Associated Press Wirephoto: By Clipper plane.]

According to German sources, this picture shows the British troop transport Orama plunging stern first in the Arctic ocean, where it had been attacked by German naval forces. In the foreground is a German destroyer. Fastened to its stern, according to the censor, is a lifeboat from the Orama whose crew already has been taken aboard. A loaded lifeboat is making its way from the transport. The British ship remained in a vertical position for a full minute, the Germans said.

BRITAIN TIES UP EVACUATION OF YOUNG REFUGEES

Commons to Get Statement on Program.

BY GUY MURCHIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 10.—Altho the growing realization of the sea risks and the desire to avoid burdening the navy has caused the government here to begin to reconsider its overseas evacuation scheme for children, large numbers of children still are preparing to follow those already sent to America and the dominions.

It is expected that some statement will be made in the house of commons tomorrow as to whether the overseas mass evacuation scheme will be continued or dropped as impracticable.

Obstacles Arise in Britain.

At first, arrangements were made for the government to assume the expense of the evacuation. Then it was explained that convoys would be needed for British ships carrying the young refugees, but not for American ships. The scarcity of British vessels available for such a purpose is one of the obstacles which have arisen to postpone, or at least curtail the evacuation scheme and cause discussion of its possible abandonment.

However, regardless of the fate of the government's scheme for a mass evacuation to America, the American consul in London today continued visaing passports for those already assured homes in America with relatives or friends of their parents.

1,000 Already Have Gone.

John G. Erhardt, consul general, told THE TRIBUNE tonight that 1,000 children already have left for America and another 1,500 are ready to go, while applications are being handled at the rate of 150 daily.

All these children, however, are individual cases coming under no group arrangement plan, either here or in America. It was said here that objections were being raised to the procedure which permitted the children of the wealthy to be sent to America and kept the less fortunate at home.

AMERICAN PLANS GO AHEAD

Plans for caring for refugee English children were being pushed in Chicago and New York yesterday despite reports from England that the evacuation program is being reconsidered, with the possibility that it may be abandoned altogether.

A Chicago committee representing social agencies coöperating in preparation for receiving the children was advised the program may be delayed. Meanwhile, however, evacuation plans in London are continuing in a limited manner, according to word received from J. Roland Robinson, official representative of the British reception board in New York.

Available Accommodations Booked.

"The board has booked all available accomodations on British ships up to the end of August for the children and they will leave as soon as arrangements are completed to receive them on this side," Robinson said.

"Present regulations in this country permit only the entrance of children whose parents can afford to pay for their passage on ocean liners. Efforts have been under way for some time to enable children of poorer families to be received here.

"I know that both the United States and British governments realize the vital need for prompt action and the necessity for cutting red tape. We are in constant touch with the proper authorities and we hope the problem will be solved soon."

Government's Attitude Sought.

Members of the Chicago committee sought information from Washington on the attitude of the government toward the sons and daughters of English working men's families, and it was understood Secretary of State Hull was more than sympathetic to the plan. Leaders in the movement were seeking a short cut to authorization for this class of juveniles to enter the country as visitors under a permit that might later be prolonged.

M. K. Reckord, general director of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society, who is chairman of the Chicago committee, said the work of seeking homes for the English children, in the event of their ultimate arrival, would proceed. The Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of the Chicago archdiocese and head of the Catholic Youth organization, is to go to New York today in furtherance of the plan. The C. Y. O. already has arranged for a number of children expected here next week from Canada.

Bar Case Delayed

A continuance until July 25 was granted yesterday by Municipal Judge N. J. Bonelli to five women and three men arrested last month in the Kitty Davis cocktail lounge, 245 South Wabash avenue. One of the defendants is George Davis, alias Stevens, husband of Kitty, who faces charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, allowing gambling paraphernalia on the premises, and permitting the sale of liquor to minors. The other defendants are dice girls and other employés in the place. Last week Capt. Thomas Duffy of the Central police recommended to Commissioner Allman that all licenses of the establishment be revoked.

RAISES PATRIOTIC FUND FROM "GOD BLESS AMERICA"

New York, July 10. [Special].—Irving Berlin, the song writer, has established a trust fund into which will go all royalties from his song hit "God Bless America," and has directed that the funds be used solely for patriotic purposes among the youth of America, it was announced today. A total of $43,646 is available for distribution.

The Boy Scouts of America and the Girl Scouts of America were the first organizations selected by the trustees, Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Gene Tunney and Herbert Bayard Swope, to benefit from the trust. Other organizations will receive donations at later dates.

Berlin composed the song in 1917 as a finale to a comedy he wrote for his buddies at Camp Upton, where he was a private. It remained unpublished until 1938, when Berlin, upon returning from London after the Munich pact, dug it out and permitted its introduction on a radio program. Since then more than 400,000 copies have been sold.

NAZI TERROR FILM SHOWING ROUSES HOUSE MEMBERS

Branded Propaganda, Its Aims a Mystery.

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP).—Several house members tonight awaited an explanation from Representative Ross A. Collins [D., Miss.] of the circumstances surrounding the showing on Capitol hill of what Representative Donald L. O'Toole [D., N. Y.] called a "terror" moving picture of the German conquest in Europe.

Representative Collins.

The New Yorker suggested that the showing of the film might be a German plan to "intimidate" the United States lawmakers.

Representative Joe Starnes [D., Ala.] said it was "pure propaganda and I'd like to know whose."

Invitations to view the picture were issued to all senators and representatives over Collins' name, but he was not present when the picture was shown to about 200 persons last night in a house caucus room. His office said he would return from Mississippi tomorrow.

Obtained from Nazi Sources.

A representative of a nationally distributed newsreel said the film had been brought to Washington for viewing by army and navy officers. This representative, who asked that no use be made of his name or that of his company, said the film was obtained from the German government and was available to all newsreel representatives in Europe. He asserted that his company had no intention of releasing it to the public because "we don't want to frighten people."

Representative Lawrence Lewis [R., Ohio] looked askance on the film because of what he said was "the atmosphere of mystery" which surrounded its showing. He said he heard no announcement preceding the film and there were no titles or other explanation.

Hint at Appropriation Stimulus.

Lewis advanced another theory that it might have been designed to stimulate congressional favor for military appropriations.

Representative Jed Johnson [D., Okla.] issued a statement saying that he had announced before the film was run that Collins was detained and "that it was my understanding that the films were official German films." He said he did so at Collins' request.

O'Toole said the films showed chiefly havoc created by the advancing army. Bombing planes dived low over buildings and set them afire with incendiary bombs. Parachutists were dropped out of transport planes in large numbers. Some of the scenes "obviously were phoney," he added.

Czechs Hope for Nation's Restoration, Says Masaryk

Jan Masaryk, former Czecho-Slovak minister to Great Britain and son of the late Thomas Masaryk, founder of the Czecho-Slovakian republic, spoke last night before more than 2,500 members of the Czecho-Slovak national council in Pilsen park. He said his countrymen still hope for restoration of their republic.

WAR EXPECTED TO BREAK SOON IN THE NEAR EAST

Move Under Way to Involve Arabia.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASEL, Switzerland, July 10.—According to information from political sources closely connected to the belligerent powers and substantiated by financial experts here, the European struggle is expected to develop extensive activity soon in the near east, Asia Minor, and Egypt.

While these circles report that a wide difference of opinion exists between Russia and the German-Italian axis for monetary and other reasons, the axis is now in no position seriously to object to Russian expansion.

On the contrary, a political move is in the making to involve Arabia as a cog in the military wheels to defeat the British empire. King Ibn Saud of Arabia has looked with envious eyes on Mediterranean outlets and with territorial hunger on British Palestine, Transjordan, and French Syria, and he has prepared.

Army Put at 100,000.

Approximately 5,000 American automobiles have been purchased, supposedly for civil purposes, but they fit in with military necessities. Approximately 500 airplanes have been bought. Ibn Saud's army is reported to approximate 100,000 and to be efficient.

Russia's excuse for extension of her frontier lines is based upon her relations with the Armenian district on the east and protection of the south towards the Bosporus. For years the United States and Russia have been exerting pressure on Turkey to protect the Armenians in their religious freedom. Now it appears that Russia had a reason.

Two Thrusts Expected.

The soviets, according to the census here, will extend their southeastern border in the Black sea area to the line from Samsun, Turkey, southeast to Lake Van, Armenia, and the borders of the Euphrates river basin. They are expected to move their southern border to the Bosporus.

Italy is preparing for a major drive on the British forces in Egypt in an attempt to amalgamate her African colonies. This move, it is contended, is not with the purpose of annexing Egypt but to drive Britain out of that section of the Mediterranean coveted by Italy.

The scheme appears to be another stroke by the German general staff to make England fight on many fronts.

Motorship Beaches Self as Rocks Cut Holes in Hull

MANILA, P. I., July 10 (AP).—The motorship Antonia was forced to beach herself on Ambil Island, 75 miles from Manila tonight, after having freed herself from rocks of another island where she had run aground earlier in the day. The ship's crew and her 50 passengers were reported safe. Major leaks forced the second grounding.

LATVIANS SET UP PATRIOTIC PARTY TO OPPOSE REDS

War Hero to Head Group in Week-End Vote.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, July 10.—Patriotic Latvians are making an attempt to form a National Democratic party to oppose the coalition party of workers, peasants, and the "laboring intelligentsia" which the communist party has organized at the dictation of the Moscow communist internationale in an attempt to dominate the parliamentary elections next Saturday and Sunday.

Led by Gen. Janis Balodis, commander in chief of the Latvian army in the successful war of independence against a demoralized Red army and an invading force of Germans in 1918-'19, a group of leading citizens have become candidates in the elections. The National Democratic party candidates are well known to the entire nation as patriots and leaders in many branches of national life.

Majority Vote Possible.

If anything like free and untrammeled elections are held, this party will poll a majority vote, for the Latvians still cherish their national independence.

However, the communist party here is seeking to intimidate the better element of the population into supporting their program.

Bruno Kalnis, former political exile, today was named a political leader of the Latvian army. This foe of former President Karl Ulmanis now is a communist. He was in prison for three years, then fled to Finland.

Communist orators frequently mention the possibility of the "anschluss" of Latvia to Russia. The puppet Latvian government appointed by Moscow also is issuing decrees which are not adding to its popularity. Today it forbade all printing plants to accept or publish material concerning the approaching elections without special permission from the ministry of social affairs.

Press Attacks Democrats.

Latvia's newspapers, which are all being edited by propaganda agents supported by the government, are continuing violent attacks on all attempts to organize opposition to the present government.

Some articles follow the Moscow style of journalism by ending with threats, such as, "The Latvian workers' nation will know how to deal in the future with such leaders."

The demoralization accompanying the introduction of communism into a country which has always opposed it and even outlawed the communist party has seriously affected industrial production and is threatening to spread into the country, where the farmers fear collectivization of their property.

Agitators continue to condemn rumors of an impending conflict between Russia and Germany as "provocations" intended to disorganize and weaken the nation.

9 Oklahoma Congressmen Win Democratic Primary

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 10 (AP).—Paced by freshman Representative Mike Monroney of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma's nine congressmen easily won Democratic renomination in yesterday's primary election, almost complete unofficial returns showed tonight. Monroney, seeking a second term, had a lead of 37,000 votes over his nearest opponent. Congressman-at-large Will Rogers outran former Gov. William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray by 28,000 ballots in his race for a fifth term.

ROOSEVELT ASKS 5 BILLIONS MORE FOR U. S. DEFENSE

Boosts Total of Requests to 14 Billion Dollars.

world," Mr. Roosevelt said in his message. "We will not use our arms in a war of aggression; we will not send our men to take part in European wars.

"But, we will repel aggression against the United States or the western hemisphere. The people and their representatives in congress know that the threats to our liberties, the threats to our security, the threats against our way of life, the threats to our institutions of religion, of democracy, and of international good faith, have increased in number and gravity from month to month, from week to week, and almost from day to day."

Political Strategy Sensed.

On Capitol Hill the pledge was regarded as an effort on the part of the President to guard against defection of noninterventionist Democrats to a third party or even to Republican ranks. It was felt the President was seeking to capitalize on the rejection by the Republican convention at Philadelphia of the Illinois plank against shedding American blood abroad.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], noninterventionist leader, said the third party talk would disappear if the Democratic platform reiterated the President's pledge to keep American troops out of the European war zone. Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.], administration leader who has been mentioned as a Democratic vice presidential possibility, hailed this phase of the message as demonstrating the President's position to the nation.

Wheeler Explains Position.

Of his own candidacy, Senator Wheeler said he is positively and definitely a candidate and his name will be presented to the convention, provided Mr. Roosevelt does not announce his intention of seeking a third term. If Mr. Roosevelt does so, Wheeler said, there would be no use in his offering his name because Mr. Roosevelt can have the nomination if he desires it.

In connection with his request for additional defense funds Mr. Roosevelt gave implied approval to the pending Burke-Wadsworth bill, which would require compulsory military training for all men between the ages of 21 and 45 and registration of all men from 21 to 65.

May Scrap Earlier Plan.

"The foregoing program deals exclusively with material requirements," the President said. "The congress is now considering the enactment of a system of selective training for developing the necessary man power to operate this material and man power to fill army noncombat needs."

This was interpreted as indicating Mr. Roosevelt may scrap his workdraft program for young men and women and support a program of military training. The youth training program is in the lap of Sidney Hillman, C. I. O. vice president and member of the defense advisory commission, who was ordered to whip it into shape for possible submission to congress in a special message.

Cites Changed Situation.

In his defense fund messages the President said in part:

"Again today, in less than two months' time, the changes in the world situation are so great and so profound that I must come once again to the congress to advise concerning new threats, new needs, and the imperative necessity of meeting them. Free men and free women in the United States look to us to defend their freedom against all enemies foreign and domestic. Those enemies of freedom who hate free institutions now deride democratic governments as weak and inefficient.

"We the free men and women of the United States, with memories of our fathers to inspire us and the hopes of our children to sustain us, are determined to be strong as well as free. The apologists for despotism and those who aid them by whispering defeatism or appeasement, assert that because we have not devoted our full energies to arms and to preparation for war that we are now incapable of defense.

"I refute that imputation.

Determined to Be Strong.

"We fully understand the threat of the new enslavement in which men may not speak, may not listen, may not think. As these threats become more numerous and their dire meaning more clear, it deepens the determination of the American people to meet them with wholly adequate defense.

"We have seen nation after nation, some of them weakened by treachery from within, succumb to the force of the aggressor. We see great nations still gallantly fighting against aggression, encouraged by high hope of ultimate victory.

"It is because of these rapid changes; it is because of the grave danger to democratic institutions, and, above all, it is because of the united will of the entire American people that I come to ask you for a further authorization of $4,848,171,957 for the national defense.

Points to Nation's Strength.

"Let no man in this country or anywhere else believe that because we in America still cherish freedom of religion, of speech, of assembly, of the press—that because we maintain our free democratic political institutions by which the nation, after full discussion and debate, chooses its representatives and leaders for itself—let no man here or elsewhere believe that we are weak.

"The United States is the greatest industrial nation in the world. Its people, as workers and as business men, have proved that they can unite in the national interest and that they can bring together the greatest assembly of human skills, of mechanical production, and of national resources ever known in any nation.

Points to War's Lessons.

"The principal lesson of the war up to the present time is that partial defense is inadequate defense.

"If the United States is to have any defense, it must have total defense.

"We cannot defend ourselves a little here and a little there. We must be able to defend ourselves wholly and at any time.

"Our plans for national security, therefore, should cover total defense. I believe that the people of this country are willing to make any sacrifice to attain that end.

"After consultation with the war and navy departments and the advisory commission of the council of national defense, I recommend a further program for the national defense. This contemplates the provision of funds and authorizations for the material requirements without which the man power of the nation, if called into service, cannot effectively operate, either in the production of arms and goods, or their utilization in repelling attack.

Reports Fine Progress.

"I take this occasion to report the excellent progress being made for the procurement of the equipment already ordered under authorization by the congress. Every week more and more is being delivered. The several branches of the government are working in close coöperation with each other and with private manufacturers.

"We are keeping abreast of developments in strategy, tactics, and technique of warfare, and build our defenses accordingly.

"The total amount which I ask of the congress in order that this program may be carried out with all reasonable speed is $2,161,441,957, which it is estimated would be spent out of the treasury between now and July 1, 1941, and an additional $2,686,730,000 for contract authorizations.

"So great a sum means sacrifice. So large a program means hard work—the participation of the whole country in the total defense of the country. This nation thru sacrifice and work and unity proposes to remain free."

Gulfport, Miss., July 10—[Special]—Dr. Richard G. Cox, president of Gulf Park college here, has formed an aviation club for girls as a semi-preparedness measure. Billions for Defense

ITEMS DETAILED IN NEW DEFENSE FUND PROPOSAL

House Group Gets Listing from Budget Bureau.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 10.—The house appropriations committee late today received from the budget bureau a detailed statement of how President Roosevelt proposes to spend nearly five billion dollars on a new defense program.

Of the $2,161,441,957 in direct appropriations, the army is to receive $1,662,265,417 and the navy $499,176,540. Of the contract authorizations totaling $2,686,730,000, the army is to get $2,249,730,000 and the navy will receive $437,000,000.

Items Are Set Forth.

To carry out the President's desires to complete the total equipment for a land force of approximately 1,200,000 men, procure reserve stocks of tanks, guns, artillery, and ammunition for another 800,000 men and to expand manufacturing facilities for these materials, the following items were submitted for congressional approval:

Quartermaster corps — $4,685,122 cash and $3,280,000 contract.

Clothing and equippage—$150,064,813 cash and $50,700,000 contract.

Army transportation — $87,500,610 cash and $7,150,000 contract.

Medical and hospital department, army—$11,701,039 cash and $3,900,000 contract.

To expedite production of war materials, an appropriation of $162,500,000 was asked and an added contract authorization for another $162,500,000. This fund is to be used in the discretion of the secretary of war with the cooperation and advice of the council of national defence and the approval of the president.

93 Million to Start Ships.

The navy is to be given $93,000,000 to lay down as many of the combatant vessels authorized by congress as proposed to be appropriated possibly may be started in the current fiscal year. Another $85,000,000 is for the armor, armament, and ammunition for these vessels. Seventy-five millions is asked for naval auxiliary ships. Details concerning the number of ships which may be started with this fund will be forthcoming later.

For enlarging navy yards in order that the shipbuilding program may be expanded, an appropriation of $40,000,000 was asked of congress.

In order to finance the acquisition of 15,000 additional army planes and 4,000 navy planes, the army air corps is to be given $520,802,304 in cash and $1,002,600,000 in contract authorizations. The navy's bureau of aeronautics is to receive $125,000,000 in cash and the secretary of the navy is to be given authority to enter into contracts for the production and purchase of new planes and equipment in an amount not to exceed $375,000,000.

24,591 Army Planes.

The provision for 15,000 planes for the army will bring the army air corps to a strength of 24,591 planes by Oct. 1, 1941, Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson said after a call at the White House.

The present strength of the army is 2,700 planes. Until the current expansion program, which seeks an air force of 50,000 planes got underway, the authorized strength of the air force was 5,500.

The navy has 1,800 planes and 2,600 are on order. Under the current expansion program the navy is to get 3,100 planes. The navy is seeking to build an air force of 15,000 planes for the two ocean navy. The 4,000 asked today would form part of that armada.

Army's Speedup in Production Cutting Cost of Garand Rifles

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 10.—Under the program to procure 240,000 Garand semi-automatic rifles for the army and national guard by next June 1, the army hopes to effect a substantial reduction in the cost of manufacturing its new weapon.

The first semi-automatic rifles were produced at a cost of $200 each as against the $47.65 cost of producing the Springfield rifle which the Garand replaced. The cost of $200 a rifle was the average when the weapons were produced at the rate of about a hundred a week.

Since then as the production rate was being stepped toward 1,000 rifles a week the cost has dropped to $136 in government arsenals. At 1,000 rifles a week the cost for each rifle is about $100.

The ordnance department expects that the cost for each rifle will drop shortly to $80 and below that figure to within a few dollars of the cost of producing Springfields as the procurement program gets under full way.

Several months ago the war department let a contract to the Winchester Arms company for 65,000 rifles at $8,710,000. This would bring the cost per rifle to about $120 dollars.

However, a considerable part of the contract award is to go for new machinery and retooling in the arms plant. This equipment will be available for future orders so that the cost per rifle on future orders will be cut almost in half.

Quota for Million Men.

The Winchester plant does not expect to begin manufacture of the rifle in any considerable numbers until late this fall. After construction is under way, it is to be stepped up along with that in the Springfield, Mass., arsenal to fill the 240,000 rifle quota for an initial protective force of 1,000,000 men.

This production rate may be stepped up if it is decided that a mobilization force of 2,000,000 men is essential for the national safety. In such an event, the production rate probably would not be doubled but orders would be carried over beyond June 1, 1941.

SCHOOL DEFENSE TRAINING PLANS PUSHED BY BOARD

Several administrative changes and other measures designed to facilitate vocational instruction under the national defense program, were approved yesterday by the board of education.

The position of director of vocational education was abolished to make room for direct supervision by federal administrators. Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools, was authorized to assume personal responsibility for defense training and Carl A. Carlson, a teacher at Lane Technical High school, was chosen his assistant. The appointment of 58 teachers to the staffs of summer training schools, which opened this week, was approved.

Superintendent Johnson reported that registrations for the training courses were so numerous that Schurz and Harrison Technical High schools may be opened for classes. Classes are now held at Lane, Crane, and Tilden Technical High schools.

RIFLEMEN FIGHT BAN ON SURPLUS ARMY GUN SALES

European Shipments Are Cited in Protest.

Members of the National Rifle association have launched a nationwide campaign against the recent war department ruling which denies them the right to buy surplus army rifles and ammunition for training purposes while at the same time such rifles are being shipped abroad by the government to a foreign nation for use in the European war.

The war department halted these sales to members of the association last month, avowedly to conserve supplies. The department's policy previously had been to make surplus equipment available to association members at a nominal cost to promote civilian marksmanship. Section 113 of the national defense act, which provides for issuance of the equipment in this manner, has been suspended.

Riflemen's Handicap Told.

Lloyd Howell, president of the Illinois State Rifle association, which has a membership of 8,000 and is an affiliate of the national association, said yesterday that the war department ruling severely handicaps American riflemen at a time when they should be encouraged.

"Congress has appropriated funds subsidizing civilian rifle shooting for more than 20 years," Howell said, "and now when there is a possible emergency, the intent of the national defense act is flouted, and the money expended thru the years is wasted under the subterfuge of conserving the war reserve.

"The government tells American riflemen that the supply of rifles must be held in reserve due to the war in Europe and its possible threat to the United States, but the fact is that immediately after the sale of arms and ammunition to American civilians was stopped, an order was issued authorizing the sale of a large percentage of our war reserve Enfield rifles to a foreign government."

Training Must Be Curtailed.

Howell said the National Rifle association has been the means thru which thousands of young men have been trained in the use of firearms, and that this work will be seriously curtailed if the source of guns and ammunition is cut off.

In Illinois alone, he said, there are more than 3,000 senior riflemen affiliated with the national organization, and at least 300 of these are experienced marksmen capable of training novices to handle rifles expertly.

There are approximately 225,000 senior members of the national association, including thousands of ex-service men.

Before the sale of rifles and ammunition was suspended members of the association could buy the best .30 caliber army rifles for $52 and the best quality services rifles for $40 to $45. New Enfield rifles could be bought for as low as $12, and used Enfields for $7.50.

SENATE DEBATES FORCED TRAINING FOR ARMY DUTIES

Controversy Developing Over Plan to Be Used.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 10.—Agitation for compulsory military service reached the stage of senate debate today, with developments presaging a major controversy over the conscription issue during the present session of congress.

Senator Lodge.

President Roosevelt's message requesting additional appropriations of 4 billion 848 million dollars for armaments contained a passage indorsing at least the principle of the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory service bill, now pending before committees of congress.

"In this way," the President said, "we can make certain that when this modern material becomes available, it will be placed in the hands of troops trained, seasoned, and ready."

Lodge Offers Substitute Bill.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. [R., Mass.], a member of the military appropriations subcommittee and a reserve army officer, introduced a rival compulsory service bill to procure highly selected personnel for a regular army of 750,000 men. The Lodge bill would require the registration of all males between the ages of 21 and 25, and from this number, personnel would be selected by lot to maintain an army of 750,000 men.

The Burke-Wadsworth bill would require the registration of all males between the ages of 18 and 65. Those between the ages of 18 and 21 and between 45 and 65 would be subject to so-called noncombat service, while those between the ages of 21 and 45 would be subject to military service.

Austin Supports Measure.

Senator Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.], a member of the military affairs committee, precipitated the senate debate when he took the floor in support of the Burke-Wadsworth bill. He contended there is an overwhelming popular demand for legislation of this character and said it was evidenced by his mail from Vermont.

Senator Millard E. Tydings [D., Md., a world war officer with a distinguished service record, denounced the conscription proposal and said the army did not favor it except as a principle to be utilized in case of war. Tydings said there would be no officers to train a large conscript army. Conscription at the present time, he said, "would create a problem which would accentuate the present difficulty rather than aid in a solution."

Disagree on Enlistments.

There was some dispute as to whether voluntary enlistments are keeping pace with army quotas. Senator Austin maintained that voluntary enlistments are behind the quotas, but he told the senate that the army had denied this assumption.

Senator Lodge insisted that voluntary enlistments are unsatisfactory. He said the army was experiencing great difficulty in obtaining recruits for an army of 280,000 men prior to the recent appropriation of funds for an army of 375,000 men. If the 375,000 men are obtained by voluntary enlistment, he said, his bill would require the conscription of only 375,000 to bring the army up to 750,000.

One Year's Training.

Under the Lodge bill, the men would be trained for one year, instead of eight months, as provided in the Burke-Wadsworth bill, and a reserve army would be created from among those who had been trained.

"It is my hope that by developing a standing army of 750,000, we may void the necessity for a mass draft and conscription of the total man power of the country later on," Senator Lodge said. "Ideally speaking, a relatively small army consisting of men who are temperamentally, physically and mentally qualified for the military life is superior to a much larger body recruited in a wholesale higgledy-piggledy fashion and including many individuals who are not adapted to the military life."

A radio message from Pilot Rex Kitely, in charge of a search plane, said: "Hawthorne and passengers okay."

Hawthorne with John Walterson, 33, Selkirk, Man., and Walter Urbin, Lac Du Bonnet, left here in a Waco plane last Wednesday for Favorable Lake, Ont., 280 miles northeast of Lac du Bonnet.

They were believed forced down by a thunderstorm in the wild country northeast of Lac du Bonnet.

SENATE UPHOLDS APPOINTMENT OF KNOX TO CABINET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 10.—The senate today completed action on President Roosevelt's cabinet reorganization by confirming the appointment of Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher, as secretary of the navy. The vote was 66 to 16.

Henry L. Stimson, whose appointment was confirmed yesterday by a vote of 56 to 28, took the oath of office as secretary of war today. Knox will receive the oath of office from Justice Felix Frankfurter in President Roosevelt's office tomorrow, the White House announced.

Altho the nominees were denounced jointly in senate debate as the foremost interventionists in the Republican party, Stimson was accorded the special designation of "foremost interventionist in the country."

The noninterventionists assailed the appointments as a long step toward war and charged that President Roosevelt's purpose was to create a war cabinet.

Senator Wheeler to Speak at Executives' Luncheon

Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] will speak on "Present Day Affairs" at a luncheon meeting of the Executive's club in the Hotel Sherman tomorrow.

SCOTCH WHISKY ARRIVES SAFELY THRU WAR ZONE

The middle west was assured yesterday that its supply of Scotch whiskey is not in any immediate danger of depletion. The S. S. Ornefjell, a Norwegian freighter out of Glasgow, Scotland, and flying the Union Jack, docked at Navy pier with a cargo of 16,000 cases of liquor.

Frank Smolek, deputy customs collector, said the whiskey is to be distributed thruout the middle west by the government, as it was shipped in bond to numerous consignees. The ship, now under British registry, was taken over by Great Britain after the occupation of Norway by the Germans. It was convoyed across the Atlantic thru the danger zone.

MAYOR BELIEVES PRESIDENT CAN'T REFUSE 3D TERM

Cut and Dried Convention Now Expected.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Mayor Kelly returned yesterday from Washington, where he conferred in the White House with President Roosevelt, and declared his belief that the President will accept a nomination for a third term.

At Chicago airport, and later at a press conference, the mayor denied that the President had imparted to him the secret of his plans as he did to Postmaster General James A. Farley Sunday night. The mayor said he had just gone in to see the President, shaken hands and talked a minute or so, but not about a convention program. He said he is convinced Mr. Roosevelt will run, but he added:

"He hasn't said, and I am just reading his mind. I don't know definitely what he is going to do and I don't think he does."

Some of Doubt Dispelled.

Mayor Kelly's remarks seemed to dispel some of the doubt in the neighborhood of the Stevens hotel Democratic headquarters. Since Sunday National Chairman Farley himself has drawn a zipper across his lips to keep the Roosevelt secret.

The preliminary atmosphere began to take on the aspects of a cut and dried national convention for a third term nomination. Among arriving party leaders and delegates, the prevailing belief seemed to be that the President would accept the nomination.

Mayor Kelly expressed belief that the President will not come to Chicago to accept the nomination, as he did in 1932. The chances are 100 to 1 against it, the mayor said. He also expressed an opinion that Mr. Farley will remain as national chairman, because "the President wants it that way."

When this was imparted to Chairman Farley at a press conference he smiled his version of the inscrutable Mona Lisa smile and said:

"The situation remains unchanged. It's all very interesting. All I know is what I read in the newspapers."

"Will Continue to Serve."

Mayor Kelly when asked at the airport whether he knew if the President would run, said he had not discussed the matter with the President, and remarked:

"I don't think anybody would like to be President for the next four years. It's going to be pretty tough. But how could any great American refuse the nomination, particularly at this time. If Mr. Roosevelt consulted his own wishes perhaps he might step out. But this is no time for Americans to consult their likes or dislikes. Franklin D. Roosevelt will continue to serve the people."

Reports from Washington that Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana had withdrawn from the race were denied at his headquarters by J. Burke Clements of Helena, campaign manager. He said Wheeler's name would be placed before the convention by Senator D. Worth Clark of Idaho, "if President Roosevelt does not run, and we are assuming he is not a candidate." E. B. Germany, manager of the campaign of Vice President John N. Garner, said the name of "Cactus Jack" would be placed before the delegates.

McNutt Quarters Opened.

Headquarters for Paul V. McNutt of Indiana, federal security administrator, were opened at the Stevens hotel by Frank McHale, Indiana national committeeman. He said McNutt is a candidate if President Roosevelt declines to run.

"The first part of our program," he said, "is to persuade Mr. Roosevelt to run for a third term. That's Paul McNutt's wish."

Chairman Farley said a conference he had with Manager Germany of the Garner camp was a social one only, and that he intended to return the call and perhaps visit Wheeler and McNutt headquarters as well.

The resolutions committee which prepares the party platform is to hold a preliminary meeting tomorrow afternoon. Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, slated for chairman, arrived yesterday.

Plank on Preparedness.

As to the plank on war and preparedness, regarded by both parties as the most important part of their platforms, prevailing belief at headquarters was that it would follow the President's message to congress yesterday for more armament funds, in which he said: "We will not use our arms in a war of aggression; we will not send our men to take part in European wars."

Sixteen members of the resolutions committee who have accepted invitations to be present tomorrow are:

Arkansas	Wilson W. Sharp
Connecticut	David Fitzgerald
Delawafe	E. Ennals Berl
Louisiana	J. Y. Sanders Jr.
Massachusetts	David I. Walsh
Minnesota	Frank Hass
Mississippi	Pat Harrison
Nevada	Pat McCarran

C. I. O. AUTO UNION URGES 3D TERM FOR ROOSEVELT

The executive board of the United Automobile Workers of America, second largest affiliate of the Congress of Industrial Organizations yesterday urged the nomination of President Roosevelt for a third term by the Democratic national convention.

This action, taken at a meeting in the Morrison hotel, emphasized the split in the C. I. O. over the third party question.

John L. Lewis, C. I. O. generalissimo has expressed himself for Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana as his choice for a third party nominee. Senator Wheeler has asserted he will lead a third party bolt of the Democratic ticket if the party platform does not take a strong stand against sending Americans to fight in Europe.

DIES REPORTS BATTLESHIP SABOTAGE PLOT

Aimed at Vessel Now Being Built; Texan Says.

Austin, Tex., July 10 (AP).—Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] of the congressional committee investigating un-American activities said today he had information that a plot to sabotage a battleship under construction in a Pennsylvania navy yard had been uncovered.

He asserted the information had been given him by agents of the committee. Dies declined to say exactly where the ship was located, or to give other details now.

Dies Conducting Hearing.

The congressman is conducting a closed hearing in the Texas capital on bund activities. Herman Koetter, painting contractor of Houston, was questioned for two hours by Dies, presumably regarding the Kyffhauser bund, which Koetter had described to newspaper men as primarily a social and nonpolitical organization.

Koetter said any insinuation that the organization was military or subversive to American institutions was "to say the least, grotesque."

A committee spokesman had said the bund, allegedly secret, had members in oil refining and other basic industries and that testimony indicated one qualification of membership was the ability to do confidential work.

Deny Knowledge of Plot.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 10 (AP).—Officials of the Philadelphia navy yard, only shipyard in Pennsylvania where a battleship now is under construction, said today they knew nothing about a purported plot to sabotage any ship.

They made the comment when informed that Representative Martin Dies had said in Texas that committee agents had given him information about such a plot.

The 45,000 ton New Jersey is in the pre-fabrication stage at the yard here. Another battleship, the Washington, was launched at the yard three weeks ago.

RECALL BARKLEY VOTE SCANDAL IN HATCH BILL O. K.

Reliefers Regimented to Elect 'Dear Alben.'

Passage by the house in Washington yesterday of the Hatch clean politics bill, four months after its passage in the senate, revived interest in the scandals in the 1938 Kentucky Democratic primaries in which Senator Alben W. Barkley was renominated.

Barkley, President Roosevelt's "Dear Alben," majority leader of the senate, is slated to be permanent chairman of the Democratic national convention which opens Monday in the Chicago Stadium. He twice has served as party keynoter—at the 1932 and 1936 conventions. As permanent chairman Barkley will address the convention Tuesday night, according to National Chairman James A. Farley. William B. Bankhead, speaker of the house of representatives, as temporary chairman, will give the keynote speech Monday night.

Exposures Bring Action.

Exposures by a committee headed by Senator Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.], which investigated shakedowns and use in politics of reliefers, WPA workers and federal and state employés in Kentucky, Tennessee, Pennsylvania and several other states, in behalf of Democratic candidates in 1938, have been the propelling force behind the new Hatch bill.

The Kentucky senatorship battle in 1938 between Barkley and Gov. A. B. [Happy] Chandler [now a senator] was the dizziest and bitterest of the 1938 campaigns. Charges that reprehensible activities in the WPA were taking place in behalf of Barkley were made up and down Kentucky by Chandler. Countercharges that Chandler was using state employés in politics were shouted by the Barkley forces.

In the background of the exposures was Barkley's successful fight against the Hatch amendment to the relief appropriation bill of 1938. The amendment was intended to prohibit the coercion of relief workers for political ends. Barkley's opposition was based frankly on the ground that Chandler was backed by a powerful state machine, financed in part with federal funds.

Probe Kentucky Situation.

The clamor against political irregularities was such that on July 15, 1938, the Sheppard committee on campaign expenditures sent an investigator to Kentucky. On Aug. 2, before the Kentucky primary election, the committee in a preliminary report confirmed the general charges.

"A deplorable situation exists in Kentucky," the report said. "The facts should arouse the conscience of the country. They imperil the right of the people to a free and unpolluted ballot."

The federal machine in Kentucky had 69,000 on WPA and 2,000 in administrative agencies. The state pay roll, dominated by Chandler, was estimated at 17,000 persons.

President Roosevelt in a speech at Covington, Ky., on July 8, told Kentuckians why "Dear Alben" should be returned to the senate. He told them that federal cash totaling 280 million dollars in outright allocations and 50 millions in grants to be matched with state funds for highways and flood controls, were flowing into the state. He intimated that Chandler, if elected, would not be so successful as Barkley in getting funds from Washington.

Barkley Defends Self.

Senator Barkley told the Sheppard committee that he had no knowledge of any public funds or political patronage being used by others in his behalf.

In its final report, Jan. 3, 1939, the Sheppard committee further upset congress. The unanimous findings of the committee, consisting of four Democrats and one Republican, gave fresh impetus to the drive to take WPA workers, federal pay rollers, and state employés partly paid by federal funds, out of politics.

Barkley, who was absolved by the committee of knowledge of the use of WPA workers and funds to aid his nomination, was shown to have been given aid by machine use of federal agencies. The report said it sustained charges that federal employés had been solicited for funds to be turned over to a Barkley campaign committee.

"Subscriptions intended for Candidate Barkley's campaign committee," the report said, "were made not only by employés of WPA in Kentucky but also by employés in this state of the National Bituminous Coal commission, bureau of internal revenue, bureau of accounts, the Home Owners' Loan corporation, and the Federal Housing administration." The report said these contributions amounted to about $24,000.

Hit At Chandler, Too.

The report sustained charges that Chandler's campaign committee received contributions on solicitation from state employés who were receiving salaries from funds derived in all or in part from the federal treasury. It placed the amount at about $70,000.

The Sheppard report also said it found many instances of WPA relievers whose political views were against Barkley being discharged; that project workers had been asked by foremen to sign papers saying they would support Barkley, and that Barkley campaign buttons were passed out by foremen to WPA workers.

In one Kentucky WPA district, the report found, there was a canvass of the 18,000 workers, and lists were prepared by the project timekeepers giving names and addresses of all legal voters in the families of the workers and whether they were registered. This plan, the report found, "was instituted and carried out at the request of Thomas S. Rhea, of the state headquarters of the Barkley campaign committee in Louisville."

They Now Support Bill.

Chandler, who was defeated by Barkley in the 1938 primaries, was appointed last October to the senate chair left vacant by the death of Senator M. M. Logan. Barkley and Chandler both have supported the Hatch clean politics bill just enacted. Last March Barkley threatened at a Democratic cloak room conference to resign as majority leader if forced by New Dealers to call a party caucus and bind the membership in opposition to the Hatch bill.

Senator Sherman Minton [D., Ind.], Democratic whip, upbraided Barkley for not calling the caucus. Barkley retorted that the Democratic party would go down to defeat if it failed to pass the Hatch bill.

Mr. and Mrs. Chicago's chances of getting into the Democratic National convention in the Stadium next week appeared yesterday to be practically nil. A survey indicated that the general public probably will have to attend the meeting via newspaper and radio, altho the acquaintance of a ward committeeman may help some.

Mrs. Helen E. Bennett, secretary to Oliver A. Quayle Jr., treasurer of the Democratic national committee, estimated there will be approximately 10,000 seats for the public at each session. These will be divided among the national committeemen and committeewomen from the 48 states.

Committeemen to Get Them.

"We don't handle the tickets at national headquarters," Mrs. Bennett said. "We just give them out to the committeemen. The number allotted to each one is not given out to the public at this time."

At the headquarters of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Conkey, national committeewoman, in the Morrison hotel, a man said the ward committeemen would give out the tickets.

Mayor Kelly said Chicago had received an allotment of 350 reserved seat tickets for each convention session. He said those who had contributed substantially to the souvenir convention program would receive some of these seats. The mayor said he did not know how many balcony seats would be available.

Capt. David Flynn, chief of the Chicago police traffic division, completed his plans yesterday for handling convention automobile traffic.

Capt. Flynn advised motorists from north and south sides to stick to the outer drives and the boulevard system in driving to the Stadium. Winchester and Wolcott avenues and Honore street will be set aside for northbound traffic only between Jackson boulevard and Madison street, and for southbound traffic between Washington and Madison streets.

Parking Facilities Limited.

Parking lots at the east and west ends of the Stadium will hold 500 cars, and the rest of the motorists will have to shift for themselves.

Meanwhile preparations for the convention went forward at the Stadium. Donald McLeod, Stadium manager, said he hopes to maintain a temperature of 70 degrees by using 100 tons of ice daily in the cooling equipment.

Workmen supervised by J. G. Grouzard, concessionaire, were busy preparing the five bars and 20 beer taps for the convention crowd. Grouzard plans to sell $89,250 worth of beer, pop, sandwiches, peanuts and popcorn during the convention.

STASSEN SEES WILLKIE VICTORY FOR PRESIDENCY

Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, keynoter at the Republican national convention, predicted here yesterday that Wendell L. Willkie, G. O. P. nominee for president, will sweep the country.

"Everywhere I find people enthusiastic about Willkie," Stassen said. "As for the Democratic convention, the delegates will do whatever President Roosevelt desires."

Gov. Stassen came here from Minneapolis by Northwest Airlines and left for Washington, D. C., by T. W. A. plane. He will meet there today with the Willkie advisory committee to make campaign plans.

Summer Arrives! Police Don Light Uniforms Today

It got hot enough yesterday so that Capt. John Prendergast, chief of the uniformed police finally decided that summer had arrived. He ordered the men in his charge to don their hot weather uniforms, beginning today. The policemen will shed their coats and wear blue tropical weave shirts and black bow ties.

AN ARMY FOR EUROPE.

Mr. Roosevelt's latest message to congress requests equipment for an army of two million men. He proposes to obtain complete supplies for an army of 1,200,000 and reserve supplies for another 800,000. He asks an additional appropriation of close to 5 billion dollars for the army and navy but insists he has no intention of sending any Americans to fight in Europe. He speaks favorably of conscription to provide the requisite man power.

If we are not going to fight in Europe we have no need of 1,200,000 soldiers or of equipment for an army of even greater size. Either Mr. Roosevelt is concealing his real purpose to send an expeditionary force abroad or he is asking congress to appropriate far more money than is needed for defense.

All of Mr. Roosevelt's public acts in recent years point to his desire to enter the European war. Two years ago he began to talk of quarantining the aggressor nations and in the intervening years his language has become increasingly violent. He has insisted that he is opposed to participation in the European war but with the election coming on he could hardly do otherwise because foreign adventures are not popular with American voters. The example of President Wilson is a reminder that pacific utterances before November are likely to be forgotten by the time April comes around.

Mr. Roosevelt has not been able to conceal his real purposes. His recent cabinet changes were symptomatic. Now his request for an immense army tells the same belligerent story. A moderate increase in the size of the regular army and the rapid modernization of the army's fighting tools in addition to the strengthening of the navy and air force already provided for, would give this country all the protection it requires against aggression from abroad. The request for additional hundreds of thousands of soldiers might mean that the President has lost all sense of proportion but the more probable explanation is that he has made up his mind to enter the war and wants to be sure he will have an army to send abroad. Significantly, he is not depending upon volunteers.

THE TRACY APPOINTMENT.

President Roosevelt has appointed Daniel W. Tracy second assistant secretary of labor. Mr. Tracy is president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and is one of the most able of the men who guide the American Federation of Labor.

The political reason for the appointment is obvious. It is designed to counterbalance that of Sidney Hillman to the defense advisory committee and to mollify A. F. of L. resentment at the assignment of that post to a C. I. O. leader.

Mr. Tracy is, however, a man of too much force to permit himself to be used merely for window dressing. His statutory duties are indefinite, but it seems probable that his assignment will be to do what Mr. Hillman is expected to do but obviously cannot. That is to act as a liaison agent between the government and the trades unions most essential to the success of rearmament—namely: the metal trades unions of the A. F. of L., not the least important of which are Mr. Tracy's own electricians.

It is not improbable that Mr. Tracy enters the New Deal subcabinet with some misgivings. One of his colleagues, Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, has a number of local officers of the electricians' union under indictment on antitrust charges. Mr. Tracy has commented forcefully on the efforts of President Roosevelt's labor board to help the C. I. O. raid the electricians' union. Not being given to speech making, he has probably suppressed whatever he thinks of his new boss, Mme. Perkins, but what the A. F. of L. thinks of her is well known. She is the first labor secretary in history who has failed, and failed for three consecutive years, to receive an invitation to address its annual convention.

The surprising thing is that having persuaded Mr. Tracy to put his talents at the call of the administration the President has not made better use of them. He is far better fitted for Mr. Hillman's job than Mr. Hillman himself, being of at least equal executive ability and having far greater familiarity with and influence in the unions most essential to rearmament.

The appointment marks a further eclipse of Secretary Perkins and naturally raises the question why Mr. Tracy was not given her job. The labor department is rapidly falling apart under this most incompetent member of a largely incompetent cabinet. Control of immigration and naturalization, thru which she has protected such alien revolutionists as Harry Bridges, was recently taken from her and given to the department of justice. The federal employment service has been given to the social security administration. Her commissioner of labor statistics, Isadore Lubin, now reports mainly to the defense advisory committee. The labor board has usurped a large part of her mediation activities. Mr. Hillman has replaced her as the President's adviser on labor matters generally.

Secretary Perkins, however, still clings stubbornly to her title, and the President, while he confesses her futility by whittling away her authority, just as subbornly refuses to replace her with a competent secretary.

NAZI LAWS IN AMERICA.

Two of the leading articles on the financial page the other day should be read together. One of them contained a summary, prepared by counsel for the Illinois Manufacturers' association, of laws recently enacted to govern production for the army and navy. The other reported that the Packard Motor company's directors were unwilling to approve a contract for 9,000 Rolls-Royce airplane engines on the terms offered by the government.

America is supposed to be rearming to prevent the Nazis from taking this country. Any one reading the laws rushed thru congress on a wave of hysteria will wonder where the congressmen checked their brains while this legislation was being enacted. To escape the Nazis we embraced their doctrines. If, for example, the secretary of the navy cannot arrive at an agreement with the owner of a factory, the government can take the factory and run it either directly or thru contract with somebody else. The secretary has been given the right to fix the compensation to be paid for the use of the property.

There was no slightest reason to believe that factory owners were unwilling to coöperate in the rearmament plan and, indeed, there was every reason to know that they were eager to play their part. The professional haters of business pretend that the laws were needed to prevent profiteering, but any one who will take the trouble to inquire among business men can quickly discover for himself that they are worrying not about profits on government orders but about losses.

Most industrial companies will have to make large investments in plant and machinery before they can turn out arms and there is ample reason to fear that these investments will be reduced to junk value in a few years. That would happen, for example, if the government changed its specifications or if it discontinued its buying. A recognition by the government of the necessity for depreciating armament plant over a very short period would go far to remedy the situation, but this administration, with its strong bias against business, is not moving in that direction. Instead it is daily adding new laws and regulations, born of its distrust of business men, with the result that the production of war materials is being delayed and made needlessly expensive.

Packard would have to install 30 million dollars' worth of specialized equipment to handle the order for airplane engines. Any large company would be willing to borrow 30 million dollars or spend that much of its own money if, after careful calculation, it found that a profit could be made on the new investment. The Packard company could now see its way clear to lay out 30 million dollars for new machinery if the government would absorb the cost of it in the order which it is giving, or if there was assurance that the war and rearmament would go on for a number of years, that the government would continue to want Rolls-Royce engines, and that the government would continue to give Packard the business.

But no reliable basis exists for the directors of the Packard company to make all of these assumptions, and they see the prospect of their company being stuck with 30 million dollars' worth of equipment and no way to get their money out of it.

With its Nazi code as a weapon, the administration is under no necessity to deal fairly with manufacturers, and can proceed on a take-it-or-leave-it basis. In such a situation the manufacturer sees much to lose in accepting proffered contracts and nothing to lose in declining them. If his factory is taken over he will receive at least some compensation and all his worries will be ended for the duration.

The present administration, with its genius for executive confusion and the promotion of distrust, cannot arm speedily, because it cannot bring itself to coöperate with experienced factory management. The New Deal prefers to employ Nazi coercion even tho it is altogether certain that in so doing the country loses the services of men who have proved their capacity to obtain large-scale industrial production.

Editorial of the Day

IF WE WANT MASS PRODUCTION TO PROVIDE MAXIMUM DEFENSE.

[Arkansas Gazette, Little Rock.]

Picturing Great Britain as a "fundamentally strong" nation by contrast with a "fundamentally weak" Germany, a British official source listed among other elements of England's strength ability to draw on American industrial plants capable of turning out planes and guns "in astronomical numbers."

Americans themselves are counting on their mass production industries for rapid making up of armament deficiencies of gigantic proportions. Within limits, this confidence is justified. But the masters of mass production have warned the public not to expect immediate large scale deliveries of perfected war implements.

When he virtually offered to produce war planes at the rate of 1,000 a day within six months Henry Ford stipulated that the planes must be standardized and that his plant and organization must be let alone to do the job in their own way. And Vice President Charles F. Kettering of General Motors, addressing the National Editorial association, translated mass production into terms familiar to his hearers when he told them:

"All we do in the automobile industry is publish automobiles instead of books and papers."

The actual printing of a newspaper is a brief operation by comparison with the time required for the preparations that begin in editorial and advertising offices and continue in the mechanical departments where the material is put into type, made up in pages, converted into papiermache matrices, and then into metal plates that must be bolted into the press before the cylinders begin to turn out thousands of copies per hour.

It is no more feasible, Mr. Kettering warned, to change the design of a machine after a mass production program has been put in operation than it would be to change a word in a newspaper after the presses had started their run. If anybody should insist on making a change in a new engine or airplane or combat car after the plant had been tooled and parts were moving up to the assembly line "you'd have to go back again where you started from"—and perhaps sacrifice from nine months to a year of mass output. If the United States is to make mass production methods serve national defense to the full it will be necessary, in Mass Producer Kettering's words, "to decide what we want to make, and then stay put."

The longer we take in deciding what we want to make the longer we shall be getting it made in the volume national safety demands.

Charles F. Kettering says 400 miles on a gallon of gasoline is a possibility. It's going to be an architectural revolution when every fellow carries his filling station in his hip pocket.—Indianapolis News.

VACATION READING LIST.

We see by the papers that Wendell Willkie has done some shopping for books to read on his vacation. Here's one he ought to send for in a hurry:

"Democracy vs. Socialism," by Max Hirsch. Why? Because, according to Albert Jay Nock, writing in the June number of the Atlantic Monthly:

"The merit of Hirsch's work is that it presents the complete case against every known form and shade of state collectivism, from Marxism and Fascism down to the New Deal, leaving not a shred of respectability, or even of plausibility, to the claims of any of them. Out of the mouths of the collectivists themselves it shows that the state does not and cannot administer a collectivist economy without bringing on consequences so calamitous as to end in a complete rebarbarization of society."

This work has had practically no circulation in the United States. Hirsch was an Australian merchant; his book was published in 1888.

If you want to discover what happens when a woman author of tales of crime and detection falls in love with her fictitious hero, read Dorothy L. Sayers' "Gaudy Night" and "Busman's Honeymoon." Dorothy invented a heroine, much like herself, who kept Lord Peter Wimsey in a long proposal fit in the former work, and married him [O, ecstasy!] in the latter. . . . We are now wondering when Agatha Christie will lure doddering old Hercule Poirot to the altar.

Arbela, Zama, Pharsalus, Teutoberg Forest, Adrianople, Chalons, siege of Constantinople, Tours, Hastings, Manzikert [new stuff], Hattin [another novelty], fall of Constantinople, siege of Granada, Lepanto, Breitenfeld and Lützen, Naseby, Schellenberg and Blenheim, Rossbach and Leuthen, Plassey, Quebec, Saratoga, Jena, Leipsic, Chattanooga, Sedan, Port Arthur, the Marne, 1914, Tannenberg, the Dardanelles, Vittorio Veneto, Warsaw, 1920, Spanish civil war campaigns.

MEMORIES OF ENGLAND—II.

(London.)

On this old street bluff Henry often strode,
Replete with color and with mighty dreams.
Elizabeth, in girlish pride, once rode
To royal fame along this way, where teems
Now London's traffic. Here the sea kings walked—
Bold Drake and Hawkins—ere they plowed the grim
Atlantic, seeking gold. There Shakespeare talked
Of his new play that would bring fame to him.
Rough Cromwell hatched his plot against the kings
In this plain house. And in this quaint retreat
Wise Johnson sat and spoke of bookish things
To bards and artists. Wesley stirred this street
To new-found visions of the true and good.
And here young Shelley sang of brotherhood.

There's One in Every Family.

This is the open season for collecting and it's a crazy business. At least that's what my friend O'Toole says.

He decided to spend his vacation at home this year. It would be restful and cheap. He and his wife would take some pleasant jaunts into the country by car.

The weather smiled on them when they started out and he hadn't felt so happy and carefree for ages. Soon the houses of the city were left behind and they were deep in the country. "We must do this often, darling," he said. Suddenly he felt a sharp dig in the ribs. Her elbow. "There's one! Stop, you've passed it!" So he backed to where she pointed and read upon the sign one word: "ANTIQUES." "Won't keep you long," she said, bundling out. So he waited. . . .

She came back at last, happy and triumphant. In one hand she held a much scarred paperweight, and in the other a Currier and Ives print of Noah's Ark, stained appropriately with water. A boy followed with a basketful of china. "Real Rockingham," she said, then added, "Go inside and help bring out the chair." It was a large, unsightly thing heavily carved with fruit and cherubs.

The sun still shone as they drove home and the trees and fields were just as green and rich. But somehow life had lost its savor for O'Toole, and he brooded darkly. Some one once had told him that collecting was a subject for the psychologist.

"Where," he asked wearily at length, "where will you put 'em; there's not an inch of room——" "I know, my dear," she soothingly rejoined, "but they were so ridiculously cheap." Shandy Gaff.

WILD STRAWBERRIES.

Aromatic spirits
Of the sweetness of the dell,
Caught in clustered jewels
By a secret none can tell;
Essence of the morning sun,
Fragrance of the night,
Formed by fairy fancy
Into rubies rare and bright;
Guarded by the oriole,
Tended by the thrush,
Hidden by the shadow-depths
Of brake and fern and rush;
Here's the rich fulfilment
Of the promise Springtime carries—
Brought to full fruition
In the tang of wild strawberries!

A Bad Case of War Worry.

I am doing some really concentrated worrying about the ultimate fate of the Rock of Gibraltar in the brawl that's now going on in the general vicinity of Algiers and points north, south, east, and west. The British will be in a terrible fix if Gibraltar falls, but that's not what is worrying me. What I'm concerned over is this: If Gibraltar falls, what, in the name of a blue-eyed monkey, will happen to a certain American life insurance company? I'm telling you, boss, it's got me worried! STOPPING INFECTIONS WITH X-RAYS.

ROENTGEN'S discovery of the X-ray inaugurated a new era in medicine. But the developments since his time have been far reaching. Not only is this potent force employed in disclosing how and where bones have been broken but—with its aid—we can detect disease within the chest, the digestive tract, the gall bladder, the brain, and the kidneys.

Recently attention has been directed to the value of radiation in fighting acute infections. We have learned that by means of small doses—properly filtered and controled—we can allay inflammation by stimulating the powers of repair. Large doses, on the other hand, destroy cells and stop their functions. One of the most salutary effects is upon the white blood cells which gather in the presence of inflammation. They are broken down and their ferments are liberated—thus speeding up the annihilation of bacteria.

But we must not think of the process as a cure-all. It cannot restore dead tissues to life. Neither can it detect every form of illness. It has been most helpful, however, in those cases of boils upon which vaccines and other methods of treatment have had little influence.

Not long ago a patient came to my attention who had been suffering from crop after crop. Starting on the back of the neck, they spread to the face [a dangerous region] and thence to the armpits, the groin, and the buttocks. No sooner would one heal than another would break out. Mild treatments changed this picture abruptly. New lesions were on the run within 24 hours while the older ones began to dry up.

Sometimes glands will enlarge. As most of us have observed, the parotid [one of the depots producing saliva] may swell following a surgical procedure. As this may be a serious complication, real assistance is afforded by radiation. A 35 year old patient exhibited this complication subsequent to an abdominal operation. He was exceedingly ill, unable to to take nourishment, and the gland began to increase in size. Here again the X-rays were employed with complete success.

Youngsters will occasionally develop glandular enlargements in the neck frequently as an aftermath of tonsillitis. While these small tumors may be tuberculous—even in such circumstances, prompt applications may cause a recession of the growths with a deposit of fibrous tissue. We may then rest assured that at least one source of trouble has been eliminated.

In mastoid disease, we may be able to prevent the necessity for surgery. With light doses pain may be relieved and—in keeping with recovery—the temperature may drop to normal and the discharge of pus thru the ruptured eardrum disappear usually within two weeks thereafter. Several exposures may be required to bring about cessation of bacterial activity within the mastoid bone.

Naturally, careful experts are not claiming too much and the suggestion that pneumonia will yield to this type of therapy has been received with some shaking of heads. Apparently, however, it does some good. But since the advent of sulfapyridine further investigation along this line has not been pursued.

Erysipelas, on the other hand, is influenced particularly if the remedy can be arranged for early in the course of the malady—that is, before too large an area of the skin has become affected. Numerous instances have been reported in which within 24 hours both temperature and swelling have abated with a quick convalescence. Extensive involvement of the surface of the body, however, may not respond to the plan.

Naturally the time to apply X-ray is immediately upon the appearance of symptoms. Most of our hospitals are well equipped to handle these acute infections and—even tho pus has formed—it may be well to arrange for treatment before surgical drainage of the abscess is attempted.

LIQUOR HABIT.

M. K. writes: Is there any kind of medicine that can be taken to stop the craving for liquor?

REPLY.

The solution of this problem requires psychotherapy and possibly the assistance of certain drugs. There is no specific remedy, however—not even gold. A generous dose of will power and determination is the first requisite.

THE WRONG MAN.

So many folks have married Smiths that we felt perfectly safe in including Pocahontas [July 6]. But we were wrong—terribly wrong. This Indian maiden was wed to John Rolfe. At any rate, she should have married Capt. Smith because she saved his life—the end of every perfect romance. Sackcloth and ashes are being worn for two weeks in punishment.

GRAPE JUICE.

Mrs. G. L. writes Is grape juice good for children?

REPLY.

NOT FRUIT JUICES.

J. C. writes: I have been troubled with sore feet for about 2 years. I drink a lot of fruit juice. Do you think that would be the cause? I don't drink any liquor or beer.

REPLY.

No. Look to the arches [logitudinal and metatarsal] and pressure points as indicated by calluses. More attention to the fit of your footwear may be helpful.

PRUNE JUICE.

M. F. writes: Is a glass of prune juice daily harmful as a remedy for constipation?

REPLY.

CIGARETS FOR BOYS AT HINES.

Oak Park, Ill., July 8.—Referring to "A Veteran at Hines" letter, I was a little ashamed to think we Americans, who are so eager to help every one else these days, have forgotten the boys who did so much for us.

I have checked and find that each post of the American Legion takes care of its own boys at Hines. However, some posts are too small to carry out work as far as a "cigaret fund" is concerned, and for that reason their boys have to depend on contributions and a surplus from other posts.

I don't believe it would be a hardship for many of us women to get together, say in groups of five, each woman contributing 30 cents a week, totaling $6 a month, and sending one particular vet, direct, a carton of his favorite brand each week.

The American Legion in your community can, undoubtedly, furnish you with a name, or names, of these chaps who at present are not receiving any cigarets. If an individual can afford to contribute more, start other groups.

WARNS OF CERMAK GROVE.

Chicago, July 7.—This being a lovely Sunday our family left in a truck and two cars to spend the day in the forest preserve. We selected Cermak grove, as the closest to our homes.

After spending a pleasant day there, along with several hundred other picnickers, we prepared to leave for home, only to discover that the front right tires on our vehicles had been deflated. Upon inquiry we were told that the other cars parked along the roadway had met with similar fate.

Fifteen cars altogether had been damaged in this way. We had unwittingly parked on a driveway on which were several homes, altho this was the only available place left. Undoubtedly, we were not welcome, but we didn't deserve such treatment, I'm sure.

It was not at all funny to watch those 15 jacks lifting up the front ends of the cars, and tires being replaced, or repaired; yet the people residing in the houses along this road sat on their porches taking delight in the trouble the men were having with their cars.

I shall appreciate your printing this item so that people intending to go to Cermak grove may not meet with a like fate. I. G. F.

AGREEMENT TO PURCHASE.

Gary, Ind., July 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Recently a saleswoman called on me to purchase books; finally said I would buy same after almost being talked into it.

1. I was not told to read all of contract before I signed, most of it being filled in before I was asked to sign. I signed, but my husband did not. I can't remember if I signed his name. After thinking it over that evening I realized I could not afford them and canceled. I have received threatening letters thru mail to the effect that if payment is not made on certain date they would try to collect full amount from my husband's place of employment.

2. Can they do that? W. R.

1. The law presumes that a person able to read has read and understood a contract that he signs.

2. Clearly yes, if he signs. If he did not sign, but the books are received so as to constitute a family expense then he would be liable on that basis. If the books are not accepted and the only basis of liability is the signature of the wife then in our opinion the husband would not be liable.

QUESTIONS FOR PARK BOARD.

So far there seems to have been some reason, obscure as it may be, for each of the odd doings thus far associated with the upheaval of Lincoln park—but we have tried for a week to find some reason why it was necessary to close Ballfield drive's connection to Dearborn street, thus transferring all its traffic to the overburdened Ridge drive connection to Stockton drive and La Salle street, with the result that traffic on this narrow path now backs up for several hundred yards awaiting the traffic officer's whistle on Stockton drive. What is the reason?

Incidentally, since traffic on the outer drive south of Grace street is heavy enough, in some one's estimation, to warrant the use of two pavements, why not allow rush hour traffic to use both pavements from Foster avenue south? The traffic in the opposite directions is negligible, and Marine drive could be reserved for its use. As it is now, rush traffic is often jammed for blocks north of Irving Park road simply because of a flat tire or any slight deviation from normal. Take a ride along here some morning about 8:30.

One thing more—it seems silly to have rush hour traffic control apply until 7:10 p. m., by far the longest time should be 7:00, for even at 6:45 the northbound traffic has dwindled to a one pavement load. LADY DRIVER.

NO EXPERIENCE; NO JOB.

Chicago, July 5.—I graduated from high school in 1933. Jobs then were scarce, so I had to grab anything that came along. I found one with no trade value and no assurance for the future.

I stuck to this job and decided to work for a mechanical engineer's degree in an evening college. I was advised by a vocational adviser that I should major in refrigeration and air conditioning, as there was a good future in this field. This year I completed my refrigeration and air conditioning course, so I decided to try and break into the field. The results are disheartening. Every place I go they ask:

"How much practical experience have you had?"

The advice I'm seeking is, where can I get this experience if the employers will not give me a chance, and what good is an education if the employers will not recognize it? All I, as well as many more in my situation, ask for, is a chance to make good. W. K.

THE PROGENY WILL REMEMBER.

Chicago, July 8.—Beyond question the progeny of the present proletarians will long remember the Great Experimenter's monumental ego without any reference to the $250,000 self-perpetuating library on his estate, a gift from mamma. I assume many of the records of his historic broad "A" utterances will be annotated "F. D. R." [per Tommy, the Cork].

SHILLELAH.

FROM A CHESS DEVOTEE.

Melrose Park, Ill., July 8.—Just why is it that none of Chicago's newspapers has a daily article on chess? New York and other American cities think it important enough to include a daily feature, yet this, the second largest metropolis in the United States seems to be barren of chess devotees!

A game that has endured wars and the rise and fall of nations! A game whose greatest asset is that it is not a fad—but eternally popular because of its interest and the absence of luck in any outcome.

Presumably, the greatest barriers have been its supposed difficult moves, plus the ill conceived fable that every chess game takes from a day to a week to finish. Actually the moves are comparatively simple to learn, the game is as difficult as one cares to make it, and the game Rapid Transit is rapidly gaining foothold against the marathons that have perhaps helped to bring the game into its present disfavor.

There is space for the daily crossword puzzle 87% of your readers don't work, and space for the bridge problem 50% don't read—why not space for the chess lesson that might quite conceivably be read by 99% of your readers. It will be a feature that will interest the child as well as the adult.

This is a call to arms, ye followers of Caissus! Long neglected, now may ye rise in revolt for what is yours! Here is the move for a Ruy Lopez or a Reinfeld.

CARL A. PIERSON.

A CANADIAN OBSERVES.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 5.—In my visit thru the states recently I noticed various reactions of people and newspapers toward the war.

The average Canadian respects the sentiments of his southern neighbor. But he realizes this: That the moneyed class cares little about the flag flying over his head so long as he can plunge the common people in debt. Witness Thyssen, Petain, Chamberlain, Daladier. Out of the chaos will come only one thing—a raid on the gold reserves at Fort Knox. So arm and prepare. Forget party strife.

Hitler is balked in the Ukraine. Japan has wheat growing Manchuria. So all that is left for the paperhanger with the Chaplin mustache is the wheat fields of Canada and the asphalt beds of Trinidad.

VITAL DOMESTIC ISSUES.

Chicago, July 8.—In addition to all your reports concerning war hysteria and problems of preparedness, would it not be well to devote more space than you now do to discussions or reports of what congress is doing concerning necessary domestic legislation such as the Hatch bill, amendments to the national labor relations act and the bill which grants a court review of administrative board decisions?

Such advice, outlining the actions of our present congressmen in these matters, might provide pertinent information in anticipation of the November elections.

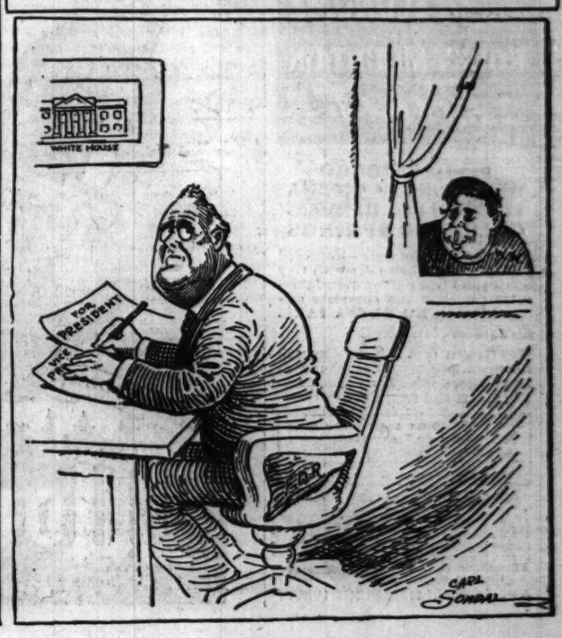
"I FEEL A DRAFT"



WILLKIE CALLS IN G. O. P.'S LEADERS TO SHAPE POLICY

Settles Down in Colorado for Series of Parleys.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 10.—Colorado Springs and vicinity promises to be the center during the next two weeks of important conferences which will shape the Republican campaign policy on the all-important question of defense and America's attitude toward foreign countries.

While the Republican platform did this in a broad way, Wendell L. Willkie, G. O. P. presidential nominee, who settled down here today for a two or three weeks' stay, will interpret that platform in his own way and in the light of events that are rapidly reshaping the history of Europe and of the world.

Willkie announced today that beginning next week he will hold conferences here or in a nearby resort with Republican leaders of the nation, men and women who hold divergent views on what policy should be adopted, but who do not agree with the policies of the present administration in part or in whole.

Gov. Strassen Invited.

Among those invited to Colorado Springs are George Wharton Pepper, former United States senator from Pennsylvania; William Allen White, Kansas editor who has led an interventionist movement, and Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota. Mrs. Ruth Hanna Simms, co-chairman of the campaign committee for Thomas E. Dewey, has been invited to come here tomorrow from her ranch in New Mexico. Other nationally known persons will be asked later, Willkie said.

These conferences will lead the nominee directly into the task of writing his acceptance speech, which will be delivered in Elwood, Ind., around Aug. 1. He will start writing that speech himself in the latter part of his stay here.

"The only way I know of arriving at a decision is to sit down first with people of different views," he said.

Considers Campaign Plans.

What finally emerges from the conferences, however, will be a Willkie solution. It will be moulded in part by what happens in the Democratic convention and by what happens in the battle of England or in the Pacific.

Willkie expects President Roosevelt to be renominated and has worked out roughly the kind of a campaign which he would like to make in that event. He would prefer to challenge the New Deal and its works thru the person of the President. He intends to take in the whole country in his campaign, including the solid south.

Mr. and Mrs. Willkie sunned themselves today in the foothills of the Rocky mountains, in a lakeside spot, amid pines and shrubbery, wide views and intimate gardens, in a peace and quiet which they have not known for weeks. They were content to relax.

Willkie had luncheon with Gov. Ralph L. Carr of Colorado, Charles R. Enos, Republican national committeeman; two Denver organizers of the Willkie for President club of the state, Tom F. Baley and William Montgomery, and others. In the evening he had a few guests for dinner.

The nominee will rest tomorrow, attending a chuck wagon dinner in the evening at the Will Rogers Rodeo stadium which is on the grounds of the Broadmoor hotel, where the Willkies have the fragrant Hawaiian suite. The Colorado Springs Cowhands association has arranged this dinner, which will be a steak fry in the manner of the ranges.

On Friday Willkie will go to Denver to attend a luncheon of the Republican state central committee. He has said he would make no speeches, but probably will. He is to enter Denver on Broadway and stop at the state house steps to meet Gov. Carr.

Greeting Crowd Expected.

This sounds like an innocent affair, but there are rumors that a crowd is to gather there to meet the nominee, who is already popular in Colorado, and that he will say "hello" to them. The campaign is on, whether the candidate intends it or not.

Returning to Colorado Springs on Friday night, Willkie will remain here until Sunday, then motor over the mountains to Gunnison, on the famous fishing river of that name, for a big fish fry to be given by the Sportmen's club. No further plans have been made for him except that he probably will attend the Cheyenne, Wyo., rodeo on its big day, July 23.

Gov. Carr told the nominee that he was sure to carry Colorado and that the Republican trend was strong in this part of the country. The governor has traveled recently in Arizona, New Mexico, Wyoming, Texas, and Colorado. The trend is the same everywhere, he reported, a Republican and a Willkie trend.

BROWDER RAKES BILL TO REGISTER FOREIGN TIEUPS

Washington D. C., July 10 (AP).—Earl Browder, communist party secretary, told a senate judiciary subcommittee today that enactment of pending legislation to require the registration of foreign controled or directed organizations would be a victory for Nazi political principles.

The house-approved bill would "hamstring the democratic processes," Browder complained, adding that no political party or labor union could meet all of the stringent requirements of the measure.

In general, the bill would require organizations with affiliations outside the United States to furnish detailed information on personnel and activities to the attorney general.

Browder, communist candidate for President, said he believed the bill would circumscribe somewhat the activities of the German-American bund and the communist party.

Browder is at liberty on bond pending appeal to the Supreme court of his four year prison sentence for passport fraud.

NEGRO DEMOCRAT CONVENTION WILL OPEN TOMORROW

The twelfth quadrennial convention of the National Colored Democratic association, held every four years close to the date of the Democratic national convention, will meet in the Eighth regiment armory, 35th street and Giles avenue, tomorrow morning and will continue thru Sunday.

Organized in 1892 in Missouri with a membership of five men, the association now claims to have hundreds of chartered clubs in every state. Each club sends two delegates and two alternates to the quadrennial conventions.

The program lists Mayor Kelly for an address of welcome tomorrow morning. The platform is scheduled to be adopted Saturday, and on Sunday leading national convention figures are slated to address the colored delegates. They include James A. Farley, national chairman; Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, the keynoter, and Senator Joseph F. Guffey of Pennsylvania.

HOSPITAL PATIENT KILLED BY TRAIN.

John Klincsak, 72 years old, a patient who fled from the Chicago State hospital on Tuesday, was killed yesterday by a North Western suburban train near Elston and Wabansia avenues. Klincsak entered the hospital April 1.

CHURCH LEADERS TO PROTEST BILL ON CONSCRIPTION

Methodists Say Measure Is Un-American.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Representatives of the newly united Methodist church and that denomination's youth movement will appear before a congressional committee in Washington, D. C., today to protest formally the Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill, which would require the registration of all males between the ages of 18 and 65. This was announced yesterday by the Rev. Dr. Charles F. Boss Jr., head of Methodism's commission on world peace, 740 Rush street.

Dr. Boss said that the church's youth, most directly affected by the proposed bill, will be represented before the committee by John Swomley, a member of the church's national youth council. The church's peace commission also will be represented.

Send Protest to Senator.

Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of Boston, Mass.; Bishop Paul B. Kern of Nashville, Tenn., and other peace commission leaders yesterday sent a protest by telegraph to Senator Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.] of the military affairs committee. The telegram stated:

"We wish to register strongest possible opposition to the passage of the conscription bill. It is un-American and an undemocratic proposal, springing like a mushroom from swamps of unjustifiably hysterical fear. It constitutes a weak, unintelligent proposal to take up slack in unemployment, and by its folly is doomed to defeat real democracy and tends to prepare the way for war.

Called "Insidious Infection."

"It is an insidious infection of the free life of a democratic people and apes totalitarian conscription from which thousands of our citizens fled in coming to liberty loving America.

"Is congress willing to surrender American conception of dignity and rights of free individuals consistent in a democracy with social obligation to the state? If so, it would constitute a resort to the Nazi and Fascist forms which have brought totalitarian Europe to its present tragedy."

ALD. GILLESPIE MENTIONED FOR O'BRIEN'S POST

Gov. Horner is expected to appoint a successor within a day or two to the late Martin J. O'Brien, public administrator of Cook county, who died Saturday after a boating accident in Wisconsin.

The name of Ald. Joseph S. Gillespie [29th] long time political lieutenant of O'Brien, was the only one mentioned for the post last night, but legal difficulties were being raised to his appointment. A state law prohibits members of the city council from holding state or federal office. Expert opinions on the point are expected to be sought today.

Gillespie has been aiding O'Brien in the administration of about 500 estates in the process of being settled by the administrator's office. Thus he has the advantage of familiarity with the work. Should he be appointed, reports were that it would be with the understanding he would resign at the end of the year. Then, in the event of the election of Harry B. Hershey, Democratic nominee for governor, Hershey could name his own appointee to the post.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

by HOMER CROISZ

Berry Surplus Produced.

July 10, 1940.

THE berry plantation at the Du Page county farm is to be cut down next fall to about half its present size, and the surplus plants will be for sale.

Started in the spring of 1936, the plantation came into full bearing last year, producing more berries than the farm families could use. There is a surplus again this year. The original plantings included 16 varieties of strawberries, 8 of raspberries, 4 of currants, 3 of blackberries, 2 of gooseberries, and one variety each of youngberry and dewberry. Each variety is in a separate row, and the rows are 210 feet long. The manager thinks rows 100 feet long would produce plenty of berries for the farm.

Extra Plants to Be Sold.

The present plan is to sell the surplus plants in late September or early October. If the weather should be too dry at that time for transplanting, the plants will be left where they are, mulched to protect them during the winter, and then dug next spring. Gooseberries and currants should be set in the fall when possible. Red raspberries and blackberries may be set either in fall or spring. Many gardeners prefer to set strawberries and black and purple raspberries in the spring.

Arrangements have been made with the division of plant industry of the state department of agriculture to inspect the plants to see that they are free from disease before any are sold. The inspection service is free and is required by law.

Since the berry plants started bearing three years ago the farm families have been choosing their favorites among the various kinds and varieties. They are in complete agreement on the best variety of raspberry. It is a yellow variety known as Golden Queen. The berries have a delightful flavor and are equally tempting when eaten fresh, just as they are picked, or with sugar and cream for dessert.

Alfred Blackberry Thrives.

St. Regis, Latham, and Chief are considered the best of the red raspberries, while the New Logan and Pearl are the favorite black varieties. The Alfred is a promising variety of blackberry. It bears over a long period and has large fruit of good flavor and keeping quality. The plants seem hardier than those of the other varieties of blackberries.

The youngberries are the largest and most attractive of all the bramble berries in the plantation, and the purple fruit has a fine flavor.

Included in the plantation are six varieties of grapes. Last year there were fresh fruits and berries almost continuously from the time the first strawberries were ripe early in June until the last of the grapes were gone about the middle of September. More than 1,000 quarts of strawberries have been picked this summer. There are only a few left. Raspberries and currants are being picked now.

G. O. P. NOMINEES CARRY BANNER TO 62 COUNTY FAIRS

Arrange Heavy Speaking Schedules Thru State.

While the Democrats are overhauling their big drums for their national convention here next week, the Republicans of Illinois have already begun to play the main summer circuit of the political show business—the county fairs.

Ben L. Berve.

Ben L. Berve, G. O. P. state chairman, said yesterday that 62 of the county fairs which represent the greatest farmer audience have been booked to hear Republican headliners. This is about 100 per cent more than in any previous year, he said.

Gets List of Fairs.

Berve's new office staff early obtained a list of the dates of all county fairs, then wrote letters to county G. O. P. chairmen urging them to arrange a Republican day at each fair. At these gatherings of from 300 to 3,000 persons many rural voters will have their best chance to meet the candidates.

Homecoming celebrations in dozens of cities and towns not having county fairs present the Republicans with another opportunity which is being utilized to the fullest extent, Berve said.

This summer circuit will continue until Labor day, when emphasis of the state organization will shift to caravans of candidates traveling to purely political meetings.

Hard Schedule for Nominees.

With a troupe of relatively young ticket leaders, the Illinois G. O. P. is handing out heavy speaking assignments to spread the Republican gospel to every corner of the state, Berve said.

Yesterday the Washington county fair had as speakers Hugh Cross, candidate for lieutenant governor; Justus Johnson, nominee for secretary of state, and George F. Barrett, running for attorney general. These three will be joined today by Dwight H. Green, nominee for governor, at the Jersey county fair in Jerseyville.

Green and Wayland Brooks, the candidate for United States senator, are the speakers requested most often at county fairs. Green's schedule calls for at least one speech almost every day in July and August.

Green to Use Plane.

On July 26 Green will use a plane in order to speak at the Pope county fair in Golconda at 2 p. m. and at the Christian county fair in Taylorville, about 200 miles away, at 45 p. m. Green was a world war aviator, but a young Republican who has had more recent flying practice will pilot the ship.

All candidates except Brooks, who is vacationing, will attend the biennial state convention of the Young Republican organization of Illinois at Decatur tomorrow, Saturday, and Sunday. Delegates will hear addresses by Green, Berve, Werner Schroeder, newly elected national committeeman for Illinois; Al Borah, state director of Young Republican activities, and James M. Tucker, secretary of state of Indiana.

Election of officers Sunday will find four principal rivals for presidency of the junior group: Timothy Swain, 32 years old, Peoria attorney; Robert Myers, 33, Aurora business executive; Don Buckley, 33, Belleville attorney, and James Capel, 32, of Champaign, also a lawyer.

Predicts G.O.P. Victory.

National Committeeman Schroeder predicted a Republican victory this fall in a speech before precinct captains and other Republican workers last night in the Georgian hotel, Evanston.

Three men are in the race for junior national committeeman. They are Charles Fleck, attorney and 45th ward committeeman; Philip Mitchell, a leader in the 20th ward, and Clarence Willard, present president of the Young Republicans.

Tonight there will be a harmony dinner sponsored by the Hamilton club in the La Salle hotel, with Rich-J. Lyons, rival of Brooks in the April primary, as toastmaster.

CLEVELAND GETS BUSY ON PLAN OF SUPERHIGHWAYS

$4,500,000 Voted to Buy Right of Way.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., June 10.—This city of 940,000 population, less than a third of the size of Chicago, has embarked upon a plan to construct 42 miles of superhighways estimated to cost $67,000,000. To purchase right of way for the initial 13 miles, the electorate of Cuyahoga county voted three to two last month to issue $4,500,000 worth of bonds to be retired by general taxes.

"It is the first tax money to be voted for roads in the 10 years I have been in this office," John O. McWilliams, Cuyahoga county engineer, author of the comprehensive plan, said today.

County Buys Right of Way.

With the county's purchase of rights of way with its $4,500,000 of bonds, McWilliams said the Ohio highway department was pledged to spend $10,000,000 of state and federal road money, 50-50, for the construction of the first 13 miles of this system.

"In approving this bond issue," McWilliams continued, "the public had a small sample of the convenience and safety of superhighway designs, the 6,200 feet of the new Main avenue [lake front] bridge now in service over the Cuyahoga river in downtown Cleveland. Another 1,800 feet continuation of this $6,100,000 span is under construction.

"When the first 13 miles of these superhighways are completed, in three or four years, the public will have a large sample of the convenience and safety of modern pavement designs. The public will insist upon a prompt construction of the remaining 29 miles in our comprehensive plan, estimated to cost an additional $52,500,000."

Similar to Chicago Problem.

Cleveland fronts on Lake Erie as Chicago fronts on Lake Michigan. The water here is to the north rather than to the east. As in Chicago, the directions of the main flows of travel radiate from the downtown area on the lake front like the spokes of about half a wheel.

A geographical difference is that Cleveland contours are wrinkled by ravines whereas Chicago is flat. Here the railroads to a large extent followed or bordered these natural barriers to cross traffic. The superhighway routes likewise will take advantage of this geographic peculiarity. In Chicago, railroads were elevated on embankments to obtain grade separations. These man made barriers have become logical locations for superhighways.

The initial 13 miles consists of six projects, distributed about the county on the outskirts of the metropolitan area for political expedience in passing a county wide bond issue. From a traffic standpoint, without consideration of politics, engineers recognize as the most urgent need a rectangle of superhighways boxing the downtown district. This rectangle, to assemble and to distribute travel at main points of origin and destination, is in the future construction portion of the plan.

Projects About Railroad.

Two of the six immediate projects are on extensions east and west of Cleveland's equivalent of Chicago's outer drive. Each of these extensions, however, will abut a railroad not far from the lake front. On the south side, the section away from the lake front, are three of these immediate projects. Due east of downtown, away from the lake, is the sixth location for "freeway" construction, as the superhighways are called here.

Unveil Safety Shield

A large bronze shield bearing a safety message was unveiled last night on the safety island marking the intersection of 47th street and Dorchester and Lake Park avenues. The shield was sponsored by the Kenwood-Hyde Park post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars to commemorate the opening of newly widened 47th street from Cottage Grove to Lake Park avenues. George Fleming, general secretary of Mayor Kelly's Keep Chicago Safe committee, presided.

DOCTOR STRUCK BY CAR SUFFERS FRACTURED LEG

Dr. George F. Bracken, 62 years old, was taken to St. George's hospital yesterday after he was struck by an automobile in front of 5516 South Ashland avenue. His right leg was fractured. The driver was John Stevenson, 6521 South Paulina street. Dr. Bracken, a staff physician at St. George's hospital, lives at 7658 South Sangamon street.

John Shepard, colored, 52, of 6349 Eberhart avenue, was crushed to death under the wheels of a truck at 63d and State streets. Witnesses said he fell backward from the curb as the truck passed. The truck driver was Norman Wehner, 3018 South Haynes court.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 439 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 331 were killed in Chicago, where 11,718 were injured in traffic accidents during the same period.

Gym Trunks in Demand as Wrens Feather Their Nest

Lake Hopatcong, N. J., July 10 (AP).—Paul Grover will have to buy a new pair of gym trunks. A pair of wrens built a nest in the red ones he hung on a clothesline in the backyard.

JUDGE IMPOSES FINES IN TILE MONOPOLY CASE

Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe imposed fines and sentences yesterday against 41 individuals and organizations charged with monopolistic practices in the tile industry. All the defendants had entered pleas of nolo contendere [in effect a plea of guilty] on June 17.

Four manufacturing concerns and two individuals, the only defendants who did not sign consent decrees, were fined $1,000 each. They are the United States Quarry Tile company, Parkersburg, W. Va.; Sparta Ceramic company, East Sparta, O.; Cambridge Tile Manufacturing company, Cincinnati, O.; the American-Franklin-Olean Tiles, Inc., Lansdale, Pa.; R. C. Faulwetter, an official of the United States Quarry Tile concern, and Joseph A. D'Eath, sales representative of the American-Franklin-Olean company. The recommendations were made by Daniel Britt, special assistant to the attorney general.

Suspended fines of $1,000 and a year's probation were imposed on the Chicago Mantel and Tile Contractors' association and its president, Harry B. Carter, and the Ceramic, Mosaic, and Encaustic Tile Layers' union and its secretary, Robert E. Shephard. Similar sentences were imposed on 10 tile manufacturers. The remaining 21 defendants, contractors, and union officials each received suspended fines of $1 each and were placed on probation for one year. All had signed consent decrees.

Reconstruction of County Building Basement Begun

Reconstruction of the basement floor in the county building was begun yesterday by the W. E. O'Neil Construction company. The county board recently approved an appropriation of $21,885 for the job after it was found the floor had sunk as much as eight inches in some places.

Elementary, My Dear Watson!*

"SHE'S obviously a woman of comfortable income, my dear Watson! . . . Note the excellent quality of her gloves and hat. And from the looks of it, that pocketbook would seem to be well filled!

"She has a family, of course. Two children. You observe there are three tickets for the matinee of the children's concert. . . . Does quite a lot of buying every day, too, from the nature of those itemized receipts. . . . A thoroughly efficient woman!

"Also an intelligent woman . . . well informed. You note, of course, that she reads first-class books, and The New York Times! . . . All in all, I see her as uncommonly attractive; an excellent business executive. . . . Yes, 'business,' my dear Watson. Her family and her home are her business."

• • •

In fact, Mr. Sherlock Holmes might easily deduce that she is a typical woman reader of The New York Times.

This means that she belongs to the Profit-Half of the New York market. (The upper income half.) And research by the Government and by The Times proves that women of the Profit-Half of New York buy from 60% to 70% of nearly all classes of advertised merchandise sold in the entire city.

There are 221,840 such Profit-Half women in the New York market who begin each week-day with The Times . . . as many housewives as there are in the entire city of Cleveland!

And there are 414,180 such women in the New York market who begin each week with The Sunday Times . . . as many housewives as there are in the city of Philadelphia!

What should an advertiser do, then, to reach the women who do the buying for the Profit-Half today?

Elementary, my dear Watson! Advertise in The New York Times!

414,180 housewives in the Profit-Half of the New York market read The New York Times on Sunday . . . 221,840 on week-days

• • •

They are the result of weeks of work on the part of an independent research organization, the Houser Associates, who sent interviewers out into the Profit-Half neighborhoods of New York City and suburbs.

There they stopped 50,194 women shoppers coming out of stores, and asked them what newspapers they had read in the past 24 hours.

It was this survey that provided the vital facts about the preference of the Profit-Half women for The New York Times.

We invite the inquiry of advertisers and advertising agencies concerning the findings of this investigation.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

TOM BROWN'S SCHOOL DAYS ON W-G-N TONIGHT

Freddie Bartholomew, Hardwicke Stars.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Freddie Bartholomew, young English film actor, and Sir Cedric Hardwicke, British character actor, started rehearsing yesterday for the radio première of "Tom Brown's School Days," which is to be presented on the second broadcast of In Chicago Tonight over W-G-N and Mutual from 9:30 to 10 p. m. tonight.

The radio show is an adaptation of the memorable story of Rugby, the English public school. The story has been filmed by R-K-O with these two as the headliners. The radio presentation is being made with the cooperation of R-K-O studios.

Arrive by Plane.

Hardwicke and Freddie flew in from New York and Hollywood, respectively, by T. W. A. liners. With Freddie came his Aunt Myllicent Bartholomew. It was the first long airplane journey for each and they enjoyed it.

The "Tom Brown" appearance will be the first network broadcast for both actors from Chicago.

Hardwicke is anxiously awaiting word as to the safety of his wife and young son, Edward, who is 8 years old. He suspects that they now are on the high seas en route to the United States or Canada.

After the broadcast Hardwicke will return to Hollywood to make a picture which proceeds are to go to the British and American Red Cross.

Freddie is enjoying this trip as a vacation. He likes radio. He's a swing enthusiast. While here he hopes to hear Glenn Miller's band. He also enjoys most outdoor sports.

Portrays Rôle of Headmaster.

In tonight's production Hardwicke will portray the rôle of Dr. Matthew Arnold, beloved headmaster of Rugby; Freddie will play the part of East, friend of Tom Brown, to be portrayed by Donald Kraatz. They will be supported by a cast of outstanding Chicago actors.

William A. Bacher, director of programs and productions at W-G-N, will produce the show. The adaptation is by Francis Coughlin. The musical score of the picture has been lent to W-G-N by R-K-O and has been adapted for presentation by the W-G-N orchestra directed by Henry Weber.

STROKE OF PEN ENDS BREWERS' MARITAL WOES

Mrs. Eunice Essig Brach Brewer was granted a divorce yesterday from Robert C. Brewer, formerly a marine engineer, by Judge Charles A. Williams. The ground was desertion.

At the hearing Brewer dropped a suit for an injunction to prevent Mrs. Brewer from barring him from her home at 175 Sheridan road, Winnetka. He also withdrew her name as a defendant in a $50,000 damage suit he had filed, alleging false arrest. In this last suit, four Winnetka officials, Chief of Police W. M. Peterson, Police Lieutenant Glen Boyd, Prosecutor Richard Fisher, and Police Magistrate Albert Klein still are defendants. The arrest grew out of an attempt by Brewer to enter the Winnetka home.

Mrs. Brewer, who was divorced from Frank Brach, candy manufacturer, in 1931, met Brewer on a Caribbean cruise. She testified briefly yesterday that he deserted her Dec. 1, 1937, after they had been married only about six months.

197 JOIN ARMY IN 'A DAY; SET AREA RECORD

Lieut. Gen. Stanley H. Ford, commanding the 6th corps area and the 2d army, yesterday said that a new peace time record for enlistments in Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin was set on Tuesday, when 197 young men enlisted. The previous record was 133 on July 2.

The major reason now given by young men for enlisting is security—a full time job with chance for advancement—Gen. Ford said. He added that the rapid momentum of the current recruiting campaign has not allowed any letdown in qualifications for applicants.

"Instead," the general said, "the expanded army provides more openings for men of higher type and intellect than was possible before the day of mechanization and motorization. Much of the success of the recruiting drive results from coöperation from newspapers, radio stations, and other civilian groups."

MILK DRIVERS MEET TODAY ON WAGE PROPOSAL

Members of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union will meet at 5 p. m. today in Carmen's hall, Van Buren and Ashland avenues, to vote on a proposition to end their wage differences with their employers. Details of the new proposal by the milk dealers were not made public yesterday but are believed to be more favorable to the employés than previous offers.

When the second milk strike ended May 27 the dealers asked the drivers to accept a base wage of $30 a week with commissions on gross collections exceeding $100 a week. The drivers have been receiving their old base pay of $48 a week, however, with the understanding they will refund the difference if they ultimately lose their negotiation fight.

Three arbitrators are scheduled to meet next Monday if other negotiations do not succeed. The three are Paul Potter, secretary of the Associated Milk Dealers; Thomas Haggerty, secretary treasurer of the drivers' union, and Msgr. Dennis J. Dunne, pastor of Holy Cross church. Msgr. Dunne's decision will be binding if the other representatives cannot agree.

File U. S. Tax Lien Against Novelist Rafael Sabatini

New York, July 10 [Special].—Rafael Sabatini, the novelist, was named in a U. S. tax lien filed today in federal court here by James Hoey, collector of internal revenue. 3 CIVIC GROUPS INDORSE TRANSIT MERGER PLANS

Representatives of three civic associations indorsed Chicago's proposed unified traction ordinance yesterday at the first public hearing on the ordinance in the city council chambers. The hearing was conducted by the council's local transportation committee.

The three organizations are the South Side Business Men's association, the Ravenswood Improvement association, and the South State Street Improvement association. The ordinance was opposed, however, by Riley A. Bender, president of the West Lawn Improvement association.

Bender asserted that the city should require in the ordinance a universal 8 cent fare on street car, bus, and elevated lines, with free transfer privileges. Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], a member of the transportation committee, said he favored such a universal fare.

Another public hearing will be held tomorrow.

SHE GOES PLACES —ALL WRONG—ON HER FIRST DRIVE

Kansas City, Mo., July 10—(AP)—Mrs. Meta Austin went places today the first time she took the wheel of a car—but they were the wrong places.

With her 23 year old daughter, Christine, along to give advice, she intended to back out of the family driveway. Instead she went forward and . . .

Tore off a corner of another neighbor's home.

Sped across Jackson-av., jumped the curb and halted.

When triplets have a birthday, what is the rule governing the number of candles on the cake, or, for that matter, the number of cakes? That was the delicate problem that confronted the Jerry Hartley family of 5702 South Halsted street yesterday.

The Hartleys, with the hearty approval of Betty, Beverly, and Billy, the triplets who celebrated their second birthday, decided on two cakes —one for the triplets and one for the family and guests. The triplets' cake was chocolate with white frosting. There were six candles—two for each child. Betty, Beverly, and Billy demonstrated their approval by singing "London Bridge Is Falling Down."

The Hartley triplets were born in the Chicago Lying In hospital.

Baby Found Strangled; Young Mother Is Held

Miss Bernice Cachra, 19 years old, 4527 South Sacramento avenue, was questioned by Coroner A. L. Brodie yesterday after the body of her two day old daughter was found in the rear of 4542 South Sacramento avenue. Dr. Jerry Kearns, coroner's physician, said the infant appeared to have been strangled. According to Brodie, Miss Cachra admitted placing the infant outside but denied injuring it. She was held for the inquest this afternoon.

BECOMES CHIEF OF G. A. R. AS ONE BUDDY LOOKS ON

Washington, Pa., July 10 (AP).—A. T. Anderson, who enlisted in the Union army at the age of 17, headed the rapidly thinning Grand Army of the Republic today as commander-in-chief, after one of the most unusual installation ceremonies in the organization's 74 years' existence.

With his right hand raised and his left resting upon the Bible, the 94 year old veteran took the oath of office yesterday on the front porch of his friend, George Harshman, the only other member of the G. A. R. present.

OVERCOME BY GAS FUMES.

James Carnahan, 47 years old, was overcome by sulphur dioxide gas yesterday while dismantling pipes in the basement of his home at 1618 West 32d place. He was taken to county hospital.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

ANY MINUTE NOW

it may happen to you!

Not tomorrow—not next week—but just three minutes from now—it can be there, right in front of you.

It's beer. But it will make you feel you never really tasted beer before.

Yes, today there is an even finer Schlitz, a beer for the great occasions of life, when friendships and anniversaries and achievements and hopes call for a toast. And when nothing but the finest will do.

More than that, this even finer Schlitz is brought to you flavor-fresh and protected from the effect of air. And that's big news. For air is the enemy of beer. Even the small amount of air in the neck of the bottle plays havoc with flavor.

But today's Schlitz is bottled by a special air-exclusion process! Air is removed an instant before the beer goes into the bottle. So Schlitz retains all its original flavor right up to the moment you drink it.

Right this minute there's a frosty brown bottle waiting for you. Go and enjoy it now! Find out how really good beer can be.

You'll Like It

The full flavor of Schlitz Beer is something you won't have to "get used to". You'll like it instantly. Your first bottle will probably answer your own personal question as to how beer really should taste. Get acquainted with Schlitz today.

Schlitz
THE BEER THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS

PROTECTED!
The space you see in the Schlitz bottle is not air but the breath of the beer itself. The famous flavor of Schlitz is never changed from the day it leaves the brewery.

E. R. EATON QUITS MICHIGAN G. O. P. SENATORIAL RACE

Lansing, Mich., July 10 [Special].—State Representative Elton R. Eaton [R., Plymouth] said today that he had withdrawn as a candidate for Republican nomination for the United States senate. Instead, he asserted, he will seek the party's nomination for lieutenant governor in a race expected to involve more than a half-dozen candidates.

Eaton originally announced his senate candidacy in the belief that Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg would be the presidential nominee. Vandenberg, however, is seeking renomination for the senate.

The husband's funeral was postponed and double services will be held Thursday.

ASKS $100,000 U. S. GRANT TO SPEED AIRPORT PROJECT

Mayor Kelly said yesterday, on his return from Washington, D. C., that he had asked for $100,000 in government funds to aid in speeding up the removal of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad tracks which now bisect Chicago airport. He said the money would be used to rent other parallel tracks for the railroad so that the present tracks could be torn up this year instead of waiting for the construction next year of a new roadbed on land purchased for the railroad by the city under the airport enlargement program.

The mayor said he had approached the Civil Aeronautics authority again on the establishment of an aviation research laboratory here. He was informed, he said, that the CAA wants a grant of 100 acres of land adjacent to an airport to establish the laboratory. He said this will be given study.

The hope of getting national defense funds to finance the WPA construction of an island airport is slight, he said, because of lack of funds. He was told that a special appropriation would be necessary.

PARTY LEADERS AT FUNERAL OF MARTIN O'BRIEN

Democratic party chieftains and city, county, and state officials attended funeral services yesterday for Martin J. O'Brien, public administrator of Cook county and a party leader for many years. Mr. O'Brien died last Saturday of a heart attack after he was rescued from drowning near Minocqua, Wis.

Before the funeral, friends had visited the O'Brien home at 3851 Congress street. From there the body was taken to Presentation church, 758 South Springfield avenue, for a requiem mass. The mass was sung by the Rev. Francis O. McCarthy and the sermon was given by Msgr. Francis Pursell of St. Mel's church. Burial was in All Saints' cemetery.

IMAGINARY PLOT BY 5TH COLUMN IN W-G-N DRAMA

An imaginary plot to blow up an industrial plant in Milwaukee is to be the subject of the second episode of Wings for America to be broadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual network from 7 to 7:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Wings for America, featuring Elissa Landi as Lorna Carroll, a reporter for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and Phillips Holmes as Riley Davis, a Mutual commentator, will project in this episode a possible use of facsimile, the transmission of pictorial and printed matter by radio, in combatting fifth column activities.

Col. Thomas R. Gowenlock is lending the benefits of his long experience in spy work to the production of the program. Col. Gowenlock was former assistant chief of the A. E. F. 1st division intelligence staff during the world war. The program will provide information as to how citizens can do their bit in protecting the nation from attacks from within.

Two Pay Up and Go Free in Job Insurance Frauds

Miss Margaret Ann Patterson, a typist, and Clarence Zema, a truck driver, charged with accepting unemployment compensation while employed, were released yesterday by Municipal Judge William V. Daly after making restitution of $16 each and paying court costs of $8.50 each. Miss Patterson, who lives at 521 East 112th street, was placed on probation for three months. Zema, of 8537 Muskegon avenue, was sentenced to three days in jail, but this was considered served while he was awaiting trial.

EVANSTON BUILDING STRUCK BY LIGHTNING; FOUR ESCAPE DEATH

Four men escaped death yesterday when lightning struck an auto sales agency building at 1111 Chicago avenue, Evanston. The four, all employés, were knocked down but not seriously hurt.

The shower late yesterday afternoon caused a sudden freakish drop in temperature and brought some relief from heat that reached 92 degrees at 2:20 p. m. By 3 p. m., after the rain, the mercury was down to 77. It rose again to 85 an hour later. Forecaster G. E. Dunn said today probably would be cooler.

APPEALS COURT AFFIRMS $15,000 INJURY CLAIM

The Illinois Appellate court yesterday affirmed a personal injury judgment for Miss Arlouine Price of Portage, Wis., against the Yellow Cab company after she agreed to reduce the amount to $15,000. The original jury verdict had been for $40,000, but Judge Daniel P. Trude of the Circuit court cut this to $30,000.

Yesterday the Appellate court offered her the alternative of accepting $15,000, holding the higher amount was excessive, or having to go thru with a new trial. Miss Price, who is 39 years old, was injured Aug. 27, 1936, when a cab in which she was riding struck a concrete post in front of St. Luke's hospital.

Raymond F. List, president of the company, had promised the union grievance committee his final answer to their demands at 5 o'clock, but union officers said they called the strike when they learned the company had ordered removal of tools and dies from the grinding room. The company was enjoying a rush business and only recently booked an order for 10,000 sewing machine heads for shipment to Rio de Janeiro.

Warren Hymer, movie tough guy, has played in many pictures with George Raft. The other night Hymer, his wife, and his manager were on their way to dine at Colosimo's and Hymer remarked reflectively: "I haven't seen George in a long time. Wonder what he's doing now?"

George, they discovered a few minutes later, was dining at Colosimo's.

Even Weather Is Helper for Orphan Benefit

BY SUZETTE FARMER.

It was rare good fortune that the severe storm which broke over the north shore yesterday afternoon held off until the Lake Bluff Orphanage benefit garden party was over. Apparently even the erratic elements felt that a venture which had been so well planned deserved a little special consideration, and it was not until the guests were headed homeward that enthusiastic thunder claps shook the air in belated cheers.

Mrs. T. Philip Swift's beautiful estate on Ridge road, Lake Forest, provided an ideal setting for the affair, which offered entertainment for all tastes and ages. Two ponies, the special charges of young Peter Carney and Mac Reynolds, dressed in businesslike jeans, charmed such future equestrians as the Edward K. MacDonalds' youngsters, Dicky, John, J. D., and Joan; little Leilani Fairman, the junior Fred Fairmans' sunbonneted daughter; Michael Cudahy, Tommy Dixon, and Deborah and Hugh Johnston, who were accompanied by their mother, Mrs. Hugh McBirney Johnston.

While many of the guests attended the bridge lecture by Mrs. Catherine Lewis, others wandered about the lovely garden, toward the tempting swimming pool with its blue-green water, and the white and blue chairs which lined it. They stopped to admire the table, laden with fresh cut flowers; the one which displayed exquisite linens and lace doilies; the table which offered trays and handknit sweaters, and the table where candies of every description could be purchased.

Debutantes, subdebs, and young matrons modeled in the fashion show, the highlight of the afternoon. Participating as mannequins were Miss Joan Reid, Miss Grace Shumway, Miss Leonore Cudahy, Miss Marie Louise Hulburd, Miss Helen Mary Bryan, who previously had forsaken her post at the flower table to dangle her feet in the pool; Mrs. Joseph C. Belden Jr., Miss Barbara Buchanan, Miss Edith Cowles, Miss Caryl Harrison, Miss Alice Blair, Miss Helen Niblack, Mrs. De Witt Buchanan Jr., Miss Barbara Hixon, Miss Lana Jelke, Miss Adrienne Ely, Miss Shirley Hopkins, and Miss Priscilla Armstrong.

Among the many who attended the affair were Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Samuel Chase, George Hoffman, president of the Orphanage, and S. E. Leeman, former president; Mrs. James O. Hinkley, Mrs. John A. Chapman, Mrs. Edward F. Swift, Mrs. James R. Addington, Mrs. DeWitt Buchanan, Mrs. Ernest Hamill Jr., Mrs. Champ Carry, and Mrs. Henry McIntosh.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., July 10.—They say it's a safe bet that within a month Loretta Young will become Mrs. Tom Lewis. He is a New York advertising man. . . . Beginning tomorrow, Los Angeles will enforce an old curfew law under which children can't be out after 9 p. m. without parents or guardians—and the gagsters are wondering how it will affect Mrs. George Jessel. . . . Statistics: The covered wagons used by 20th Century-Fox in filming "Brigham Young" traveled farther than did the Mormon wagons on their trek from Illinois. The real journey was 1,384 miles. The movie wagons [truck-towed] made 2,407 miles between locations. The Mormons took eight months for their discovery of Utah. Fox took two years making the film.

This yarn should be given a Hollywood locale because it fits, somehow; but it's a true one and the truth places it on Long Island, N. Y. Friends of this department recently motored past one of the state operated asylums just when the inmates were out in the yard doing setting-up exercises to phonograph music. They were doing their daily dozen to the tune of "Scatterbrain."

Gertrude Lawrence [in person] and "Skylark" [on a stage!] have reached these precincts. There's to be a movie of the play, and Dwight Taylor, who is making the scenario, confesses he is having a little trouble turning the plot into movie fare. "How in these times," he says, "can you make the customers believe there's a wife who is dissatisfied with a husband making $78,000 a year?"

George Raft, Humphrey Bogart and Ann Sheridan do fine in "They Drive by Night," which has just been previewed—but Ida Lupino steals the show in an intensely dramatic rôle. The picture's a melodrama about truck drivers and she's a sex hungry dame who goes mad. There are a couple of good comedy sequences involving a pinball machine and I wonder who it was who caught William Saroyan's "The Time of Your Life."

Robert Montgomery, back from his ambulance driving experience in France, will rest a while and toy with his new car, which he brought from England. A Lagonda roadster with a right hand drive, it's a delight to the machinery loving Montgomery. Six carburetors, no less, and built-in automatic jacks. Just a little lever to lift a wheel.

Montgomery had about four weeks of ambulance driving—but time is a little hazy in his mind. Things happened so fast and so often that nobody knew what time it was—and he still feels short of sleep. Sometimes the food was good, sometimes there wasn't any. There was one stretch in which everybody lived four days on chocolate bars and Scotch whisky.

Once, on a trip up the line from Paris, the actor took Quentin Reynolds, the magazine correspondent, in the back of his ambulance. They stopped to eat in a small town. Got a wonderful meal in a dump of a restaurant, and were standing outside afterward when they heard an airplane. Montgomery looked up, saw what looked like a French plane over some houses across the way, and momentarily breathed easier, and then saw something drop from the belly of the ship. He had been bombed and machine gunned enough to know what it was like, and in nothing flat he was inside the restaurant and flat on his face near the door.

Nothing exploded, so in a moment Montgomery went outside and there was Reynolds, still leaning against the wall, looking up. "That guy," says Roberts in awed tones, "had more nerve. You know what he said? He just said, 'It dropped something, didn't it?' Anyhow, it wasn't a bomb. Must really have been a French ship dropping dispatches."

Patriotism is reaching new highs in Hollywood and the film colony is really going all-out for the Red Cross. The organized drive will open Friday. In addition to raising a huge amount locally, the movies will put out three big road shows, each with eight or 10 top-flight stars, and each with enough sketches and personnel to put on a two-hour show.

These companies—to accommodate which the producers have revised many shooting schedules—will get started beginning next month. One for the Atlantic states, one for the Pacific and the third for mid-country. Each of them will play about 21 one night stands, with proceeds going to local Red Cross chapters.

Samuel Goldwyn has turned over about half of his big plant for offices and committee rooms, and with 125 of moviedom's important men and women serving, the activity is reminding of the old world war days, when Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin, the late Doug Fairbanks, Olga Petrova, and William S. Hart whooped it up for liberty loans.

The present men's and women's committees will handle all war charities and their work will simplify a number of problems. Problems like the demands upon Hollywood talent for benefits. Movie stars are musts for charity shows, and now there will be a sort of talent clearing house. Crises such as two Samuel Goldwyn recently encountered need no longer arise. In one of these a woman—a stranger—telephoned Goldwyn, said she was giving a charity bridge party and would he send over four actors right away. In another, a man called from outside town and said, "Send nine actors by 7:30 tonight." Neither specified names. They just wanted actors.

War Relief Dance.

Invitations will be in the mail this week-end for a dinner-dance the Evanston unit of the British War Relief society will give on July 31 at the Edgewater Beach hotel. The $3 admittance charge will cover dinner and dancing on the beach walk. Refreshments will be supplied by the group at its own bar. Proceeds will be used to buy a plastic surgery ambulance.

Rain or Shine New Parasols Blaze of Color

BY REA SEEGER.

Summer sunshades are bobbing around every smart spot in town and country. Most of them double for a rainy day, being water resistant with colors that blaze as vividly during a downpour as in sunshine. Pure white affairs are dramatic ideas for an otherwise dull black midsummer costume in filmy sheers or coarse textured linen. White or colored crook handles provide either contrast or complete harmony.

If you crave brilliant color see the multi mix-up affairs, each rib and each panel of a different color. Orange, blue, red, yellow, green, white and varying shades all combine in one dizzy whirl of headline color, making them the most exciting sunshades ever carried over a hat. Striped cottons, with the stripes in concentric circles, the handles painted white or gay colors, make inexpensive finds that add dash and daring to any out-of-door summer costume.

In time for the convention shoppers out for something different, or for the audience no matter what their political allegiance, there are colored or white umbrellas with gay composition handles of donkeys or elephants. These should be instantaneous successes along with the rather startling red, white, and blue numbers, with the inside circle of navy blue studded with tiny white stars, the outside a vivid shade of red. Handles are white.

The Fate of the Darmenys

By Elizabeth York Miller

[Copyright: 1940: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Madge Darmeny, knowing she has but a few months to live, gathers her family about her so she can select the most deserving heir, unbeknown to them. Amelia Pennyfather, a distant cousin, lives with her, but Leda, Madge's own niece, is her nearest relative. Next in line are Frank and Geoffry, her husband's nephews. Leda is married to Frank but is in love with Geoffry, who is Madge's favorite because he continuously plays up to her. Frank has an 8 year old daughter, Betsy, by a former marriage. Shirley Westall, Madge's secretary, has been given charge of Betsy while they are all staying at the Darmeny estate. Madge, anxious for Geoffry to settle down, suggests he marry Shirley, and he, becoming tired of Leda, approves of the idea. Shirley, devoted to Betsy and knowing of Leda's and Geoffry's affair, sympathizes with Frank and soon finds her sympathy turning to love. Frank sees the sweetness of Betsy's mother in Shirley and finds himself falling in love with her. Neither declare their love for each other, but Shirley requires the advances of Geoffry, which infuriates him. Leda goes into a number of fits of rage because she is jealous of Geoffry's attention to Shirley. Madge at last sees things in their true light and decides to change her will. Amelia eavesdrops and hears of Madge's illness and of the new will. She tells Geoffry, and he steals Madge's keys to her safe and reads the old and new wills. In the old version, he would inherit the estate. In the new one, Frank will get the bulk of things. The new one has not yet been signed. Geoffry goes on a rampage, meets Frank in the woods and tells him he will get Shirley as he got Leda. Frank knocks his teeth out, goes home and confronts Leda with Geoffry's accusation. Leda admits to both Madge and Frank her love for Geoffry. Geoffry has gone to the dentist in the city and Madge waits up for him that night to have a talk with him. He arrives late and is insulting to Madge. She gets upset, asks him to get her medicine. He, knowing that Alfred Barnes, the solicitor, is to arrive the next day for Madge to sign the new will, gives her an overdose which kills her. Amelia is eavesdropping and hears Madge cry out, "You've killed me!" Geoffry is unaware she was listening, but she acts so queer the next day he becomes suspicious and threatens to commit her as insane. She is too afraid of him to tell what she has heard, so the doctor signs the death certificate.

INSTALMENT XI.

FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS.

Amelia, handkerchief pressed to her dripping eyes, was crawling toward the door. Geoffry covered the awkward moment by stooping to pick up the pieces of broken china.

Shuffling footsteps were passing the door; slowly, as tho a burden was being borne.

Goeffry made a move, but he was too late. Amelia Pennyfather already had the door open, and they all saw Madge Darmeny being carried past by two black coated men. One supported her head and shoulders, the other her feet, and the frail little body sagged limply between them.

Behind walked Mrs. Broom in a white starched overall, with her professional black bag.

It was a dreadful moment for everybody.

Leda rushed to the door and slammed it before anybody else could make a move.

"Did you see?" she panted, her eyes widely dilated. "She's still here . . . she'll always be here, knowing how foolish we are—and how evil some of our thoughts . . . Frank can tell you. I prayed that she would die—it shocked him. And Goeffry, too—he wanted her to die. And now we think she's dead—but she isn't. You'll see—you'll see! There's a doom on us—Aunt Madge will see to that."

Indescribable to narrate the effect of Leda's speech on her shocked audience. It shoved into the background Amelia's effort to create a scene, and Amelia did not swoon. She put on her gasping fish act, instead.

Frank went to his wife and took her by the shoulders, shaking her, hoping to bring her back to her senses, and Alfred Barnes' voice fell like a douche of cold water.

"She's badly overwrought and Miss Pennyfather, too. A little sleep is what they need. All of you are tired out."

Gibson, unaware of what was happening, came to the door and spoke to Goeffry: "It's all right now, sir."

"What does he mean by that?" Alfred Barnes asked.

Goeffry cleared his throat before replying:

"Just that . . . they've carried Aunt Madge upstairs. He said he would come and tell me. He wanted to spare us what we saw when Amelia opened the door."

A moment later only Goeffry and Alfred Barnes were left in the dining room.

Goeffry went on with his breakfast, making a fairly good pretense that nothing had happened. Mr. Barnes had another cup of coffee, a large one without milk or cream, and hoped that the cigaret he lighted was not disrespectful to the occasion. He did not show it, but his nerves, too, were in a state of high tension.

It was bad enough to have lost his dear friend, without those two women creating such dreadful scenes.

Goeffry was wondering when or if Alfred Barnes would tell him how near Aunt Madge had come to making a new will casting him overboard.

Then, not being clearly versed in points of law, a terrible doubt assailed him.

Was it as good as making a new will to have one drawn up and ready for signing? There would be the notes in Aunt Madge's own handwriting, and other proof Alfred Barnes could furnish that such had been her declared intention.

If there was any chance of this, there would have to be a costly lawsuit, for Goeffry Darmeny meant to defend his rights to the uttermost.

But reason, common sense and his memory of contested will suits he had followed in the newspapers, told him that his fears were groundless, really. An intention to draw up a new will was not the same as signing and sealing it in the presence of witnesses.

It was understandable, too, that Alfred Barnes did not broach the subject. He was a great stickler for the conventions, and it wasn't proper for the heirs to do more than whisper about their expectations, until after the funeral was over.

"I suppose," Goeffry said, throwing out the ghost of a feeler, "you will want to discuss the funeral arrangements with me."

Alfred glanced coldly and briefly in his direction.

"I don't think so," he said. "I have Mrs. Darmeny's own directions down to the last detail. She has even made a list of those she wishes specially asked to attend. I shall stay at Beechbourne until it is all over, and see that everything is carried out exactly as she wanted."

Goeffry was angered by this high handedness, but he made no protest. Time enough to tell old Barnes what he thought of him. Old Barnes had told him, Goeffry, quite a lot when they were going thru that list of debts, and he fairly ached to get a little of his own back.

It was Frank, however, against whom Goeffry Darmeny's rancor ran highest.

He wondered that Frank had the face to stay in this house, with Leda and his brat, knowing—as he must know—that he was soon to be thrown out, neck and crop.

Curiously enough Frank, himself, was thinking much the same thing—wondering at his own effrontery.

But for one so radical in almost every way there was an unexpected streak of the conventional in Frank Darmeny. He was going to stay for one thing because it was the proper and decent thing to do; and for another, because Aunt Madge would have wished it.

Frank, even better than Goeffry, knew what her intentions had been, and how she had come to feel about him. He owed a respect to her memory and however difficult it might be to put aside his bitter feud with Goeffry, he intended to do so until after Aunt Madge was laid to rest.

Even then, Frank did not mean to carry on that feud at Beechbourne. He would find some other and less hallowed spot to settle his score with Goeffry. For settle it, he must. Knocking loose a few of those beautiful teeth was not enough.

For the moment, however, as far as Frank was concerned, a truce had been called.

Later in the day, when the afternoon sun was slanting thru the Venetian blinds of her dusky bedroom, he went to say good-by to Madge Darmeny. They had dressed her in white; she looked young and there was a faint enigmatic smile on her lips under the yellowed lace of her wedding veil. Somebody had put a little bunch of white violets in her folded hands.

That smile was curious. It reminded Frank poignantly of Leda's wild speech.

Madge Darmeny was dead; she would never move or speak again. Yet that smile spoke for her more eloquently than words. It was both a threat and a promise, according to the conscience of the beholder.

It seemed to say: "Be careful—don't try to get the better of me. I know all your hidden secrets; your heart is an open book to me."

Would that it were so. Frank sighed. His conscience, thank God, was fairly clear, as mortals go. But being mortal and under the universal condemnation of the carnal mind, even he felt a little guilty as he stooped and touched his lips to the cold forehead under the bridal veil of long ago.

"Forgive me, if I've ever hurt you," he whispered. "I never meant to. Good-by, my dear . . . sleep well, and forget the foolishness of this sad old world."

Almost he envied her. She, at least, had found peace; she was satisfied. That knowing little smile of hers seemed to tell him as much.

Humble villagers called to pay their last respects to the old woman who had done so much to promote the well being of all in Crane's Wood. Mr. Mortgage, the vicar, had a long consultation with Mr. Barnes as to the funeral service and hymns. There were orders to be given for the family vault to be opened.

Sally's Guests to Have Double Party Today

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

I'll bet I know 100 boys and girls who've been waiting anxiously for this day to arrive!

Well, party winners, it's here at last and even better than you expected. When we scheduled this party we only expected that you youngsters would be treated to a single game between the Chicago Cubs and Boston and I know you'll be pleasantly surprised to learn that we'll see a double header out at Wrigley field this afternoon. For that reason we'll meet at the appointed place at 1 p. m., rather than at the time mentioned in the invitations which were mailed to you early in the week.

I hope that you'll all be there on time, and don't forget to bring your invitations, whatever you do!

I'll see you at Wrigley field this afternoon, but before I meet this week's winners I'm going to select the boys and girls who will have their turn at a good time next week. I'll read all your letters and select 50 boys and 50 girls to be my guests on July 18. If you've written in for an invitation to see Freddy Bartholomew, Cedric Hardwicke, and all the other stars in "Tom Brown's School Days," keep your fingers crossed this morning and maybe you'll see your name in next SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE with the winners!

The procedure was developed by the Bell Telephone laboratories, the research organization for Illinois Bell and associated companies.

Tall glasses of chilled tea or coffee, tinkling with ice, have become favorite summer beverages. There are several ways to make these drinks, but either of them must start with freshly brewed hot tea or coffee.

Here's the usual method. Brew tea or coffee double strength. This means to use twice as much tea or coffee as usual, brewing it for the regular length of time. It does not mean to brew the usual amount of tea or coffee twice as long. Such a procedure will give a bitter, not a pleasant, drink.

Then pour the fresh, hot, strong tea or coffee over cracked ice or ice cubes in tall glasses, and serve it—the tea with lemon, the coffee with cream and sugar, for those who wish it.

Now for another method of making iced tea or coffee, and you may prefer this one. Make tea or coffee as you usually do, regular strength. Pour it into ice cube trays and let it freeze. Fill iced tea glasses with the cubs of tea or coffee and pour hot, freshly made tea or coffee over the cubes. This second method is sometimes more satisfactory because it involves the customary procedure of making the hot drink, and eliminates the chance of too much dilution of flavor by ice cubes.

Black tea almost always is used for iced tea, altho there's no reason why green tea may not be iced, if such is your favorite drink.

ORANGE MINT ICED TEA.

Strain the juice of an orange into each iced tea glass and add a bruised mint sprig. Add ice cubes or frozen tea cubes and fill the glass with hot tea [black tea, preferably, for this drink]. Garnish with half an orange slice and, perhaps, a cherry. Remove the mint sprig, if it is wilted by the hot tea, and substitute a fresh, unbruised one.

ICED COFFEE FLOATS.

Mocha Dessert Drink.
[Serves six.]

¼ cup ground coffee
2 cups milk
2-3 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
1 square chocolate
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
4½ cups freshly made coffee

Add ground coffee to 1½ cups of milk in the top part of a double boiler. Place over boiling water, cover, and heat 5 minutes. Strain. Mix sugar, cornstarch and salt with remaining half cup of milk and beaten egg yolks. Combine with coffee-milk brew and return to double boiler. Add chocolate. Cook and stir constantly until thickened and smooth. Cover and cook 5 minutes longer. Cool. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into the mixture. Fold in whipped cream. Freeze in refrigerator tray until firm. When ready to serve, fill tall glasses half full of the mocha freeze and add regular strength brewed coffee which has been chilled. Stir and serve at once.

The Housewife

There's an unusually good product on the market that should find a welcome in all Chicago homes because of the hardness of our water here. It's a softener, and by using a little in the water in which you're going to wash your lingerie or the baby's fine woolens or nainsooks you'll find you get fluffy suds immediately and without putting in as much soap flakes as you did before. Put some of these crystals in your bath, too, and let it make crystal clear water of our lake water. You'll find the tub won't have any rings round it to scrub off. After you've used a can of this product you'll never be without it.

Play Suit with Two Skirts

WOMEN'S AND MISS' PLAY SUIT.

We think you'll like this one piece play suit with its companion skirt. The garment buttons from the base of the neckline to the hips, and the shorts are precisely tailored. The neckline may be buttoned up or opened out rever fashion. The breast pocket is optional as is sleeve length.

There's a new idea for the skirt: It may be the same length as the shorts, or may be created in regulation street length. You might make both types for this ensemble. Choose spanking white for dramatic effect, or a stripe.

Style No. 3366 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements. Size 16 requires 2⅝ yards of 39 inch material for play suit; 1¼ yards for shorter length skirt; 2 yards for regulation length skirt.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Stepmother Role Requires Tact, Great Patience

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"I am 27 and engaged to a widower who has three small children. I am very fond of the man, naturally, or I wouldn't be engaged to him, but sometimes the idea of being a stepmother frightens me. Is it a hard rôle, as I've been warned? Am I too young for it? What do you know about stepmothering?

"WORRIED."

We would not consider you too young for the rôle, nor would we minimize the immortal need of patience and diplomacy for one who intends becoming a successful stepmother.

If you love the man, Worried, and intend to marry him, as we suspect, make up your mind you are not going to worry over the children's attitude toward you. If they're very small, you'll probably not have any immediate difficulties, and by the time they're older they will have accepted you as their own, provided you've been worthy of that compliment.

A stepmother has to go thru a considerable period of adjustment along with the small brood's own adjustment to her, which might be a helpful idea to keep in mind while attempting to make good friends with them. If there are disagreements, one must remember that in almost every family there are moments of trial.

All N. U. June Graduates to Have Jobs by Fall

Robert E. Day, placement director at Northwestern university, yesterday announced that all of the university's June graduates who wish employment apparently will have jobs by fall. Day based the prediction on a Commencement day survey and on reports gathered by the placement bureau during the summer. On Commencement day 57 per cent of 1,169 students queried already had obtained jobs, Day said. Many more have found them since.

Dust Is Added Summertime Health Menace

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

If we can believe what we are told, this is a dusty world we live in, and summer is the dustiest time of all.

The average six-room house takes in dust and dirt which amounts to a quarter of a pound every twenty-four hours. One expert investigator from Minnesota states that he finds two to four million dust particles in every cubic foot of air in the average living room.

Nor is this dust entirely "pure and germ free" either. Scientists at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology have contributed their bit to the figures. When they analyzed dust from vacuum cleaner bags taken from average homes in and near Boston, "they found it of such infectious character that they resorted to surgical masks and other precautions against contact with it."

So it seems that quite a part of our struggle against dust and germs must be waged in our homes! Best friends to germs are dust and damp and dark, and if we concentrate against these three combative foes to health and happiness, we have gone a long way toward real home sanitation. [We'll pass over the point, which occurs to us in reading statistics, that it is a wonder we aren't all of us sick all the time, with so many germs around us! Plenty of us must put up a fight, consciously or unconsciously, against bacteria, and our systems build up immunity to these lurking enemies in our midst.]

In brief, here are a few concrete suggestions for keeping down dust, and ridding rooms of dampness and darkness, and any hint of summer insect pests that find their way into houses or breed around the grounds.

These days practically everything in the house washes, from our smooth surfaced bathroom and kitchen walls and fixtures to our woodwork and floors and even many of our furnishings. And dry cleaning preparations are so expertly manufactured, and dry cleaners so effective, that the art of dry cleaning has become as simple as a dry suds shampoo.

Chemically treated dust cloths, oil mops, and vacuum cleaners not only add to the appearance of rooms, but also to their sanitation.

Light and air wherever it is possible are potent antidotes to germs. It is a boon to every closet and every corner that can receive a ray of sunlight for even a few minutes of each day.

Dampness can be routed by checking on moist spots around a home, by mending roofs before they start leaking, keeping basements well drained and well aired, and by eliminating any plumbing fixtures that drip.

Such frequently handled surfaces around a house as telephones, door knobs, stair rails, and so on, can be given an occasional light washing with a mild disinfectant. Cleanliness of house surfaces that one handles is as important as cleanliness of hands, towels, dishes, and glassware.

Further aids to mosquito extinction are: A dry cellar, unclogged roof gutters, ornamental pools kept well stocked with fish, elimination of all standing water, and rain barrels well covered with screening. If there is standing water around a house which cannot be eliminated, it can be sprinkled with kerosene. And it isn't a bad idea to bury all tin cans that must be left outside. If this can't be done, at least pierce them with holes so they won't become menacing containers of stale water.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

It is a tribute to the sporting blood of Americans that so many of them persist in doubling slam contracts in the hope of a one trick defeat, but it is scarcely a tribute to their common sense. Why give an opponent an "edge" of hundreds of points and at the same time provide him with valuable signposts in his play of the hand? That is precisely what West did in the following deal:

South, dealer.

NORTH
♥ K 9 8 7
♦ 9
♣ K Q 9 6 5 4

WEST
♠ Q J 7 2
♥ Q 4 2
♦ Q 8 3
♣ A 8 2

EAST
♠ 4 3
♥ 6 3
♦ J 10 6 4 2

SOUTH
♠ K 10 9 6 5
♥ A J 10 5
♦ A K 7 5
♣ None

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
6 hearts	Double	Redouble	Pass
Pass	Pass

South did not bother to use the 4-5 no trump convention because he realized that an announcement of one ace from North would not clarify the situation. South would not know whether this ace was in clubs, where it would be virtually worthless, or in spades. The crux of the matter was that, after North's strong heart raise, South felt there must be a reasonable play for a slam, hence bid it directly. North, incidentally, had not been completely satisfied with his jump to four hearts. He felt that this bid still failed to disclose all his potential strength, and chose the bid simply for want of a better one. Thus, he was extremely surprised to hear West's double and did not hesitate to redouble promptly. If, he reasoned, South could jump to a slam without knowing about North's full strength, he should have little difficulty in fulfilling that contract. And even if he went down one trick the redouble would cost only 200 extra points, whereas if the slam were brought home the redouble would contribute an extra 360 points. As a matter of fact, it resulted in 560 extra points!

Having made a bad double, West proceeded to make matters as easy as possible for declarer by opening the club ace. Perhaps he was a bit panicky at the thought of what a huge score North-South would make if they fulfilled the contract and decided that he would at least cash in his ace. Obviously, however, he took the one sure way to lose it. Declarer ruffed and, guided by West's double, let the heart jack ride thru. When it held, the ace was cashed. Then a spade was led to the king. Next a low club was ruffed with declarer's last trump, the ten, after which the diamond ace was laid down and a diamond was ruffed with the heart nine. West's trump queen was picked up by the king and declarer then merrily ran off four club tricks, discarding his three losing spades and one diamond. Obviously, he then claimed the balance with the spade and diamond kings. The opponents had not been conceded a single trick.

West plaintively explained to his partner that he had had every suit "stopped," hence had thought it impossible for the opponents to fulfill their slam. It goes without saying that he had calculated foolishly. The only reasonably sure trick he had held was the club ace, and even that had evaporated. Any value to be attached to his heart queen had been largely destroyed by his double and, as far as spade or diamond tricks were concerned, these were, to put it mildly, highly problematic. North's club bid and strong heart raise had indicated few spades, hence it was absurd for West to count on tricks in that suit. A queen in the fourth suit, diamonds, should scarcely have been considered a bulwark of defense. Thus, West should have maintained an oysterlike silence and merely hoped to defeat the contract. Incidentally, a diamond opening would have given declarer something to think about, but at no time was the contract in jeopardy.

Young Folks' Parents Ought to Form Pact

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Is your 16 year old resenting your restrictions about hours and places where he [or she] shall go?

For two days we've been talking about that and what to do about it. Briefly, we've said that young people must have increasing independence but that they cannot be turned loose, and why. Also, that in making restrictions we must be tactful, explain, and be very real friends with our children who are growing up fast and not finding it easy.

Of course, we're not finding it easy either, but this would be a great help: If the parents of both boys and girls beginning to go out would combine wisely two things, liberal understanding and a few firm directions and restrictions.

Also, a certain amount of agreement among parents, if their children happen to travel in a crowd, would do away with some of the friction as to hours and places.

For instance, in one group I know of, one set of parents is out so much at night themselves that they don't know when their young daughters and sons come in. Nor does it seem to concern them. In that same set another father and mother worry, but dislike making their daughter keep the hours they think right. A great many other parents are afraid to take a stand, because their children say it will make them seem like babies to leave before the crowd breaks up.

There's one other point. A surprisingly large number of very young girls, just beginning to go out, are often not told when they must be home. And so the mothers of the boys have to make all the rules! If mothers of daughters would require suitable hours, it would be better for the girls and be a help to the younger escorts.

Of course, the parents of the boy have their responsibility. "Regardless of whether your girls' mothers care or not, I want you to get them home at a reasonable hour," she may say.

WILSON'S Weekly MEMO by GEORGE RECTOR

When something is very easy and pleasant to do, we say it is "just a picnic." Why, then, do so many women persist in making hard work out of a real, back-to-nature picnic? Miles of sandwiches and mountains of fancy fillings are all very well, but how much more of a picnic it is just to take along plenty of Wilson's Certified Canned Meats and Ready-to-Serve Specialties, with stacks of buns and rolls to keep them company! And remember—not all picnics are held in the great outdoors. Porch picnics can be lots of fun, and with these ready-to-eat Wilson Certified Meats, they are a mighty easy way to entertain these hot days.

3 SMART SANDWICHES

With a Wilson Certified Tender Made Ham in the house, sandwich-making is no problem at all. Here are three practical suggestions:

1. Lay a thin slice of Tender Made Ham on one slice of bread, and chopped watercress on the other. Spread cress lightly with Wilson's Savory Mayonnaise. Put the 2 slices together.

2. Add ¼ teaspoon of ground cloves to 1 tablespoon sifted brown sugar. Sprinkle lightly over slices of Tender Made Ham, and place between bread.

3. To each cup of minced Tender Made Ham, mix ¼ cup drained crushed pineapple. Mix with a little Wilson's Savory Mayonnaise to spreading consistency. Place a generous layer in each sandwich.

Note: For all sandwiches, spread well with softened Clear Brook Butter. No one likes a dry sandwich!

ASK FOR WILSON'S Certified READY-TO-SERVE SAUSAGE

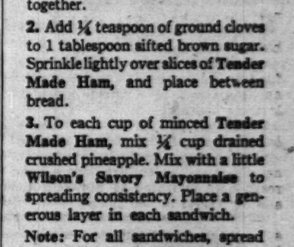
One of my best summer dishes is called Universal Salad, partly because it contains about everything and partly because it is a universal favorite with both cook and consumer.

For the meat, use any—or several—of Wilson's Certified Ready-to-Serve Meats, such as Braunschweiger Liver Sausage, Luncheon Loaf, Veal Loaf, or the regular stand-bys—Cervelat, Salami or Bologna. If it's Wilson's Certified, you know its quality is dependable, its flavor assured.



Universal Salad

2 cups Wilson's Certified Ready-to-Serve Meats, cut in small dice
1 cup diced cold boiled potatoes
½ cup cooked fresh peas
½ cup cooked diced carrots
½ cup celery, chopped
1 small onion, minced
1 canned pimiento, diced
½ cup Wilson's Savory Mayonnaise

Combine dry ingredients. Mix with mayonnaise. Add salt and pepper, to taste. Chill. Serve on lettuce cups, topped with additional mayonnaise and garnished with watercress or paprika. Should be accompanied by plenty of hot biscuits, made with Wilson's Certified All-Purpose Shortening. Serves 4-6.

SUSPECT IN ONE WOMAN'S MURDER ADMITS KILLING 3

Wife and 2 Sweethearts Mutilation Victims.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 10 [Special].—Harry W. Gordon, an unemployed merchant seaman, today admitted killing and mutilating three women, police announced. One of the women was his first wife and the others were sweethearts.

During questioning last night, Gordon admitted he killed his wife, Florence Johnston, in New York in 1934, and slew Mrs. Robert Earl McCarthy, mother of two children, in San Francisco on June 25.

All Three Mutilated.

Today he told of choking Mrs. Lena Coffin, 35 years old, to death in a San Francisco hotel in 1935 and mutilating her as he had his other two victims.

Gordon, 37 years old and weighing 210 pounds, was arrested Monday on suspicion of murdering Mrs. McCarthy. Last night he suddenly rattled his cell door and called for officers to hear his confession of the first two slayings. Up to that time he had insisted he met Mrs. McCarthy at a San Francisco bar, registered with her at a hotel and left her asleep the next day.

He was quoted as saying his true name is Wilhelm Johannsen, and that he came to America with his father from Denmark in 1913. In New York he met and married his first victim, he said.

Slays in Drunken Stupor.

"We quarreled one summer night," Gordon related. "She threw a flower pot at me and I killed her. I was drunk at the time. When I came to I discovered I had cut her up.

"After spending the night with Mrs. McCarthy I awoke from a drunken stupor and found I had murdered her just as I did my first wife."

Gordon is now married to Lydia Gordon, who operates a flower shop at Long Beach, Cal. He met her in Brooklyn, where she operated a coffee shop, and induced her to sell the shop and come to California two years ago. Last month he used her automobile as security to borrow $250 and went to San Francisco in search of work.

Mother's Suicide Attempt Fatal to Her Six Children

New York, July 10 (AP).—Six children of Mrs. Louise Nicosia were killed by gas in their Bronx home today as a result of a suicide attempt by their mother, who was revived. The children ranged in age from 4 to 12 years. Police found a note signed by Mrs. Nicosia in which she said she and the children were suffering because she was not able to care for them.

DENTIST IS ALIBI WITNESS FOR 'FIX' CASE ATTORNEY

Dr. Harry E. Denen, a dentist with offices at 4621 Broadway, appeared in the Criminal court of Judge James Fardy yesterday to give alibi testimony for Attorney George Crane, who is accused with three other persons of fixing a jury in a vote fraud case. The other defendants are Sam Orlando, Democratic precinct captain in the 11th ward; John Howe, discharged state policeman and convicted bandit, and James Creed, superintendent of city dumps.

Dr. Denen said Crane was in his office having a tooth filled on the hour and day [9-10 p. m., Dec. 13] when, according to state's witnesses, Crane allegedly gave $50 to Marvin Olson, an ex-convict, and Mrs. Lillian Conners, one of the jurors in the fraud case.

Judge E. I. Frankhauser of the Superior court testified as a character witness for Crane. Crane is expected to testify this morning and closing arguments for both sides will be made later today.

Two of Navy's Neutrality Patrol Flyers Die in Sea

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP).—Death of two navy flyers attached to the aircraft carrier Wasp was reported to the navy department today. They were Lieut. Joseph I. Evans, Shamokin, Pa., and Hugh Wesley Reeder, seaman second class, of Dothan, Ala. Their plane crashed in the Atlantic, where the Wasp is taking part in the neutrality patrol. The bodies were not recovered.

BURKE, ONETIME CAPONE GUNNER, DIES IN PRISON

Marquette, Mich., July 10 [Special].—Fred Burke, former Capone machine gunner, died today in the northern Michigan branch prison here. He was serving a life term for the murder of a policeman. Burke's death was attributed to a heart attack.

Fred Burke.

Burke was credited, unofficially but persistently, with being one of the gunmen who shot down seven gangsters in the Chicago St. Valentine's day massacre in 1929. He also was accused of participation in half a dozen other major crimes.

The crime that finally landed Burke in prison was the result of a minor automobile collision at St. Joseph, Mich., on Dec. 14, 1929. An argument ensued after his car and another collided and Patrolman Charles Skelley was called. Burke fatally shot Skelley and fled. He was captured in Missouri and pleaded guilty to a second degree murder charge.

Boise, Idaho, July 10—(AP)—The death sentence imposed on 16 year old Clifford Albert Zipse for slaying a schoolmate, was commuted to life imprisonment today by the State Pardon board. The youth was sentenced to be hanged July 1 for the murder of Wesley Curtis, 15, but the sentence was stayed

JUDGE ACQUITS VERNON SNOW IN POISON SLAYING

Rosiclare, Ill., July 10 [Special].—Vernon Snow, Rosiclare carpenter, was acquitted by Circuit Judge Roy E. Pearce today of a charge of murder in the poison pill slaying of Noah Jones, the husband of his sweetheart, last Feb. 19.

After a two day trial, Judge Pearce ruled there was not sufficient evidence to convince him beyond a reasonable doubt that Snow was guilty. He held that the accusing testimony of Mrs. Vivian Gladys Jones, 36 years old, widow of the victim, was without corroborative proof.

Mrs. Jones, the state's principal witness, was brought here for the trial from the women's prison at Dwight where she was sentenced to life imprisonment upon her plea of guilty.

She repudiated a confession that she had poisoned her husband singlehanded to collect his insurance so she and Snow could go on a trailer trip. She testified that Snow gave her husband a drink of poisoned whisky.

Judge Pearce ruled the evidence showed Snow had violated the law in relationship with Jones' wife, but that the state had not proved Snow a participant in the poison plot.

BIOFF LAUNCHES ANOTHER EFFORT TO GET FREEDOM

Another effort to get Willie Bioff out of the Bridewell was started yesterday when a petition for a writ of habeas corpus was filed in the United States District court. A similar petition was recently turned down by Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court. Bioff, boss of Hollywood's movie unions, is serving a six month sentence for pandering, which was imposed in 1922.

The petition, filed by the firm of Butler and Aaron, asserts that the original information on which the conviction was based was void because of various legal technicalities.

FERRIER, DOERING TIE IN WESTERN AMATEUR WITH 142

AUSTRALIAN'S 3 UNDER PAR 69 GAINS DEADLOCK

64 to Start Match Play Today.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., July 10.—Arthur Doering, the young Chicagoan whose golf game has ranked him among the first five amateurs of the pastime these last few years, this afternoon appeared to have wrapped up the qualifying medal in the 41st Western Amateur tournament at the Minneapolis Country club. He had just added a tidy par 72 to his neat first round 70 of yesterday for a 142.

Then up came a large party identified as James Bennett Elliott Ferrier, the 6 foot 4 inch, 220 pound Australian, who holds his country's open and amateur championships. Mr. Ferrier, by reason of a second round of 69, three under par, equaled Master Doering's 142. Ferrier had a 33 on the last nine. It marked the top competitive scoring effort of Ferrier's American career since he landed in California last February.

64 Open Match Play Today.

Doering and Ferrier should be right proud of those 142s, for it's something of a feat to lead such a smart regiment of golfers as this, but the show is only beginning. Tomorrow Arthur and James become just two of the 64 qualifiers who get down to the serious business of man-to-man debate in a day that will comprise 48 matches, 32 of them in the morning and 16 in the afternoon. This double round program will be repeated Friday with Saturday's semi-finals and Sunday's championship matches all going the full route of 36 holes.

Doering, recent Trans-Mississippi victor, who registers from the Medinah Country club, might have won off by himself had he been able to hole any one of five consecutive birdie chances of 15 feet or under on the last five holes. Ferrier can attribute his splendid card to two braces of birdie triples, one on each nine. As it is, they won't have to wrangle over the prize, since the Western Golf association is awarding each duplicate silver dishes.

Dodge Playoffs Again.

None in the field came closer than two shots from Doering and Ferrier. Tied at 144 were two local hopes, Neil Croonquist, 1940 captain of University of Minnesota golfers, and Ole Williamson, a stocky gent with white eyebrows, who has distinguished himself on this same course.

A stroke away at 145 was a threesome led by 22 year old Walter Burkemo of Evanston, Ill., who in two years, has become one of the most respected swingers in the Chicago district. With Walter were Harry Todd of Dallas, Tex., the defending champion and Kenny Young, long one of Minneapolis' public links heroes. Todd came back in 34, two under par, for today's 73.

Goodman Shoots 148.

Bob Sulzer, Cincinnati city champion, was alone at 146, followed by Dr. Bill Kostelecky of Fargo, N. D., one time Northwestern golf captain, and Jim Black, St. Louis insurance man. The 148 detail was led by John Goodman of Omaha, former National open and amateur title holder. He played with Ferrier and was headed for a 71 until a hooked drive cost him a six on the par four seventeenth. Tied with John were Larry Moller of Quincy, Ill., 1939 Western runnerup, who was out in 34, but took 39 coming home. George Victor and Joe Franco of Chicago; Warren Berl of Stanford university, and Lee Herron of Minneapolis.

Chicagoans Retain Unbeaten Record.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

That proud record was preserved last night in Soldiers' field when the C. Y. O. team whipped the boys from Hawaii, 8 to 3. It was the 21st team victory in 10 years for the Catholic Youth organization. Five matches have been tied.

A crowd of 30,258 watched the program which included seven preliminary bouts and a 30 minute dramatization of the activities of the C. Y. O. Altho rain fell just as the opening ceremonies were completed and came down again during the third and fourth bouts, the throng stayed until the finish.

Wells Clinches Victory.

Chicago's victory was assured when Isaiah Wells, husky middle weight, whipped Dominic Neratko, Polish youngster who obtained a leave from the army to make the trip. Neratko is stationed at Schofield Barracks.

This triumph was the sixth for the C. Y. O., a majority of the 11 bouts. Wells fought a cagey bout, opening up with his stoutest blows near the end of the second round and again just before the final bell. It was Neratko's first defeat since he began boxing 18 months ago.

While Wells had the honor of clinching the team match, he only climaxed a string of four consecutive victories. When Frank Bausone won the second of the featherweight matches, he started the parade. Eddie O'Connell, lightweight, and Savior Canadeo, welterweight, followed.

Canadeo Marches On.

Canadeo's victory was in line with his triumphant march thru all competition this year. After winning the Chicago Golden Gloves title last March, Savior whipped his New York rival in the Inter-city matches in Madison Square Garden and then climaxed the spring campaign with victory in the Golden Gloves International bouts against the champions of Europe.

Canadeo was far too experienced for Dan Fernandez, Hawaiian welterweight. He outsmarted him in the clinches and in the second round a long range two handed attack piled up all the points Canadeo needed to win.

Hubert Hood, husky C. Y. O. light heavyweight, stopped Ray Quintal, Hawaiian team captain, in the second round. Hood was winning easily when a sharp punch opened a cut over Quintal's left eye. Referee Joe McNamara sent Quintal to his corner. After examination by Dr. J. V. Russell the match was ended. Quintal was keenly disappointed.

Cornelius Young, captain of the C. Y. O. team, and Golden Gloves Inter-City champion, won the decision in the last intersectional bout. Young outfought George Medeiros in all the rounds, proving for a second time that Wells' victory actually was not necessary to continue the supremacy of the C. Y. O.

Dramatize C. Y. O.'s Growth.

In the ceremonies depicting the growth of the Catholic Youth organization the activities were dramatized on a stage built high in the stands at the south end of the field. The educational, religious, athletic, and social service activities were included.

With the stadium darkened, the rival teams then paraded to the ring in midfield. Huge spotlights marked the progress of the Hawaiian team and then the Chicagoans.

The boxers then repeated the contestants' oath and afterward led the huge crowd in the oath of allegiance. John Pane-Gasser, Chicago Civic Opera tenor, sang "God Bless Amer-

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

THERE can be no further argument about the ability of the fans to pick candidates for the All-Star baseball game as satisfactorily as the managers of the major leagues. . . . We doubt if the public, if it had been given the opportunity, would have chosen Red Ruffing, Joe DiMaggio, or Bill Dickey to start Tuesday's game. . . . And this department yields to nobody in its enthusiasm for any of the above mentioned athletes. . . . They have been outstanding in other All-Star games and in world series competition. . . . But they haven't been playing All-Star ball in 1940, which ought to be the measuring stick for this particular enterprise. . . . More than in any other year since the All-Star game was originated, established stars have fallen below their standard, while newcomers or run-of-mine players of other seasons have been dominant. . . . It seems that one of the appealing features of the All-Star game should be the incentive it holds out for distinguished service. . . . It must be discouraging to a player who has burned up the league at bat and afield from opening day until the teams are named for the interleague contest to find that he is ignored in the selections. . . . Bill McKechnie made a host of new friends by his handling of the National league squad. . . . He observed more closely than any of his predecessors the reason for holding an All-Star game. . . . He gave everybody, or almost every one, a chance to shine. . . . And several of them, including Capt. Bill Herman of the Cubs, took full advantage of the opportunity. . . . American Airlines had to run three sections out of St. Louis at 6:20, 6:30, and 6:40 Tuesday evening to accommodate American league players and officials back to the imminent scene of American league action. . . . Luke Appling, who made two of the Americans' three hits, was an honored personage in the 6:30 plane, which included Bill Dickey, Red Ruffing, Charles Keller, Joe DiMaggio, Joe Gordon, Jimmy Foxx, Doc Cramer, Lou Finney, and Moe Berg. . . . Six Cleveland Indians, who left St. Louis 10 minutes ahead of Appling and the Yanks-Red Sox, joined up for the Chicago-New York leg of the trip. . . .

Casey Stengel, manager of the Bees, rates Terry Moore of the Cardinals the best defensive outfielder in baseball. . . . Jimmy Dykes says thru his entire baseball career he never has read sports pages after he has had a bad day. . . . Not one little teentsy peep, James? . . . Buzz Borries, former star half back at the Naval academy, and Lieut. Tom Hamilton, who was his coach at Annapolis, both are aviators with the United States fleet. . . . George Marshall, owner of the Washington Redskins, and Mrs. Marshall were loop visitors yesterday between trains. . . . They are en route to California where they will spend a month's vacation before Marshall joins his football team at its training base in Spokane, Wash. . . . Joe Louis will referee the bout between Jack Trammell and Eddie Blunt in Youngstown Monday night. . . . Clarence Donovan, Indiana's Democratic candidate for secretary of state, was basketball captain and All-Western guard at Notre Dame in 1930. . . . Gabby Hartnett never has caught in a night game and doesn't intend to try it unless an emergency arises. . . . Bob Hope, one of radio's most popular entertainers, isn't bad on baseball quiz programs either, as we learned in St. Louis Tuesday night. . . . The American league, thru its president, William Harridge, reiterated Monday its desire to return the selection of the All-Star teams to the fans. . . . The American league always has favored the fan poll, which was the original plan. . . . Sam Jones, who finished his major league career with the White Sox, is doing relief pitching for Toronto.

When I am with You.

That when I am with you
The years are gone—and I can laugh
As once I used to do.
I feel just like a girl again
With living just begun;
Responsibility is lost
Within an hour of fun.

I often wonder why it is
That you—and you alone
Restore the precious youthful hours
That otherwise have flown.
Perhaps it is because you see
The girl of yesterday
And not the woman that I am
Whose hair is touched with gray.

BEES DEVELOPING A STING; OPPOSE CUBS IN 2 TODAY

French, Passeau to Face Errickson, Sullivan.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

What d'yuh hear from the mob or won't YOU please tell US about those Cubs? We haven't seen them since spring training, when they had a full force and were full of the will to win. We've read hints that the midseason Cubs aren't so hot or so numerous, but surely there's some mistake about this. At any rate, we're going to look them over this afternoon in their double header with the Boston Bees.

The Cubs have whipped the Bees nine times in 11 attempts this year, so the Bees virtually can be credited with keeping the Chicago lads from falling out of the league. Their grand total against the Reds, the Dodgers, and the Giants is only one more victory than they have scored over the Bees alone. So you can see how much the Bees mean to the Cubs.

Bees Mending Ways.

There's one little matter that may establish even the Bees as treacherous. Ambition and verve recently have bobbed up among the Bees. Before the All-Star hiatus, it will be recalled, the Bees played a great series with the Dodgers, knocking the Brooklyns out of first place last Sunday by beating them 1 to 0 and 2 to 1. Such skill as that in the four game series, which opens with two this afternoon, certainly would precipitate havoc in Wrigley field and would make Gabby Hartnett think the Phillies are the only team in the league on which he can depend any more.

Invited to pitch for the Cubs this afternoon are Larry French, fresh from All-Star success, and Claude Passeau. Opposing them will be Dick Errickson and Joe Sullivan.

Max West, hero of the All-Star game in St. Louis Tuesday, who was injured in the second inning after knocking a three run homer before anybody was out in the first inning, has recovered from his bruises and probably will start in center field for Casey Stengel's boys.

RIGNEY FACES BOSTON

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., July 10.—The White Sox arrived in town today, bringing with them an idea which may or not work out to their satisfaction. The idea, carefully nourished by James Dykes, the medicine man, is to further the deflating of the Red Sox's pennant balloon, which is already so well punctured that there is only an outside chance it can rise again.

What irks the White Sox is that they have made practically no contribution to the deflation thus far, altho in their last visit here they did manage to squeeze two victories from four games. But the impending three game series furnishes them a chance to catch up and thus not only improve their own first division prospects, but increase the possibility of a pennant for one western club.

Pitching is Troublesome.

Altho Doc Dykes' white stockinged patients are in fifth place and Joe Cronin's gold plated ensemble is in third, the two directors sing the same blues. It's about pitchers, or rather the lack of them. If Cronin had pitchers he might get along very well in the pennant dispute. And Dykes, if he had pitchers or even if the men he owns would come up to past form, wouldn't have to spend all his time groaning about the discomforts of the second division.

Johnny Rigney, one of the mound workers who hasn't been himself this year, is scheduled to work in tomorrow's opener, followed by Jack Knott and the venerable Ted Lyons. If this program isn't distributed by one or the other suffering acutely before the Red Sox, it will leave a trio made up of Thornton Lee, Eddie Smith and Rigney for the following series at New York.

HORNSBY GIVES DIZZY A GLAMOR ROLE TONIGHT

Fort Worth, Tex., July 10 (AP).—Dizzy Dean, the great pitcher with the tired arm, gets one more curtain call from baseball's fandom tomorrow night. He will toe the mound as the starting pitcher for the northern division in the Texas league's annual All-Star game before an expected throng of 8,000.

Shipped back to the minors only a few weeks ago by the Chicago Cubs after his worn arm failed to respond in major league tests, Diz has a good won and lost record since returning to the Texas league—but the real story has been veiled. Dean has been able to last out only one of five games. Relief pitchers saved him on four occasions.

But he'll get the starting call for a three inning stretch, at least. Rogers Hornsby, another one-time great routed from the majors a few seasons back, put Dean back in the glamor rôle by naming him as his starting pitcher. Hornsby, Oklahoma City manager, is leader of the northern team.

Hawaiians Visit Notre Dame Today; Start Home Tomorrow

BY FRANK MASTRO.

The Hawaiian amateur team, which met the Catholic Youth organization's finest boxers in Soldiers' field last night, will leave tomorrow on the California Limited of the Rock Island railroad on the first leg of its return to Honolulu. Before departing the boys will be taken on a sightseeing trip in South Bend today, Notre Dame being the chief item of interest. They also will be the guests of Don Ameche, screen star, on their arrival in Hollywood. The visitors will board the Matson liner, Lurline, for their homeland on July 18.

Jack Dempsey arrived at Municipal airport on a T. W. A. air liner yesterday afternoon to referee one of last night's matches. He was accompanied by Max Waxman, his business manager. Wherever he went the former heavyweight champion stopped traffic. Dempsey, who seldom receives less than $750 for a refereeing job, donated his services last night.

The 100 piece C. Y. O. band, under the direction of Anthony Inorio, marched into the big lake front stadium, followed by the Organization's drum and bugle corps.

Msgr. John O'Grady, national director of the Congress of Catholic Charities, was an early arrival. He was accompanied by the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, head of the C. Y. O., and United States District Attorney William Campbell. State's Attorney Courtney also appeared before the first bout.

GRAY JACK WINS ARLINGTON PARK STRETCH DUEL

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Gray Jack and Al Au Feu, veterans of many a spirited finish on Chicago race tracks, sparked up Arlington Park's program yesterday with one of the best stretch drives of the meeting. Head and head with the pace-setter, Little Tramp, these two swung around the last turn in the Calumet City purse. Nose and nose they charged toward the finish line, shaking off Little Tramp as they went. They flashed under the wire with Gray Jack the winner by inches.

All the way from the turn, they had been so close together that Jockey Carroll Bierman had to use his whip in his left hand to urge Gray Jack on without interfering with Al Au Feu.

A field of six horses of the $3,500 class went to the post in this mile race. Gray Jack was the favorite, at 5 to 2, Al Au Feu being the 4 to 1 third choice. As they came down the chute, Little Tramp went to the front. At this stage Al Au Feu and Gray Jack were running well back. Gray Jack began moving up swiftly on the turn, however, and Al Au Feu, racing on the outside, came right along. They came alongside Little Tramp as they rounded the turn. Then came their spectacular duel to the finish line. Gray Jack returned $7.40, $4.60, and $3.20.

Two Calumet Juveniles Score.

It was a big day for juvenile home breds from Calumet farm. Ben Jones saddled Swell Chance and Jan One, a son and daughter, respectively, of one of the Calumet stallions, Chance Play. Swell Chance, making the first start of his career, won a five and a half furlong dash for maidens of the $3,000 class, and Jan One scored in a sprint of the same distance in the $2,000 division.

Swell Chance was more than a match for his seven rivals. Breaking from the outside post position, he moved swiftly into a contending position, came around the pacesetters on the turn, and drew clear in the last furlong. He beat Mexicana by more than a length, Onemore being third.

Moslem Repeats.

Jan One, having considerably more experience than her stablemate, had scored one victory, a second, and a third in her six previous starts. Saving ground all the way along the rail, she passed Cleo Greenock on the stretch turn, drew out to a commanding lead, and won by three lengths while Momence was taking second and Texas Way third. Those who bet on Jan One collected $13.80, $6.20, and $3.80.

Moslem scored his second victory of the Arlington meeting by leading the field home in the fifth race, a dash of a mile which drew a field of seven. After running in a contending position all the way down the back stretch, he moved past Miss Coed on the turn and outran Night Lady in the scamper to the finish, winning by three lengths.

GOLFING SCHOOL TEACHER LOSES IN COUNTY MEET

Mrs. Sick Victor, 3 and 1; Semi-Finals Today.

Mrs. Evelyn Moore of Navajo Fields, defending champion; Miss Mildred Wright of Jackson Park, Mrs. Bernie Sick of Crystal Lawn, and Miss Elaine Sorenson of Big Oaks advanced to the semi-final round of the 26th annual Women's Cook County golf tournament in Jackson park yesterday.

Mrs. Moore defeated Mrs. Belle Meany of Green Diamond golf range, 5 and 3; Miss Wright defeated Mrs. Betty Johnson of Sko-Lake Fairways, 2 and 1; Mrs. Sick defeated Miss Florence McCoy of Lincolnshire, 2 and 1, and Miss Sorenson defeated Mrs. Louis Kuehnle of Lincolnshire, 1 up.

Mrs. Moore Wins on 15th.

Playing in a broiling sun, Mrs. Moore eliminated Mrs. Meany at the 15th green. After exchanging three holes on the first nine, where the champion posted a medal score of 37, three over par, against Mrs. Meany's 39, Mrs. Moore won the next two holes. Her opponent missed a wood shot at the 10th and was short on her approach at the 11th. She was definitely out of the match after putting an iron among the bushes at the 14th and halving the next hole in par 5s.

Mrs. Sick, who fired a 76 Tuesday in eliminating Mrs. Marion Drebing of Navajo Fields, came back yesterday with a medal score of 36-41-77 to defeat Miss McCoy, the golfing school teacher from Lincolnshire. Summaries:

COLLEEN RALLIES TO WIN

South Bend, Ind., July 10 [Special].—Miss Quinlan, a chubby young Irish girl from St. Paul, Minn., scorched the fairways on the back nine at the South Bend Country club today as thoroly as did a broiling July sun as she rallied to defeat Margaret Gunther of Memphis, Tenn., 1 up in 20 holes, in her second round match in the Women's Western Golf association's Junior tournament.

After losing the first six holes and apparently heading for the side lines, Ming Quinlan started a comeback drive that was more amazing than her great rally on Tuesday when she ousted the tournament medalist, Miss Phyllis Otte of Atlantic, Ia. She halved the seventh and eighth holes, and stood 5 down at the turn after winning the ninth with a par 4.

20th Hole Disastrous.

Miss Quinlan's triumph on the turn green was a sample of what was to follow. She had the major portion of the gallery scampering at her heels as she won the 10th, 11th and 12th holes to shave her rival's margin to 3 up. As Miss Quinlan found her short game on the back nine, it was the bank facing of Miss Gunther's irons that consistently had the Tennessean in distress. They halved the 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th holes, but Miss Quinlan took the 17th and 18th to square the match.

Disaster engulfed Miss Gunther on the 20th hole. Her drive caught the rough, and her recovery landed in a trap. She slashed in the sand to waste the three blows and finally picked up. Miss Quinlan, meantime, sunk her second shot and holed out for a par 4 and the match.

Quinlan vs. Cline.

Miss Quinlan will meet Miss Jean Cline of Bloomington, Ill., in one of the semi-final matches tomorrow. In the other, Mae Louise Davisson, Leesburg, Ind., will meet Georgia Tainter of Fargo, N. D.

Miss Davisson ousted Betty Jane Hasmerde of St. Louis, 4 and 3, today; Miss Tainter eliminated Edell Worts of Fort Smith, Ark., 3 and 2, and Miss Cline downed Virginia Smith of Milwaukee, 7 and 5.

C.Y.O. Boxing Team Defeats Hawaiians, 8-3

ica" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Hawaii got away to a winning start when Paul Inamine, invading flyweight, whipped Harold Dade of the C. Y. O. There were no knockdowns, altho Dade slipped on the slick canvas in the second round. This bout started immediately after the ceremonies despite a brisk shower.

Inamine carried the fight to Dade in the third round and the Chicagoan held too frequently to get the decision. Inamine overcame a handicap in height and reach with greater stamina.

Brown Breaks Thru.

Richard Chinen, 20 year old Japanese from Hilo, Hawaii, took the second bout after a furious slugfest with Chicago's Al Noto. The C. Y. O. flyweight was the superior boxer, but he could not check Chinen's furious rushes. In the closing minute of the second round, and again in the third round, Chinen broke thru with a right hand to the face that staggered Noto. It was Chinen's 32rd victory in 30 matches.

Ray Brown, southside Chicago youngster, who holds the Golden Gloves championship, whipped Henry Oshiro, rugged Hawaiian bantamweight, for the first Chicago victory. Brown turned in a masterful performance, stabbing his Japanese opponent off balance and following through smartly with a staggering right cross. His victory was clean cut despite the vicious third round rally by Oshiro.

Tony Bausone, the other C. Y. O. bantamweight, evened the score by licking Chester Ling, 23 year old Chinese boy, who was awarded the trophy for "the gamest fighter" in the 1940 National A. A. U. tournament in Boston.

Hawaii Regains Lead.

Hawaii went back into the lead when Salvador Leboy, 126 pounder, hammered out a decision over Jack Ballangee. Leboy, who won a National A. A. U. junior title three years ago, was the aggressor and did not seem to mind the slippery, rain-drenched canvas.

Frank Bausone turned on the power in the final round of his match with rangy William Gonzales, counter punching and following with a two-fisted attack to the head. Bausone clearly outclassed the boy from Honolulu. Gonzales, as had his immediate predecessors, fought with one foot bare to prevent slipping. Bausone's victory again deadlocked the score.

Eddie O'Connell, lightweight from the C. Y. O. received the decision over Frank Fernandes. The result was greeted with evenly divided applause and boos. O'Connell fought furiously in close thruout and while he tired in the last round, he had the better of the first and second. This match was

B. F. LINDHEIMER DENIES BIDDING ON SPORTSMAN'S

Benjamin F. Lindheimer, one of the officers of the Arlington Park and Washington Park race tracks, yesterday denied a report that he had made a bid for the Sportsman's Park track.

"I have made no offer for the Sportsman's Park property and have no interest in racing on half mile tracks," Lindheimer said.

It is understood that a syndicate headed by John L. Rosenthal, prominent trucking company executive, is negotiating for the purchase of Sportsman's Park, which was denied racing dates this year pending the appointment of a successor to Edward O'Hare, track president, who was murdered shortly after the close of the meeting last autumn.

It is reported that the present stockholders would be willing to dispose of their holdings for $500,000. It is said no prospective purchaser to date has been willing to go much above half that sum.

WESTERN UNION HAS PROFIT FOR MAY, 5 MONTHS

Nets $935,701; Had Loss a Year Earlier.

Western Union Telegraph company yesterday reported net income for the five months ended May 31 of $935,701, or 89 cents a share on 1,045,592 shares, compared with a net loss of $667,103 for the same 1939 period. May net income was listed at $480,223, against $126,529 for same month last year.

R. B. White.

R. B. White, president, said that the upward trend of revenue continued to keep pace with general business. Altho the spread of war in Europe has caused complete suspension of communications with some countries, cable revenues currently are exceeding those during the corresponding period of 1939, he reported.

Cable Income 10% of Total.

While further developments abroad might curtail international communications even more, Western Union cable revenues constitute less than 10 per cent of the company's entire revenue, White added.

American Telephone & Telegraph company announced net income for May of $661,710, against $375,449 for May, 1939. For the five months ended May 31, net income amounted to $47,808,555, compared with $40,752,480 in the corresponding span last year.

Dividends received from subsidiary and other companies, which constitute the major part of the company's income, it was explained, are not accrued in the accounts monthly but are included usually in March, June, September, and December. Consequently, it was said, the net income reported for any month does not accurately reflect the rate of earnings of the company.

Postal Loss Is $1,119,920.

Net loss of $1,119,920 for the five months ended May 31 was announced for Postal Telegraph, Inc., formed early this year to own companies comprising the Postal land line system, and subsidiaries. May net loss amounted to $200,321.

Since Postal Telegraph, Inc. had not commenced business under its new corporate setup until Jan. 31, revenues and expenses for January were included only for present subsidiaries of the company, Edwin F. Chinlund, president, said.

Chicago Mill and Lumber company reported net earnings for the six months ended June 30, before federal income tax provisions, of $380,485, contrasted with a loss of $33,080 for the corresponding 1939 period. Sales for the first six months were more than 28 per cent higher than those last year, according to R. L. McClelland, president.

BLUE RIDGE ASSETS DIP.

Net assets of Blue Ridge corporation, an investing concern, amounted to $24,036,615 on June 30, equal to $61.51 a share of preference stock and 33 cents a common share, as compared with March 31 net assets of $31,194,663, or $79.60 a preferred share and $1.27 a common share.

ALLIS-CHALMERS.

I read a newspaper report from Milwaukee the other day that Allis-Chalmers is getting orders to make gun parts. That would indicate the company will be able to use some of its extra plant capacity to greater advantage. I am interested in buying some of its stock and would like to have a financial report on the company.—G. R.

Answer: Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company is a leading producer of farm and industrial machinery. Sales of farm equipment and tractors produce about 60 per cent of total revenues; electrical machinery, 25 per cent, and industrial, 15 per cent.

Because of the large dependence upon agricultural sales, the company's revenues are influenced considerably by the trend of farm income. Earnings have fluctuated widely. Consolidated net income, earnings per share and dividends per share in recent years follow:

	Net income.	Earned per shr.	Dividends per shr.
1936	4,014,000	2.27	$1.50
1937	7,841,000	4.42	3.50
1938	3,554,000	1.44	1.50
1939	3,730,000	2.09	1.25

Net income in the first 1940 quarter was $969,869, or 55 cents a common share, against $710,277 or 40 cents a share in the first 1939 quarter.

Dividends on the common stock, which currently comprises 1,776,092 shares of no par value, have been paid since 1920, with the exception of 1933 thru 1935. Two payments of 25 cents each were made this year on March 30 and June 29. Funded debt of $25,321,500 completes the capitalization.

At the end of the first 1940 quarter current assets of the company amounted to $60,238,567 against current liabilities of $9,918,268.

FINANCE COMPANIES.

What is the function of finance companies?—D. G.

Answer: Finance companies provide business enterprises with additional working capital by purchasing or discounting commercial receivables [including promissory notes, accounts receivable, and acceptances], by advancing funds to dealers with which to buy goods from wholesalers or manufacturers, by financing installment sales, or by loans secured by merchandise.

EXCESS PROFITS TAX BILL WILL REPEAL LIMITS

No Decision Made on Basis of Levy.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 10.—The forthcoming administration bill for steep excess profits taxes will repeal the profit limitations on military contracts imposed by the Vinson-Trammell act and will allow amortization of national defense expansion over a five-year period, it was decided today at a White House tax conference.

No decision has been reached so far on the basis of the excess profits tax, however—that is, whether it will be based upon a certain return on invested capital or upon "normal" earnings over a period of years.

Hope for Use of Both.

The invested capital base was used during the world war period. It has been hoped that both methods of tax computation might be allowed as alternatives to provide flexibility for the many variations necessarily found in a blanket tax on corporations and individuals, such as President Roosevelt has requested.

Commenting upon the agreement reached at the conference a White House statement said:

"It was unanimously agreed by those attending that the excess profits tax bill soon to be introduced will incorporate a provision for amortization over a five year period of additional facilities, including both plant and equipment, certified as immediately necessary for national defense purposes by the army and navy and advisory commission of the national defense counsel.

Applies to All Industries.

"It also was unanimously agreed that the proposed excess profits tax bill, which will apply generally to all industries, will be substituted for the excess profits provisions of the Vinson-Trammell act which now apply only to army and navy aircraft and naval vessels.

"The contemplated action is expected not only to simplify the multiple tax problems of prospective contractors but to greatly clarify their future tax liabilities.

"The conferees were agreed that the plan is certain to result in an appreciable acceleration of the national defense program. At the same time it is intended that there be no substantial sacrifice of revenues accruing to the United States treasury."

Knudsen at Conference.

Those attending today's conference with President Roosevelt were Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., Assistant Secretary John L. Sullivan, Edward Foley, general counsel of the treasury; Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.], chairman of the senate finance committee; Representative Jere Cooper [D., Tenn.], chairman of house ways and means subcommittee on internal revenue; William Knudsen of the national defense advisory commission, and Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones.

The Vinson-Trammell act provides that profits on contracts for military aircraft and vessels be limited to 8 per cent of the contract price or 8.7 per cent of the costs, whichever is lower, if the contract was awarded at a fixed price. The limitation amounts to 7 per cent of cost on any contract awarded on a cost plus fixed fee basis.

The army and navy have opposed the profit limitations since they were first enacted in 1934. Aircraft and shipbuilding companies have opposed them on the grounds that they interfered with subcontracting.

Expected to Speed Work.

Settlement of the amortization problem is expected to expedite the work on defense contracts. Many army and navy contracts, including those on 4,000 army planes were delayed pending a decision on the amortization of expansion costs. Some ordnance contracts are also ready for signature now that the period of amortization has been agreed upon.

Today's agreement means that the costs of additional plants and equipment procured especially for the national defense program may be written off completely over a period of five years, a company constructing a plant recovering its investment out of tax-free earnings at the end of that period. It is also understood that the amortization charges need not be uniform in each of the five years.

Officials still are very uncertain about the details of the tax bill, such as possible action by the treasury if a national defense plant has a useful value at the completion of the five year amortization period.

During the world war the treasury was allowed to make readjustments in the allowances and this led to prolonged tax litigation, some of which is still pending.

President Acts to Bar Express Agency Strike

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 10.—President Roosevelt today acted to postpone for at least 60 days a strike of 30,000 employés of the Railway Express agency called for Friday. The President exercised authority granted by the railway labor act in ordering the postponement.

George M. Harrison.

The presidential intervention was announced barely 20 minutes after George M. Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship clerks, disclosed that the express agency employés would go on strike at 5 a. m. Friday for a 44 hour week.

Charges Discrimination.

In a statement to the press, Harrison said:

"On March 1 the Railway Express agency granted to about 5,000 of its employés the 44-hour work week, but declines to extend similar consideration to 30,000 additional employés, members of the Brotherhood of Railway clerks, freight handlers, express and station employés."

Harrison said he had been "unable to compose this dispute thru mediation and a strike will occur because the employés will not continue to work under this unjustifiable discrimination."

Sets Up Three Member Board.

The President acted after he was notified by the national mediation board of the dispute between the union and the express agency.

Pointing out that the strike threatened substantially to "interrupt interstate commerce to a degree such as to deprive the country of essential transportation service," the President issued a proclamation setting up a three member board to investigate the dispute.

This action, under the act, binds all parties to maintain the status quo for the 30 days during which the board will investigate the situation, and for another 30 days after the board's report is made to the President.

Mr. Roosevelt did not immediately appoint the members of the board, but he was expected to do so shortly. They will get $75 per day for their services and additional allowances for their expenses.

EXPAND NASH PLANTS AS COMPANY PLANS TO OFFER LOW PRICE CAR

Nash-Kelvinator corporation, Detroit, Mich., has a $6,500,000 plant expansion program under way in its Milwaukee and Kenosha factories and will soon enter the low priced automobile field with a new car, it is was learned yesterday.

H. J. Mellum, secretary of the company, confirmed the report but said he had nothing further to add. He said announcements would be issued in a few days.

It was understood the new car will be introduced next fall and will sell at a lower price than the company's former light model, the Lafayette. Mellum said the company will continue to manufacture its other lines.

The plant expansions are for the purpose of modernizing and providing the facilities for mass production of the new car, it was said. Mellum said official announcement of the move would be made from the Detroit office.

CHICAGO STEEL RATE HIGHEST FOR TEN YEARS

Steel mills in the Chicago district have reached an operating rate of 95 per cent of capacity this week, the highest since 1929 and exceeding by one point the peak of last fall, the magazine Iron Age reported yesterday. The rate for the entire industry was estimated at 87½ per cent.

Shipments of finished steel products by the United States Steel corporation in June amounted to 1,209,684 net tons, an increase of 125,627 over the May total of 1,084,057 and a gain of 402,122 over the 807,562 of June, 1939, it was announced yesterday. The shipments in June this year were the largest since December, 1939.

Treasury 600 Million Loan Put on Market

The United States treasury yesterday announced the public offering of $600,000,000 of bonds, as other developments indicated a renewal of interest in the investment market.

Treasury officials reported that an additional $50,000,000 of obligations would be sold to government investment accounts during the next month.

The issue offered publicly will be dated July 22 and bear interest at 2¼ per cent annually. The bonds will mature June 15, 1956, but may be redeemed at the option of the government at any time after June 15, 1954.

This is the longest-term issue to be offered by the treasury since $894,000,000 of 22 to 27 year bonds were sold in March, 1939. In the meantime, $1,118,000,000 of 12 to 14 year bonds were sold last December.

A preferential allotment arrangement has been made in connection with the new issue for investors of moderate means seeking $5,000 or less of the bonds.

Indianapolis Power & Light company entered the investment market with $32,000,000 of 3¼ per cent first mortgage bonds, offered at 104½ by a banking group headed by Lehman Brothers, Goldman, Sachs & Co., and the First Boston corporation. Proceeds of the issue, due in 1970, will be used to retire an equal amount of outstanding 3¾ per cent bonds due in 1968.

Premiums were commanded by two large corporate issues placed on sale yesterday morning—the $60,000,000 of Texas corporation 3 per cent debentures due in 1965 and the $10,000,000 of Scoville Manufacturing company ten-year 3¼ per cent debentures.

FORECAST CORN CROP WILL RUN ABOVE AVERAGE

Wheat Is Estimated Below Normal.

Corn production will be better than average and total wheat production will be less than normal in the United States for 1940, the department of agriculture indicated yesterday in estimates based on crop conditions prevailing on July 1.

The corn crop was estimated at 2,415,998,000 bushels, slightly lower than the average of private estimates issued last week, about 8 per cent below last year's crop of 2,619,137,000 bushels, but 5 per cent larger than the 10 year average [1929-'38] of 2,299,342,000 bushels.

Total wheat production was set at 728,644,000 bushels, about 26 million bushels below last year's total crop of 754,971,000 bushels and the 10 year average of 754,685,000 bushels.

Carryover is Larger.

This drop in wheat production, however, is more than offset by a carryover from last year of 280 million bushels. Normal carryover is 175 million bushels.

Winter wheat estimates have climbed sharply and prospects for the spring crop have dwindled since the government issued its June 1 statement of condition and acreage.

Yesterday's winter wheat estimate was 523,990,000 bushels, while as of June 1, department of agriculture experts forecast a crop of 488,858,000 bushels. The new prediction compares with the average private estimate of 495,000,000 bushels, production of 563,431,000 bushels last year and 571,067,000 bushels—the 10 year average.

The July 1 spring wheat estimate was 204,654,000 bushels, against 239,000,000 indicated as of June 1. Last year 191,540,000 bushels were produced, the 10 year average was 183,619,000 bushels, and the average private estimate as of July 1 was 204,000,000 bushels.

Big Surplus Available.

On the basis of the estimate, and allowing for domestic consumption and normal carryover, the United States will have an exportable surplus of 163,644,000 bushels of wheat.

However, since the government's July 1 estimate was completed, lack of rain and hot winds in the grain belt have done much damage to spring crops and moisture has become a necessity, according to grain experts.

Durum wheat, included in spring wheat estimates by the government experts, was forecast to yield 34,954,000 bushels, compared with 34,360,000 last year and a 10-year average of 29,619,000 bushels.

Oats production was estimated at 1,031,622,000 bushels, compared with 937,215,000 bushels last year and the 10-year average of 1,024,852,000 bushels. Private estimates averaged 1,027,-

War Aids Chicago Business, Wholesale Survey Discloses

BY AL CHASE.

Chicago's wholesale district already is benefitting from the European war's stoppage of imports and the resultant activity of New York firms seeking new sources of merchandise in this area. This was disclosed yesterday in a supplementary occupancy study made by the Chicago Wholesale District Property Owners' Committee, Inc., of which Irving Parsons is managing director. The new study complements the original survey of wholesale district conditions published last month.

Irving Parsons.

The war benefits were advanced by the committee as reasons for a general modernization program for the wholesale district to supply better accommodations to present and prospective tenants.

"Facing Period of Inflation."

"We believe," the survey says, "that a general program of rehabilitation might conservatively be considered at this time because:

"1. We are facing or about to face the beginning of a period of inflation.

"2. With this inflation the trades indigenous to the district will wish to expand and many new firms will establish, while others may be induced to move from their present locations to locations in this area, if suitable space is obtainable.

"3. New York purchasing organizations, such as the Associated Merchandising corporation, representing the combined purchasing facilities of 15 or 20 retail stores thruout the United States, and others of similar importance, are increasing their Chicago personnel, anticipating the immediate necessity of finding and developing new resources for merchandise in this area, because of the practically complete stoppage of imports."

Seek Substitutes Here.

According to Parsons the eastern concerns which are enlarging their personnel or contemplating doing so purchase all types of general merchandise sold in department stores.

"New York buyers are looking to the middle west for American substitutes for all kinds of goods formerly imported. For example, chinaware that used to be brought into this country from Czechoslovakia and England is no longer obtainable. Fabrics from England, art goods from France, and other merchandise will have to be substituted with American made products. Much of this demand will be supplied by middle west concerns."

Muskrateers Get a Break—in Sulphur, Oil

Detroit, Mich., July 10 [Special].—Five thousand Michigan investors who played sucker in a Louisiana muskrat farm stock promotion scheme in 1928 stand to cash in their chips for $4,000,000 to $6,000,000, with more to come, if a decision today in federal court by Judge Arthur F. Lederle is upheld in the Cincinnati Appeals court.

Judge Lederle held that stockholders of the Mount Forest Fur Farms of America are entitled to royalties on $25,000,000 worth of sulphur and $2,000,000 worth of oil taken since 1930, from their original holdings of 52,000 acres of Louisiana swamp land.

The Mount Forest company bought the land from Ernest Cockrell of Houston, Tex., as a place for their muskrats to roam over and grow fur. But the company failed when pelt prices dropped after the 1929 crash. Cockrell then leased the lands to the Freeport Sulphur company and the Humble Oil company. The former found sulphur and the latter oil.

The stockholders then formed a combination and brought a suit which has been kicking around in federal court for years. Today Judge Lederle held that the muskrat investors had not lost their rights to the land and were entitled to seven-eighths of the royalties.

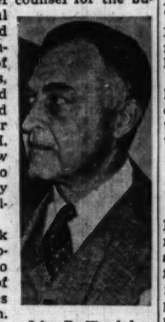
Frank Fitzgerald, attorney for the muskrateers, estimates that past royalties will run between $4,000,000 and $6,000,000 and that future ones will net $1,600,000 a year.

CONTROLER GENERAL POST REPORTED GOING TO JOHN P. WENCHEL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 10.—John P. Wenchel, chief counsel for the bureau of internal revenue, is slated to become controler general of the United States, it was reported today. He would succeed former Senator Fred H. Brown of New Hampshire who resigned recently after a long illness.



John P. Wenchel.

Just last week Mr. Roosevelt appointed Brown to be a member of the United States tariff commission.

The change meant an increase of $1,000 per year salary for Brown, a tariff commissioner getting $11,000 against $10,000 for the controler general. The latter, however, was a 15 year appointment made on March 30, 1939, after Brown, a New Dealer, was defeated for re-election to the senate.

WAR AND PEACE AWARDS SPUR INDUSTRIAL RISE

Rail Engines, Plane Motors Ordered.

Industry received new stimulation yesterday with reports of orders for defense and commercial programs and announcements of plant expansions under way or planned. Included were orders for 35 Diesel locomotives and 400 airplane engines.

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad was understood to have placed an order with Electro-Motive corporation, La Grange, Ill., for 25 Diesel-electric switching locomotives. The order was not formally announced by the road and an estimate of the cost was not available at Electro-Motive offices.

Edward W. Scheer, president, said the Reading railroad will buy 10 Diesel switching engines soon for use in its Philadelphia terminal. Seven will be 600 horse power and three 900, he said.

Canada Orders Engines.

The Menasco Manufacturing company, Los Angeles, announced a $680,000 order for 400 airplane engines from the Canadian government. They will be installed in training planes being manufactured in Canada. Delivery is expected to start next month.

American Car & Foundry company was reported to have been low bidder on 627 tanks for the United States government. The bids were opened Monday at the Rock Island arsenal. The business will involve between 10 and 12 million dollars, it was estimated on the basis of awards on similar tanks late in 1939.

More than 20,000 tons of steel pipe have been ordered by Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company from the National Tube company, subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation.

Award Navy Contracts.

The United States navy awarded the following contracts:

Mine Safety Appliances company, Pittsburgh, Pa., $207,722 for submarine escape apparatus; Felix Spatola and Sons, Philadelphia, Pa., $22,979 for beans, peas, and tomatoes; Worthington Pump and Machinery company, Washington, D. C., $59,760 for pumps; Drueding Brothers company, Philadelphia, Pa., $13,684 for chamois skins; the A. Lietz company, San Francisco, Cal., $11,495 for sounding machines; James Fyfe, New York, $24,178 for manila fibre; Mitsui & Co., Ltd., New York, $2,012 for manila fibre; American Metal Company, Ltd., New York, $33,150 for copper, and C-O-Two Fire Equipment company, Newark, N. J., $118,978 for fire extinguishers.

The navy also let a contract of $15,400 for services of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, Mass.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Stocks.

New York, July 10 (AP).—Utility holding company stocks took the lead in a slow moving market today and some pushed ahead 2 or 3 points.

Interest in utility shares seemed to have been excited in part by the forthcoming presidential battle. In addition, brokers asserted, electric power consumption has been rising with the improvement of business.

War stocks mostly moved lower despite President Roosevelt's proposal for nearly 5 billion dollars additional defense spending, making a total of 10 billions at this session.

Dowa fractions to around a point at the close were Douglas, Bethlehem, United Aircraft, Sperry, American Smelting, Anaconda, Goodyear, and Phelps-Dodge.

Ignoring the strength in the power group, American Telephone sold off more than a point. Standard Oil of New Jersey rose 1⅜ to close at 34⅝ on the appearance of the company's first interim report.

An early upturn in steel shares, encouraged by trade reports the industry's operations probably would hold at a high level for some time, bogged down. Industrial news generally was rated favorable, with indications the defense program eventually would lead to substantial factory expansion, but the speculative markets apparently paid scant attention to business news for the time being.

New York Bonds.

New York, July 10 (AP).—The bond market got most of its strength today from railroad liens which recorded in the averages their eighth consecutive rise. Every business day in July except the first the carrier bonds have gained some ground. The Associated Press average closed at 56.5, which compares with 54.4 July 1, and 48.5 just prior to the June-July rally.

Other corporate groups mulled about narrowly. United States government loans showed some advances running to 11/32ds. Italian and Norway bonds marked up big gains as French, Japanese, and some British dominion issues declined.

Up fractions to around 2½ points at the close were Boston and Maine 5s of '67 at 61⅞, and 5s of '55 at 63½; International Hydro-Electric 6s at 45½, Delaware and Hudson refunding 4s at 52¾, Peoria and Eastern first 4s at 66⅝, Nickel Plate 5½ at 64, and Southern Railway 4s at 56½.

Chicago Stocks.

Commonwealth Edison stock continued as the volume leader on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Of the 12,000 shares traded, 1,450 were Commonwealth Edison. It closed ¼ point lower. There were slightly more declines than gains in the 64 issues traded.

Bank Stocks.

American National and Northern Trust shares advanced two points yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Chicago Title gained a point and Continental Illinois a quarter point. Harris Trust dipped two points and First National was off a point. City National was unchanged.

CANTERING HOBBY HORSE BIDS FOR BUYERS' FAVOR

One of Many Furniture Show Entries.

A hobbyhourse that, contrary to the habits of hobbyhorses, actually goes places was exhibited in the Merchandise Mart yesterday by Miss Eleanor Schramm of Niles Center. Toy Market, the manufacturer, displayed the hobbyhorse as part of the international homefurnishings show which is in session.

Miss Schramm bounced on the uncomplaining horse and the steel spring action carried her across the floor at a canter. A steering apparatus is provided but no brakes. [Note to fathers: It works for adults as well as children.]

Show Electric Stove.

T. B. Swartzbaugh company presented an electric stove with a control board like the instrument panel on a transport plane that does everything but mix pancake batter.

One gadget can be adjusted to turn on the heat at a certain time, vary the temperature to the required degree at stipulated intervals and turn off the oven at the time set.

Another clocklike arrangement can be set to cook any article for a few minutes, solving the boiled egg problem. When the two, three or five minute period has passed an alarm rings.

New Plaid Furniture.

In the furniture line, Robert Dorr, a designer for E. Wiener company, Milwaukee, has produced a living room set that is finished in plaid. Model Joan Hoff demonstrated how the modern woman will soon be buying her clothes to match her furniture.

Manning-Bowman company demonstrated a table broiler, suitable for steaks, chops, and other broiled foods. One of its advantages is the absence of smoke, the manufacturer said.

Another company, Knapp-Monarch, is showing a quadruple waffle iron for the hungry and impatient family. The unit makes four waffles at the same time.

The Bigelow company presented a rug which is made of half rayon and half wool. Introduction of rayon into the carpeting field will tend to stabilize the wool market, which has become restricted with the spread of the war, the company said.

The exhibition is not open to the public.

HOUSE APPROVES FEDERAL MARINE INSURANCE BILL

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP).—The house today voted $40,000,000 to establish under the maritime commission a government-underwritten system of marine risk and war risk insurance. The bill was passed by unanimous consent and without debate. It then was sent to the senate for expected early action.

The house trimmed the original request of the maritime commission for $50,000,000 with the explanation that it considered $40,000,000 ample to start the fund and that further amounts could be provided if needed. Premiums and operating revenue also will go into the fund.

The insurance plan is modeled after the war risk insurance act of the world war, under which over $2,000,000,000 in marine insurance was written, and from which the government realized a net profit of $17,500,000.

The system permits the commission not only to insure marine risks directly when insurance is not available at reasonable rates in the private market, but to reinsure its risks in the private market, or to reinsure risks assumed by private underwriters, thus affording a three-way protection.

THREE AIR LINES REPORT TRAFFIC GAINS FOR JUNE

Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., reported an all-time record of 14,882,661 revenue passenger miles flown in a single month. Traffic on the line increased 50.3 per cent above the same month in 1939.

Charles Beard, vice president of Braniff Airways, reported passenger business nearly doubled that of June, 1939. The line's planes flew 3,076,333 revenue passenger miles during the month.

Pennsylvania-Central Airlines reported 4,012,498 revenue passenger miles flown in June, a gain of 93.99 per cent over June last year.

California Perishables Arrive on Fast Schedule

The first shipment of California perishable freight handled under the new fast schedule between west coast concentration points and Chicago, arrived here yesterday over the Chicago and North Western railway, according to J. R. Clyde, the road's general perishable agent. Connections were made for shipping part of the merchandise to eastern destinations. The shipment left California on Friday.

Sharp Increase Reported in Retail Auto Financing

Washington, D. C., July 10 [Special].—The dollar volume of retail financing of new passenger automobiles was 24.2 per cent larger in May than a year earlier, and 92.6 per cent above the level of May, 1938, the department of commerce reported today. Compared with April, 1940, there was an increase of 2.1 per cent,

Miss Eleanor Schramm of Niles Center has the last laugh on those who said a hobby horse would never travel. She is demonstrating the rock and roll hobby horse on exhibit at the Merchandise Mart.

WAR AND PEACE AWARDS SPUR INDUSTRIAL RISE

understood to be negotiating with the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation for the purchase of a part of the latter's plant in Monessen, Pa., where the main works of the Pittsburgh company are located. The sale, it was said, would be in line with plans of United States Steel to dispose of properties no longer required in the diversification of the manufacturing activities of subsidiary companies, including Carnegie-Illinois.

The Mesta Machine company, Pittsburgh, was awarded a contract for a cold reduction mill which will be the first major extension of the Carnegie-Illinois Irvin works near Pittsburgh.

May Operate Arms Plant.

As national defense activity was accelerated, reports in the steel trade indicated that Carnegie-Illinois Steel may soon begin operating the $25,000,000 United States naval ordnance plant in South Charleston, W. Va.

The giant plant has been idle since its completion in 1920 except for the operation since May, 1939, of certain heat treating furnaces by Carnegie-Illinois.

A steel company spokesman said he had not been officially advised of any operations arrangement. It was learned, however, a contract has been let for steam boilers in the ordnance plant's machine shop.

Orders for 18 motor coaches were received by the A. C. F. Motors company, New York, from several transportation companies.

Plan du Pont Expansion.

E. J. du Pont de Nemours & Co. is acquiring about 800 acres near Morgantown, W. Va., as a site for plant expansion, it was announced. Construction plans are indefinite.

Champion Paper and Fibre company announced it has increased its production of printing paper substantially with the beginning of operations at a new mill in Houston, Tex.

START CHICAGO TO AUSTRALIA AIR MAIL TODAY

Air mail service from Chicago to New Zealand and Australia will start today with flights by three major airlines to Los Angeles and San Francisco, connecting with Clipper ships of Pan American Airways for the initial trans-Pacific flight tomorrow. Passengers and air express are scheduled to be carried within a few weeks.

The schedule, operating on a fortnightly basis, will bring Australasia only five days from Chicago, compared with the present 17 day steamship service from California. The new 7,224 mile service will be routed from Los Angeles to Honolulu, then across the South Pacific to Canton Island, French New Caledonia and Auckland, New Zealand. A British air service is available from Auckland to Sidney, Australia.

The Clipper planes will also take on mail and, eventually, passengers at San Francisco before calling at Los Angeles. The service will mark Pan American's first scheduled flight into the South Pacific.

Transcontinental and Western Air, United Air Lines and American Airlines will make Chicago mail connections with the Clippers.

Egg Futures Quiet; Prices Rise in Wholesale Mart

Egg futures closed unchanged yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Advances in wholesale prices for eggs ranged to ¾ cent a dozen. Distributive centers reported dealers had withdrawn some eggs from refrigerated warehouses to supply part of the retail trade, movement out of storage last week exceeding input for the first time this season.

Pound Declines 4 Cents to $3.74 in New York City

The British pound declined 4 cents to $3.74 yesterday in terms of the United States dollar in foreign exchange dealings in New York. The Canadian dollar remained unchanged at 85⅛ cents and the Swiss franc gained .01 of a cent to close at 22.68 cents.

Money in Circulation Rises to All Time High Record

Washington, D. C., July 10 [Special.]—American currency totaling $7,847,195,507 was in circulation on June 30, the treasury department reported today. This appeared to be an all-time record on the basis of data immediately available. The previous high point of $7,679,000,000 was reached last December, according to reports published at the time.

DROUTH CAUSES SOME CORN CROP DETERIORATION

Condition Generally Good in Most Areas.

Dry weather over most of the main grain producing area during the last week caused deterioration in the corn crop in several sections, the weather bureau reported yesterday. Condition of the crop is generally good, however.

Harvesting of winter wheat, oats and barley made rapid progress. Hay has been gathered in good condition. Small grain crops in the northwest deteriorated some due to dry weather and above normal temperatures, and spring wheat in North Dakota is in poor condition, the bureau said.

Need Rain in Illinois.

The weather bureau reported lack of rain is being felt in many areas thrucout Illinois, the situation becoming critical in places. Dry weather is affecting corn and soy beans, with corn leaves curling. Progress of corn was reported good to excellent in the north and fair to good in the south. Harvesting of winter wheat is well advanced with threshing returns generally good. The oats crop was said to be preponderantly good, in some places the best in years.

Corn made good progress in Iowa, with some in tassel. About half of the winter wheat crop has been cut, and most rye is in shock. Oats made fair progress, but rain is needed.

The bureau said corn growth was rapid in Wisconsin.

Indiana Harvesting Wheat.

Michigan wheat and rye will be ready for harvest in about a week, the report said. Oats turning color.

North Dakota reported dry weather detrimental to all crops, especially small grains. Condition of spring wheat rather poor to fair; good fields need rain soon. Corn and potatoes withstanding dry weather better than small grains.

Wheat Estimate Set Below Normal.

000,000 bushels. A month ago the government estimated a crop of 1,021,000,000 bushels.

Rye prospects have fallen off, according to the government survey, and the indicated crop of 36,848,000 bushels represented a drop from the government estimate of 38,640,000 bushels a month ago. Last year 39,249,000 bushels were produced and the 10-year average was 38,095,000.

Official estimates of flaxseed, rice, hay, beans, hops, and potato crops were above the production of last year and the 10-year averages, while production of sweet potatoes, tobacco, sugar cane, and sugar beets was estimated below that of last year.

The Canadian government on Tuesday issued condition and acreage reports that suggested a spring wheat crop of 422,000,000 bushels, compared with 463,000,000 bushels last year. Canada's exportable surplus at the end of the season is expected to exceed 500,000,000 bushels.

WHEAT CLOSES HIGHER

Wheat prices held within a range of about 1¼ cents a bushel, advancing early on continued unfavorable crop reports from the American and Canadian northwest, only to weaken later on hedging sales against new grain harvested in the southwest. The close was on a good rally from the bottom with prices on the Chicago Board of Trade ⅛ cent higher for the day.

Corn closed ⅞ to 1 cent higher on short covering and buying which brokers attributed to drouth reports for parts of the main producing states. July oats sold at 30 cents early, a new seasonal low but recovered the loss later. Rye was unchanged to 1 cent higher and soy beans closed ⅜ to ¾ cent higher.

PACKARD CHIEF SAYS AIR MOTOR DEAL IS "NOT OFF"

Washington, D. C., July 10 (AP).—M. M. Gilman, president of the Packard Motor Car company, said after a conference with defense commission officials today that a projected arrangement to manufacture 9,000 aircraft engines was "definitely not off."

Gilman conferred for an hour with William S. Knudson, in charge of defense production, on terms of the tentative contract to which the Packard directors were reported to have raised objections. Gilman said other conferences would be held to iron out difficulties in the projected deal.

Just what the difficulties were the motor manufacturer declined to state but it was understood they involved both means of financing a requisite plant expansion and also problems of taxes and amortization.

Short interest in stocks trade on the New York Curb exchange stood at 11,678 shares at the end of June, against 12,473 shares at the end of May. Only four issues had short interests of 500 shares or more.
